PREFACE

The great war overshadows all other subjects in the minds of men, and must of necessity be strongly reflected even in a publication like the American Jewish Year Book, as will appear not only from the article on the collection of Jewish war statistics, but throughout the events of the year. An accurate estimate of the Jewish population of the United States is at present peculiarly important, for otherwise it is impossible to obtain an idea of the proportionate contribution of American Jews to the war. To consider intelligently questions of this nature it is essential to possess a detailed knowledge of the Jewish population of each state as well as that of each American city or town of any considerable size. In the article dealing with the Jewish population of the United States will be found a mass of figures showing, in tabular form, how this population of the country is distributed. The methods used and the general results secured are briefly outlined, and much enlightening statistical data concerning the Jewish population of various classes of American cities are exhibited, together with an exhaustive and novel treatment of the subject of the Jewish population in New York City, which contains nearly one-half of the Jews of the United States. The Editor desires to acknowledge the great debt owing to Dr. Alexander Dushkin for his ingenious calculations. It may be of interest to mention that, according to the best estimates, the Jewish population of the United States amounts to over 3,300,000, while New York City alone has almost 1,500,000 Jewish inhabitants.

The thorough manner in which the Bureau of Jewish Statistics and Research of the American Jewish Committee is laboring to secure detailed statistics relating to all Jews in the military and naval service of the nation is outlined by Mr. Julian Leavitt, who is in immediate charge of the practical division of that work. As will be readily comprehended, it is as yet impossible to present any definite statistics; but from the perusal of this sketch some idea may be gained of the painstaking thoroughness with which the work is being prosecuted, the excellent results that have so far been reached, and the expectations that may reasonably be entertained. In this connection the reader may also be referred to the list of Promotions, Honors, and Elections, in the "Events" of the United States, which contains the names of some fifteen hundred Jewish commissioned officers.

The Jewish Welfare Board is doing excellent work among the Jewish soldiers and sailors in the service of the United States, and has already gained recognition from all quarters. Mr. Chester Jacob Teller, the Executive Director of this Board, has given a lucid analysis of the aims and achievements of the Board.

In addition, this volume contains an admirable survey of the inner life of the Jews of Serbia from the pen of Dr. I. Alcalay, chief rabbi of Serbia, and a brief but illuminating account of the formation of the New York City Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies, written by I. Edwin Goldwasser. As this is the twentieth volume of the American Jewish Year Book, it was deemed advisable to print an Index to the articles hitherto published in the Year Books. This Index was compiled by Miss Minnie Baum, to whom the Editor wishes to express his thanks.

The Year Book for 5668 contained a Directory of Jewish Local Organizations in the United States. During the past eleven years the number of such organizations has been greatly augmented, and many changes have taken place in those which existed in 1907. It was therefore thought advisable to revise this Directory and bring it up to date for the present volume. But owing largely to war conditions so many unforeseen obstacles have presented themselves, that it was finally decided to defer the publication of this Directory to another season. This will explain the absence of the usual list of new local organizations.

In conclusion the Editor desires to express his sincere thanks to the many persons who have rendered important assistance to him in his labor of preparing this volume, especially to Mr. Harry Schneiderman, Assistant Secretary of the American Jewish Committee, Miss Rose A. Herzog, and Miss Ada Aneckstein; to Dr. B. Halper, Editor, and Mr. I. George Dobsevag, Secretary, of the Jewish Publication Society of America. The guidance and criticism of Dr. Cyrus Adler have been particularly helpful in enabling the Editor to solve the numerous difficult problems that have arisen during the last twelve months.

is called 679 (תרע"ט) according to the short system (לפ"ק). It is a defective Leap Year of 13 months, 55 Sabbaths, 383 days, beginning on Saturday, the seventh day of the week, and having the first day of Passover on Tuesday, the third day of the week; therefore its sign is זחג, i. e., ז for seventh, ח for defective (חסרה) and ג for third. It is the seventeenth year of the 299th lunar cycle of 19 years, and the twenty-third year of the 203rd solar cycle of 28 years, since Creation.

JEWISH CALENDAR FOR ONE HUNDRED YEARS

5585 (1824)–5684 (1924)

The Jewish Year consists of 12 months, each month having 29 or 30 days. An intercalated year has 13 months, an additional month, called Adar Sheni (second Adar), being added between Adar and Nisan. Nisan, Sivan, Ab, Tishri, Shebat, and the first Adar (in an intercalated year) always have 30 days; Iyar, Tammuz, Elul, Tebet, Adar (in a simple year, or Adar Sheni in an intercalated year) always have 29 days each. Heshvan and Kislev sometimes both have 30 days, when the year is called “perfect” (Shelemah, indicated by letter ש), sometimes both have 29 days each, when the year is called “defective” (Haserah, indicated by letter ח), and sometimes Heshvan has 29 days and Kislev 30 days, when the year is called “regular” (Kesidrah, indicated by the letter כ). Whenever the month has 30 days, the 30th day of the month is the first New Moon day of the following month, which has two New Moon days. When the month has only 29 days the following month has only one New Moon day. In order to simplify the following tables, only one New Moon day is indicated, the one which is the first of the month. Thus when there are two New Moon days, the second alone is given.

The Hebrew letters at the top of each column indicate the sign of the year. The first letter indicates the day of the week when the first day of New Year is celebrated; the second letter indicates whether the year is “perfect,” “defective,” or “regular”; and the third letter indicates the day of the week on which the first day of Passover is celebrated.

THE JEWISH POPULATION OF THE UNITED STATES

BY SAMSON D. OPPENHEIM, J. D.

DIRECTOR OF THE BUREAU OF JEWISH STATISTICS AND RESEARCH

When the American Jewish Year Book for 5678 went to press in August, 1917, the returns for the enumeration of Jews in the United States, which the Bureau of Statistics and Research of the American Jewish Committee had been engaged in making, were by no means complete. As a matter of fact the work continued to extend well into the current year. This article must consequently be regarded both as a sequel and, in some measure, as a revised edition of that portion of the division of statistics treating of the number of the Jews of the United States, which appeared in the Year Book for 1917-1918.

All statistics regarding the number of Jews in the United States have, of course, been estimates. The earliest approximation seems to have been made in 1818, by Mordecai M. Noah, who put the number at 3,000. Other noteworthy estimates have been the following:

Year	Jewish Population	Authority
1824.....	6,000	Solomon Etting
1840.....	15,000	American Almanac
1848.....	50,000	M. A. Berk
1880.....	230,000	William B. Hackenburg
1888.....	400,000	Isaac Markens
1897.....	937,800	David Sulzberger
1905.....	1,508,435	Jewish Encyclopedia
1907.....	1,777,185	Henrietta Szold
1914.....	2,933,374	Joseph Jacobs.

The 1917 inquiry into the number of Jews in this country naturally divided itself into two parts: the one covering New York City, and the other concerning the cities and towns outside of the metropolis.

The following are the principal important estimates that were made of the Jews of New York City, prior to 1917:

Year	New York City Population	Authority
1790.....	385	U. S. Census Bureau (for New York State)
1812.....	400	Gershom Mendes Seixas
1826.....	950	S. Gilman (for New York State)
1846.....	10,000	Isaac Leiser
1848.....	12,000 to 13,000	M. A. Berk
1880.....	60,000	William B. Hackenburg
1888.....	125,000	Isaac Markens
1891.....	225,250	Charles Frank
1892.....	250,000	Richard Wheatley
1897.....	350,000	Jacob H. Schiff
1905.....	672,000	Joseph Jacobs
1907.....	850,000	Henrietta Szold
1910.....	861,980	U. S. Census Bureau (for Yiddish-speaking only)
1911.....	908,000	Joseph Jacobs
1912.....	975,000	Joseph Jacobs
1912.....	1,250,000	Bureau of Education (New York Kehillah)
1913.....	1,330,000	Professor Chalmers of Cornell University

Judging by the two foregoing sets of figures, it was to be expected that the number of Jews in New York City would, four years later, be found to amount to something in the neighborhood of one and one-half millions, or almost fifty per cent of the total Jewish population of the United States. Hence, in view of the fact that half of the subject matter of the entire inquiry was concentrated within a few square miles, it was considered highly desirable to attack, in as intensive a manner as possible, the problem of ascertaining the number of Jewish inhabitants of the country's largest city. On account of the enormous size of the New York community, individual estimates, no matter how expert, could not be safely relied upon. Accordingly, arrangements were made, by which the co-operation of the New York Kehillah, and especially that of Dr. Alexander Dushkin, of the Bureau of Education, were secured in approaching the problem from a different angle, a new method of approximation being invented and tried.

It is a well-known fact that, whatever differences of belief or of religious attitude may exist among Jews, they are almost unanimous in observing the High Holidays (New Year, the Day of Atonement, and the Passover). practically all Jewish children refraining from attending school on these days. So, if the attendance in the public schools on these holidays were ascertained and were then compared with the attendance on normal days, we should get a fairly accurate estimate of the number of Jewish children in the public schools of New York. If we could then find the proportion of Jewish children to the total Jewish population, we should be furnished with an excellent means of determining the Jewish population of the entire city.

It was possible to obtain from the New York City Board of Education reliable data concerning the attendance in the New York public schools on the Jewish High Holidays in the years 1913 and 1914, the information for 1915 and 1916 not being used, because in 1915 some of the Jewish holidays occurred during the registration week of the public schools, and in the early fall of 1916 the epidemic of infantile paralysis was still raging. The average school attendance for 1915-1916 was, however, used in computing the number of children of school age in that school year, after the general percentage co-efficient had been ascertained by the help of the 1913 and 1914 figures. When the 1913 and 1914 holiday figures were compared with the attendance on normal days during the same years, it was discovered that about 40.5% of the public school children stayed away from their studies on the Jewish holidays. Now no doubt a modicum of Jewish children attend school on the most important holidays, but on the other hand a number of non-Jewish children, especially in schools containing a large proportion of Jewish scholars, absent themselves on such days, because they know that the school work will have to be reviewed for the benefit of the large absentee contingent. The proportion of Jewish public school children in the entire city was for the purposes of this discussion, therefore, ultimately reduced to, or set at 38%, by boroughs, the percentages being fixed as follows:

Manhattan	48%
Bronx	40%
Brooklyn	38%
Queens	7%
Richmond	5%

A significant check on these estimates is furnished by the data obtained in the investigation of the United States Congress Immigration Commission of 1910, whose method of inquiry consisted mainly in questioning children of the public schools concerning the nationality of their fathers. The percentage of New York public school children designating their fathers as Hebrews, in 1910, was, as to the city's five boroughs, as follows:

Manhattan	46.1%
Bronx	20.2%
Brooklyn	29.9%

Richmond	2.8%

Considering that the figures of the Immigration Commission do not include such Jewish children as may have designated their fathers as of American, Russian, German, or other origins or races, the similarity here exhibited is, as Dr. Dushkin points out in his splendid monograph in the Jewish Communal Register for 1917-1918, very striking.

The largest discrepancy between these figures and those of the estimate made a few years later is discovered in the case of the Bronx, where, it is a matter of common knowledge, there has been a very large influx of Jews within the past half-dozen years. It was ascertained, then, that there were nearly 280,000 Jewish children in 1915-1916 in the elementary public schools, as appears more particularly set forth below.

But in order to further corroborate the proportion-figure of Jewish children of school age obtained through the study of school attendance on Jewish holidays, another method of estimation was resorted to. The Bureau of Attendance of the Board of Education keeps a continuous school census of the population of New York. Some million and a half cards are filed in the census division of the Bureau, each of which represents a complete family, parents as well as children, these cards covering all schools, both public and private. From these cards over 4200 families were selected, practically at random, representing a total of 10,332 children of school age, i. e., at intervals of about 350 cards, two cards were selected, the first cards of each pair forming Set I, and the second cards forming Set II.

The names were judged by experts (Dr. Alexander Dushkin and Mr. Meir Isaacs) as to whether they were Jewish or non-Jewish, the examiners being greatly aided in their decisions by the details noted upon the cards, which included the first names of the father and mother and of all the children, the nativity of the parents and of the children, the length of their stay in America, the year of their immigration, the country of their emigration, and the occupation of the father. It will be readily seen that these data furnished good clues for determining as to whether a family is Jewish or not. Even when German names, such as Bamberger, or Anglicized names, such as Brown, were encountered, the data on the cards, while not as helpful as in less puzzling cases, proved quite significant. Thus, if a child attended a Catholic parochial school, it would certainly be safe to assume that the family was non-Jewish. Or if in an immigrant family living on Canal Street the son's first name was the same as his father's, it would be reasonable to assume the family to be non-Jewish, because it is not customary among East-European Jews to name any of their children after a living father.

The data furnished by the cards themselves were so helpful in deciding the judgments in question, that only 196, or 4.6% of the names considered, were included in the questionable category; while to guard against the temptation to call doubtful items Jewish, all cases about which there was any uncertainty were unhesitatingly counted as non-Jewish. For greater accuracy, the judgments were made in two sets, and the average was used in computing the proportion of Jewish school children.

About thirty-three per cent of all the children of school age, in the public, parochial, and private schools of New York City were by this "card" system adjudged to be Jews. The results thus arrived at are in close agreement with those obtained by the public school attendance method above described. Since the thirty-three per cent represent not only the public school children, but also the children in private and parochial schools, there were added to the 730,755, in the elementary public school register of New York City for 1915-1916, the 200,000 children attending, according to the estimate of the Statistical Division of the New York State Department of Education, the elementary parochial and private schools of the city. This made a total of 930,755 children, in 1915, between the ages of five and fourteen, of whom 307,149 would appear to have been Jewish. 931,000 children would mean a total population for New York City of 5,172,000, and that is just about what that city's population was in 1915.

By the holiday school attendance method it was computed that in 1915-1916, there were 277,687 Jewish children in the elementary public schools of New York City. To this number should be added at least the aggregate of the 20,000 Jewish children in private schools, making a total of 297,687 New York City Jewish children of elementary school age. The difference between the two approximating methods used is seen to be only about 9450, or a variation of three per cent. The agreement between the two computations is very striking, considering the fact that actually not all of the Jewish children between the ages of five and fourteen can have been at school in the early fall of the year, some obtaining their working certificates at the age of thirteen, and others being temporarily absent. In accordance with these calculations, the number of Jewish children of elementary school age, (i. e., five to fourteen years) in this city, in 1917, was found to be 300,000, or very close to that number, if anything a little greater.

We must now proceed to investigate what bearing these results have upon the total population. According to the United States Census of 1910, the proportion of children between the ages of five and fourteen to the total population is approximately eighteen per cent, i. e., for every eighteen school children the existence of eighty-two other persons may be assumed, or one hundred individuals in all; or where there are one thousand children of school age, there are 5555 individuals altogether. But it is difficult to say off-hand whether the proportion of children to adults among the Jews is lower or higher than it is in the case of the general population. From a study of over four thousand families selected at random from the census cards of the Bureau of Attendance of the Board of Education, referred to above, it was found that the average Jewish family has 2.5 children at school, whereas the average non-Jewish family has 2.35 children at school. This would imply a difference of fifteen children per hundred families. Assuming five to six individuals per family, this would mean a difference of 2.5% to 3% in the proportion of children as between Jews and non-Jews. On the other hand, the fact that New York's Jewish community is so largely composed of immigrants would tend to make the proportion of Jewish children lower than that of the children of the general population. In the United States Census of 1910, Population, Vol. 3, the proportion of children between five and fourteen years in the native population is given as twenty-six per cent, whereas among the foreign-born whites it runs as low as seven per cent. But as the Jewish immigration is largely a "family immigration," the proportion of children among Jewish immigrants is probably twice as great as among other immigrants. Thus Samuel Joseph, in Jewish Immigration to the United States, shows that, whereas the age group "under 14" (which includes also children below five) is 12.3% for all European immigrants, it is twice as large, 24.8%, among Jewish immigrants. One would therefore not be far wrong in assuming that the proportion of school children among Jews is little, if anything, above eighteen per cent. It is certainly not greater than twenty per cent. Allowing that every twenty Jewish children represent only one hundred individuals, or that every thousand such children represent only five thousand Jews instead of five thousand five hundred and fifty-five, then, upon the basis of its 300,000 Jewish children of elementary school age, we should have in New York City a Jewish population of 1,500,000, or over 45 per cent of the total Jewish population of the country, and in New York State approximately a half of the Jewish population of America. Or if we include, with New York City, Newark, Passaic, Paterson, Jersey City, Hoboken, New Rochelle, Mt. Vernon, Elizabeth, Bayonne, and one or two other near-by towns, as all within the New York metropolitan district, then there will be found within that district, equivalent in size about to an area of thirty miles square, fully one-half of all the Jews living in the United States. The second largest Jewish community in the world, before the outbreak of the war, it may be mentioned in passing, existed in Warsaw, which, in 1914, housed between 300,000 and 330,000 Jews.

As to the boroughs of New York, their Jewish quotas would seem to be as follows:

Manhattan	695,000
The Bronx	210,000
Brooklyn	567,000
Queens	23,000
Richmond	5,000

To revert to the question of the Jewish population of New York City. The number of public school children in this city was in the autumn of 1917 almost exactly 750,000. Even if we assume that the proportion of Jewish public school children was then only 35% instead of 38% of all the public school attendants, we should have, as the Jewish public school population, 262,500, which, with the 20,000 private school

Jewish pupils, would give for Greater New York 282,500 Jewish school children, or over 280,000 Jewish persons between the ages of five and fourteen years. Let us now take for granted, what is not at all true, that one such Jewish person out of five, instead of 5.5, is a school child, between the ages of 5 and 14 years, and we have, as the Jewish population of New York City, in September, 1917, 1,412,500 souls, or by January 1, 1918, 1,422,000, a too conservative maximum it would seem, in view of the facts as they have been actually ascertained and of the drastic reductions that have been assumed. For the New York City population was estimated by the Bureau of Education of the New York Community to be, six years ago, 1,250,000; and while this is considerably greater than was Dr. Joseph Jacobs' enumeration of 1912, the Kehillah's figures are upheld by Professor Chalmer's calculations made in 1913, even though these may have been a little too liberal. Certainly it would be fair to presume that the correct number of New York City Jews was, in 1912, very close to 1,200,000. This approximation is supported by data to be found in the 1910 United States Census reports. In that census the number of persons speaking Yiddish together with their progeny, in New York City, was given as nearly 862,000, to be exact, 861,980. But there must have been more than this number of Jews in the city at that time, as will be seen from the following:

In 1880, before the last great immigrational influx began, there were sixty thousand Jews in New York City, not including Brooklyn, which at that time had at least twenty-five thousand. By 1910, all these with their descendants would have amounted, through natural increase (births over deaths) to about 150,000; and it is safe to say that in that year a very small part of this group would have given Yiddish as their mother tongue, considering how many English, "Portuguese," and "Bavarian" Jews there were among the original eighty-five thousand cited above, not to mention that among the immigrants arriving between 1881 and 1910 there were undoubtedly quotas from Germany, France, England, and Turkey, who also would not have given Yiddish as their mother-tongue. We may, therefore, confidently add at least one hundred and thirty-five thousand to the 862,000 in question, thus bringing the Jewish population of New York City in 1910 up to 997,000, so that Dr. Jacobs' 1912 estimate would seem to have been too modest, especially in view of the immigration figures for the years 1910-1912. These show that between July 1, 1910, and December 31, 1912, 220,000 Jewish immigrants entered the United States, 128,000 intending to go to New York, of whom it is safe to say that 110,000 came to, and remained in, or soon returned to, New York City. If we add this 110,000 to the 997,000 referred to above, and allow only 43,000 for natural increases during the two years in question, we arrive at an aggregate of nearly 1,150,000 as the Jewish population of New York City in 1912.

Support is provided for the assumption of a slightly larger total, however, by the following: The Jewish population of the state of New York was, in 1907, estimated as 905,000. Probably this figure was too low, but let us assume that it was not. By 1910, if there had been no immigration at all, the state's Jewish population would have, by natural increase, amounted to 960,000. But it could have gained not less than 120,000 through immigration during those three years, since the total Jewish immigration into the country during the same period was only a trifle under 250,000. (See Annual Reports of Commissioner General of Immigration, 1908, 1909, and 1910). Hence the Jewish population of New York State, in 1910, must have been at least 1,080,000. It was probably more. Yet, based on the number of persons who reported their mother-tongue as Yiddish, it is given in the 1910 Mother-Tongue Census as 912,692, which would indicate that only eighty-five per cent of the New York Jews reported their mother-tongue as being Yiddish. Assuming likewise that fifteen per cent of the New York City Jews failed to so report their mother-tongue, then the 862,000 Jews of this city, who, according to the 1910 census figures, did so report, can have constituted only about eighty-five per cent of all the Jews in New York City; and so, in 1910, the total New York City Jewish population would have been at least a million, especially since the city had, back in 1907, already over 800,000 Jews. (See table above.) Support is lent to this conclusion by the survey made in 1911 by Dr. Joseph Brill for the New York City Board of Health, his estimate being then 1,100,000.

Taking the city's Jewish increase during the next two years as being at the rate of 80,000 per annum, we should have, as the Jewish population of the city in 1912, 1,160,000. In all these calculations no allowance has been made for what we may call domestic immigration, that is to say, persons coming from other parts of the country into the metropolis. There is no doubt that the aggregate of these, drawn as they would be, on account of the commercial and industrial opportunities afforded, to this immense financial, manufacturing, and shipping focus, cannot have been negligible. Surely their numbers can hardly have amounted to less than ten thousand in two years. Certainly five thousand in that time would be a reasonable expectation. Thus we get a total of 1,165,000.

Dr. Jacobs himself confirms the opinion that he was too conservative in 1912, for later, in the American Jewish Year Book 5675, he calculates that by January 1, 1915, there should be 3,000,000 Jews in the country, in which prophecy he was fully justified by the event. And as New York City was even then rapidly approaching the point when it should come to contain nearly half of the Jewish population of the country, it must at the beginning of 1915 have contained very close to 1,300,000 Jews.

Starting then with a New York City Jewish contingent of 1,165,000, in 1912, let us once more glance at the immigration figures. Jewish immigrants into the United States aggregated, for 1913 and 1914, 239,381. of this number 137,604 giving New York State as their destination. It is safe to say that a preponderating proportion of these came to, and remained in, or speedily returned to, New York City. Thus that municipality may well be considered to have gained in population, through immigration, about 130,000 Jews, during the two years ending July 30, 1914. Certainly 120,000 would be for these two years a judicious estimate; since New York City's population had been just prior to 1912 forging ahead at the rate of about 80,000 additional Jewish inhabitants annually, of whom 20,000, on an average each year, were attributable to excess of births over deaths, and the balance to influxes, mainly immigrational, from without. Hence by July, 1914, the Jewish population of the city can hardly have been less than 1,335,000. Since that time, there has been a total Jewish immigration into the United States of approximately 60,000, of whom 31,000 gave New York State as their destination, probably at least 25,000 remaining in New York City.

Totalling now, we shall have something like the following for the Jewish population of New York City on January 1, 1918:

Population in 1912.....	1,165,000
Foreign immigration 1912-1918.....	145,000
Domestic immigration 1912-1918.....	25,000
Natural increases	150,000

Total	1,485,000
-------------	-----------

In all of these considerations it has been assumed that the general Jewish increase rate in this country has been no more than two per cent per annum; but as a matter of fact there is a strong probability that it has been somewhat greater, especially in New York City. In the first place it is well known that the death rate of a given Jewish community is always lower than the general local death rate. This is probably accounted for by the lower infant mortality rate found among Jews and by their greater tendency toward longevity. Now the death rate of New York City has averaged during the last ten years in the neighborhood of fifteen per thousand, while the Jewish death rate, according to information furnished by the actuaries of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., would seem to be about eleven per thousand. Again, speaking in general terms, the Jews in the large American cities have shared fully in the great prosperity which the country has enjoyed during the past decade. It is also a well-known fact that there is a strong tendency among Jews to translate increasing prosperity into matrimonial terms. Hence it is very probable that the increase rate among Jews has been for a number of years greater than the traditional two per cent, and during the last half-dozen years, at least, probably nearer two and one-half per cent than two per cent in New York City.

On the other hand, there is nothing to show that the birth rate among Jews in our cities is markedly less than it is among their non-Jewish neighbors.

If we are to hold that they have more than the average number of children at school, that fact would tend to support the foregoing contentions, and the apparent discrepancy between the very large number of Jewish children, on the one hand, which would make it appear that there were more than 1,500,000 Jews in New York City, and the diminished figure arrived at by the strict application of the two per cent rule of increase, and the twenty per cent assumption concerning school attendance among Jews, which would make it seem that there were less than 1,500,000 in this city, on the other hand, would tend to vanish.

To conclude with New York City, which contains the largest Jewish community that has ever existed within the confines of a single municipality: It has over 2200 congregations and one hundred and eighty-one religious schools with 11,403 pupils, exclusive of about 14,000 who attend private hedarim. It has over a hundred recreational and cultural agencies, more than one thousand mutual aid societies, nine hundred and sixty-five lodges, one hundred and ninety-three economic agencies, and one hundred and sixty-four philanthropic and correctional agencies.

Over $17,000,000 was expended in 1917 by all these activities, of which amount the two great philanthropic federations, that of Manhattan and the Bronx and that of Brooklyn, expended during the past year $2,500,000. In these figures are not included the $6,000,000 raised in the year 1917-1918 for Jewish War Relief abroad. Within the confines of the metropolis are printed and published fifty-seven Jewish journals: five dailies; twenty-eight weeklies; eleven monthlies; one bi-monthly; one quarterly; one annual; ten occasional publications. Of these twenty-three are published in English, three in Hebrew, two in Judeo-Spanish, and twenty-nine in Yiddish.

The following table, which is taken from the New York Jewish Communal Register, published by the New York "Kehillah," in 1918, affords details of the foregoing summary:

The great majority of American Jews live in cities or towns, there being only about 20,000 Jewish farmers and other agriculturists in the United States; and even most of these twenty thousand reside in little centers. Accordingly, to find the sum of the Jewish communities in all urban places would be to find practically the Jewish population of the nation. It was unfortunately not feasible to make a survey of the Jewish public school population in any of the major cities outside of New York. Therefore another method was adopted to ascertain, in the case of each town or city, how many Jews it contained. The Bureau of Jewish Statistics and Research has a list of nearly four thousand congregations, rabbis, etc. To every rabbi or other head of a congregation (in some cases to lay officials), was sent a questionnaire, asking the recipient to give, among other things, a careful and conservative estimate of the number of Jews in the city in which he resided.

The thousands of resulting returns were carefully compared with one another, as well as with other data obtained through the reports of various charitable organizations in each city, and additional information furnished by Young Men's Hebrew Associations, the Industrial Removal Office, and certain analogous organizations; and thus, finally, what is believed to have been a fairly accurate estimate in the case of each city having a general population of more than twenty thousand was arrived at, the more conservative averages being generally given the preference in all computations, deductions, etc. Whenever an estimate seemed unduly large, further inquiries were made, and statements from new correspondents were asked, the estimate conforming most nearly to the total called for by the "rule" mentioned below being preferred.

As to towns with a general population of at least one thousand and less than twenty thousand, it was not invariably possible to get a reliable estimate of their Jewish contingents. Sometimes, indeed, no response at all was received to the repeated inquiries sent out. But so many replies were obtained from the numerous smaller places, as well as from practically all cities of larger size, that it became after a while possible to formulate a sort of law or rule governing the percentages of Jews in localities of various proportions. Indeed it was eventually found practicable in the case of smaller places, from which no adequate reply was to be procured, to estimate very closely their Jewish population by the aid of the "rule" in question. Quite frequently, after an estimate had been made, a return would come in from some little town, and in hardly any instance did the detailed report vary materially in its total of the Jews of that town from the estimate that had been made.

To explain more particularly, it appears that between twenty-five per cent and twenty-seven per cent of the population of New York City are Jews, this city being with regard to its Jewish community unique. Next, in the group comprising Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Newark, and Detroit, nine large manufacturing centers, on an average a trifle under ten per cent of the population are Jews, as will be seen from the following:

As to cities of the second class, namely, those having a general population of between 50,000 and 100,000, their percentage of Jews averages about three per cent. Generally speaking, with regard to both classes mentioned above, it may here be noted that the proportion of Jewish residents is greater than the mean in the East, and less than the average in the West. The tables given below are peculiarly instructive as exhibiting how the percentage of Jewish residents tends to become gradually lower as the total number of citizens decreases.

The general population of these one hundred and fifty-seven cities was, according to the 1910 census, 4,278,000. It is now doubtless over 4,910,000. The Jewish population percentage is consequently 2.3%.

The following table shows the Jewish population of fifteen cities in the United States, whose combined general population is 17,210,000, and which contain over 2,500,000 Jews:

It must not be imagined from this exhibit that no Jews are found in the smallest communities. As a matter of fact, of the thousands of minor towns, villages, or hamlets in the entire country, there are very few in which is not to be discovered a nucleus of Jews, sometimes, indeed, amounting to only one or two families, but still a potential Jewish community. The following list of villages, each containing less than one thousand inhabitants (those marked with an asterisk contain less than five hundred), indicates that even in the smallest of our American communities, there is probably to be found a small Jewish admixture:

While lack of space prevents the listing here of every town in the United States having a general population of more than 1000, and less than 20,000, the following, which may be described as fairly typical, are given at this point, together with their Jewish populations, the figure printed after the name of each town indicating how many thousands of individuals the town contained according to the 1910 census, except as to those places situated in the states of Kansas, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Dakota, or Wyoming, whose general population is given as of the year 1915. The total number of persons residing in these 500 small cities and villages is a little under 4,200,000, while the total number of Jews living in them is a trifle less than 80,000. In this connection it must be recalled that the aggregate population of these municipalities has greatly increased since 1910, while the Jewish quotas are those of the present time. Making due allowances, therefore, it will be seen that the Jewish percentage averages between 1% and 2% of the general population in cities of this magnitude.

From the above table it would appear that the Jewish population of the United States approaches a total of nearly 3,400,000. But it is probably not quite so great. In a mass of computations, such as those here set forth, based from the beginning largely on estimates, however carefully such estimates may have been pared down, it is entirely possible that an aggregation of errors amounting to two or three per cent may have, in one way or another, crept in, no matter how vigilantly the labors of the collators may have been supervised. It is therefore considered advisable by the writer, in order that the figures here exhibited may not become liable to any charge of having been padded or inflated, to assume some such percentage of inaccuracy as that mentioned above, and there has consequently been allowed 2% for such potential errors, making the final estimate of the Jews of the United States 3,320,000, as of the beginning of the year 1918.

In the following table there is presented, in each case, the Jewish population of each state in the United States, as well as the Jewish population of each of the state's larger cities or towns, together with the combined Jewish population of all of the state's small towns. By a larger city is here meant any municipality having a general population of more than 20,000, and by a small town is meant any town with a general population of less than 20,000 and more than 1000, the general population figures being in all instances taken from the 1910 census, with the exception of the eight states of Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming, where the 1915 census returns have been relied upon.

The total Jewish population of the United States amounted, therefore, in 1917 to over 3,300,000. If to these be added the Jews of Canada and Latin America, it will be found that there are now in the Western Continent over three and a half million Jews. Twelve states of the Union, namely, California, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, and Pennsylvania, as shown by Table K, contain nine-tenths of all the Jews in the country.

JEWS IN THE UNITED STATES

The single state of New York, with a Jewish population of over 1,600,000, holds, it will be seen, nearly half of all the Jews in the United States. Wyoming and Nevada have less Jews than any other state, namely, five hundred each, about the same number as there are in the Philippines. Alaska also has approximately five hundred. There are two hundred in the Canal Zone, and as many in Porto Rico, seventy in the Virgin Islands, and one in Guam.

In making all the computations for the purposes of this census, no attention has been paid to places with a general population of less than one thousand. Thus if here or there some slight exaggerations have crept into our census, they will be, in a measure, neutralized through the omission of the Jewish quotas in the numerous townlets that have been disregarded. It may be of interest to note here that New York is not percentage-wise the most Jewish city. Chelsea, Mass., has a general population of forty-six thousand, and contains thirteen thousand Jews, or a Jewish population of twenty-eight per cent. Rosenhayn, N. J. has a general population of six hundred, and contains three hundred Jews, or a Jewish population of fifty per cent, while Carmel, N. J. has a general population of seven hundred and fifty, and contains four hundred and fifty Jews, or a Jewish population of sixty per cent. Woodbine, N. J., is practically entirely Jewish in population.

THE JEWS OF SERBIA

BY I. ALCALAY, CHIEF RABBI OF SERBIA

The Jews of Serbia represent a branch of a large group of what is known as Oriental Jewry, who left Spain in 1492 or thereabouts, and settled in Turkey. Until the middle of the last century they were, in the main, living under the political protection of the Turkish Government. All their religious and social concepts were identical with those of the Oriental Jews. When, in course of time, the portion of Europe now known as Serbia freed itself from the yoke of the Turkish rule, an entirely new position was created for the Jews residing in the liberated portion of the Balkans. At first they spoke Ladino and a little Turkish; but with the formation of the Serbian Government, the Jews naturally found it very difficult to respond to the new environment and conditions, owing to the fact that they had to learn the Serbian language and to adapt themselves to a régime that belonged to the Greek-Orthodox Church, whereas formerly the Mohammedan faith had been predominant. As the Serbians at first considered the Jews loyal adherents of their former oppressors, they naturally made the Jews conscious of a civic or patriotic inferiority. In consequence, the first years under the new régime were not free from strife and struggle. But at no time did the Serbians openly display their antagonism or hatred towards the Jews, or accuse them of forming a distinct group which was not loyal to Serbia. For the Serbian Government, the rulers, and the princes not only found that the Jew was in no way disloyal, but on the contrary discovered him to be most patriotic in every respect.

This process of readjustment lasted nearly a whole generation. During this time the Jew living in Serbia under Serbian rule had every opportunity to adapt himself to the new conditions. He learned to understand the manners and customs of his Serbian neighbors, and, what is most important, he learned the Serbian language. Thus the Jew of Serbia until the present war began had full opportunity to develop himself, and he became one of the important factors in the life of the State. It was not long before he proved his patriotism and loyalty by valor on the battlefield and by participating in the intellectual and economic progress of the State.

Before entering upon details, I wish to quote some figures of statistical interest. When the war broke out, there were from thirty-five to forty thousand Jews in Serbia. More than half of them were late arrivals, who, after the Balkan war, had been attracted to Serbia from the Turkish empire. These newcomers constituted an important addition to the Sephardic community of Serbia. They had enjoyed the freedom of Serbia for a period of ten months, when the present war broke out and their further development was thereby interrupted. They had been and were still undergoing a transformation. In the main they lived like their coreligionists in Turkey. When, therefore, the Jews of Serbia are spoken of, that expression is limited to the fifteen thousand Jews, who were in that country for many, many years prior to the outbreak of the Balkan war. Of these fifteen thousand Jews fully ten thousand were residents of Belgrade, the rest being scattered throughout the smaller towns of Serbia, such as Nish, Shabatz, Leskovotz, Pirot, Pojarevatz, Smederevo, and Kraguyevatz.

They were mainly occupied with commerce, although, of course, they were also to be found among the various crafts. Not the least important was the position many of them occupied in the various liberal professions, in which fields they made themselves especially valuable, so much so, that they reflected great honor upon the rest of Jewry.

In consequence of the advantageous political position occupied by the Serbian Jews, which position they had earned for themselves, it was possible for every Jew to be proud of his religion and, at the same time, gain the respect of his neighbors. It was his chief pride to make his life an open book, especially in relation to his non-Jewish neighbors, for he noticed that in governmental affairs, as well as in social intercourse, no attempt had ever been made to belittle him on account of his religion. On the contrary, he noticed a genuine interest displayed on the part of his neighbors in his religious practices. The king attended Jewish services; and on certain occasions the leading ministers and diplomats of other faiths came to pay homage and respect to the ancient religion of the Jews. All this made such a deep impression upon the Jew, that he developed a high regard and loyal love for the traditional, as well as for the ceremonial phases of the Jewish faith, thus becoming a better Jew and a better Serbian.

The Serbian Jew is by nature deeply religious, and he is ever ready to make all personal sacrifices for the sake of Judaism, though he is far from being narrow-minded. He does not know the meaning of Reform in contra-distinction to Orthodoxy; but he happens to have developed a type of Judaism in which the two are very happily blended. As far as the spirit of the times permits, the Jews of Serbia stand fast by Jewish traditions; but in their daily lives and in their social relations they are absolutely up-to-date and modern in every sense. Their homes are thoroughly Jewish in spirit, as well as in practice. Every Jewish festival is strictly observed in accordance with the ritual. The most important phase of Jewish life, however, is brought out in the ceremonials of the synagogue, to which the Jews come dressed in their best and in which they deport themselves with all the dignity and respect that a house of worship should command. The liturgy has not changed from the accepted traditional form. In all the synagogues there are choirs. In Belgrade there is one synagogue with a mixed choir, which, in quality and in artistic merit, compares favorably with the best choirs to be heard in any Jewish house of worship. Of course, all the singers are Jews and Jewesses. Many of the melodies rendered in the Serbian synagogues have come down to us from the time when our ancestors resided in Spain, and are the same as in Holland, New York, Montreal, and the West Indies, although these are separated from the Serbian Jews by four hundred years of history and by many thousand miles. In addition, however, the latter have adopted some Hebrew melodies written by Sulzer, Lewandowski, and other modern Jewish religious composers. The organ is never played on Sabbath or on festival days. It is only at patriotic and private festivities, occurring on week-days, that the peal of the organ ever resounds. The prayers are mainly read in Hebrew, but some are translated into old Castilian or Serbian. In addition to festival sermons, special sermons are delivered on Sabbaths, once a month, dealing invariably with ethics, history, and other subjects, including every modern question of Jewish interest. The sermons are delivered in the Serbian language, and attract not only Jews, but also many persons belonging to other denominations, who come to hear the addresses and appear to be moved by the music. On Saturday afternoons services are arranged for the young folks, especially for the students of the Hebrew classes, which are attended by young men and young women, by boys and girls. These take an active interest in the services. The boys and young men render some of the prayers. Special sermons for the young people are delivered, calculated to develop in the young folks a sense of pride in matters Jewish. The services held on the king's birthday are made so attractive that the leading dignitaries attend the synagogue and display a feeling of friendship and respect made stronger because of the whole-hearted spirit in which services of this type are conducted.

The education which the Jewish youth of Serbia receive in the city schools is of a fairly high standard, and it may be asserted that these schools compare well with educational institutions in the most enlightened countries. Education in Serbia is compulsory. The Jewish children, however, are not satisfied with the public school education alone; they continue their studies in high schools and other advanced institutions. Even children whose parents wish to have them take up a business career enter special commercial schools. Accordingly, the mercantile class contains men of high intellectual attainments. Apart from the young men who attend the Belgrade University, which, by the way, offers courses also to women, several Serbian Jews take courses at leading universities of other countries. During the ten years of attendance in the public, elementary, and high schools, every Serbian child is compelled to take up religious instruction as well. The Jewish boy must furnish proof that he is receiving religious instruction, and unless he brings a certificate of special merit in that respect, he is not allowed to be promoted. This has helped the Serbian Jews to perfect their religious schools to such an extent that they really constitute the foundation of Jewish life. Every Jewish community has its religious school which is in charge of men who, in addition to their knowledge of Hebrew, have a thorough modern education. The Jewish children, during the first four years of attendance at public school, are expected to take eighteen hours of Hebrew instruction a week. While at the high school, they must necessarily curtail their Hebrew studies, so that they can devote only six hours to them. The hours for religious instruction never conflict with those for secular education, and that is why the scholars are able to take advantage of both to the fullest extent. The children acquire a correct Hebrew pronunciation, a thorough knowledge of the Bible, both in the original language and in a Serbian translation, and a familiarity with Jewish history from the beginning down to modern times, including modern social movements. All of the traditional and ritual observances are explained to the child, so that he does not follow them blindly, but practises them intelligently and sincerely. The provincial schools have from one to two Hebrew teachers, but in Belgrade, where the number of Jewish children in the public, elementary, and high schools amounts to seven hundred, there are seven male teachers and one female teacher for Hebrew; the principal, who is usually a university graduate, also presides over certain classes which receive his personal instruction. The teachers are for the most part graduates of the Belgrade Jewish Seminary, which was supported by all of the Jewish communities of Serbia. Many of these teachers also taught in the regular public schools. However, since this Seminary has been closed, due to the inability to attract candidates for this special field, it has been necessary to draw upon Palestine for teachers. The Bible is taught in Hebrew. Every other subject of Jewish instruction is imparted in Serbian.

The manner in which these religious schools are conducted has greatly helped to make the Jews of Serbia a highly cultured element in the country. There is a very large group of Jewish young men who occupy splendid positions in the political as well as in social life. For example, there are over thirty-five Jewish physicians in Serbia, though the Jewish population amounts to only fifteen thousand. This compares favorably with the general community, for in the entire population of Serbia which, before the war, amounted to three millions, there was but one physician for every seven thousand souls. In every other branch of the professions the quota of Jews is in the same proportion. Three Jews have occupied positions as under-secretaries in the State Department, one of them having been appointed consul-general in one of the leading European cities. There is a Jewish officer in the army who has worked his way up to the position of colonel, and considering that he is only thirty-six years old, there is every reason to hope that a still higher military rank will be reached by him.

The same is the case in the field of literature; the Serbian Jews have made their mark in prose as well as in poetry. The very same consul-general, alluded to above, Mr. Chaim Davitcho, was a writer of distinction, whose original contributions and translations of foreign dramas, principally from the Spanish, have made him one of the most prominent figures in the National Theatre and in the leading literary circles of Serbia. But apart from having devoted himself to general literature, he has also written on subjects of Jewish interest.

For example, he has produced a series of novels dealing with the life of the Belgrade Jews, beginning with the period when Serbia was under Turkish rule and bringing his material up to date. Throughout all of these novels, his special object was to bring out very forcibly the loyalty of the Jew to his God and the love that he bears his fellow-men. The incidents in congregational and home life are treated by him with such grace and elegance as to make them stand out like gems beautifully set. The brother of Chaim Davitcho, Mr. Benko Davitcho, who fell in action during the Balkan war, has also earned for himself a reputation as a littérateur. A score of others whose contributions to modern literature are most valuable might be mentioned. All these prominent men are not only conscientious Jews, but are ever ready to give up their time in facilitating the progress of Jewish communal affairs, in their respective towns, in the fields which have a particular attraction for them.

The rabbis of Serbia have various functions. They are not bound to the synagogue alone, but also devote part of their time to the Jewish social life. It often happens that some families owe their social and economic well-being to the active endeavors and the practical aid rendered them by their spiritual leaders. These diversified labors are greatly facilitated by the recognition, aid, confidence, and authority that the rabbi enjoys on the part of the Government, as well as his community. A rabbi in Serbia, in addition to a diploma from a seminary, must, of necessity, have a university education, or must give proof of his Hebrew and talmudic learning by a document signed by one of the recognized spiritual leaders of Europe. He is elected by a committee consisting of the Executives of the community and of twenty-five delegates elected by the Jews who hold a special meeting for their election. The Government is always advised of the appointment of a rabbi, and it usually sanctions the choice of the Jewish community. This sanction carries with it the privileges accorded the rabbi. Then follows the installation of the rabbi with all due pomp and ceremony. Three days are devoted to this special celebration, in which non-Jews also participate as a mark of their respect to the newly elected religious leader. The celebration begins with services in the synagogue, and a prayer is offered for the well-being and the success of the rabbi. Banquets, receptions, and concerts are included in the three days of festivity. The rabbi is in more senses than one a state official, for, apart from performing religious and social duties, he has to discharge state functions according to the demands of the constitution.

The Greek-Orthodox Church is related to the State to such an extent that it plays an important rôle in the life of the Government. The State is, therefore, compelled, in a sense, to allow the Jewish religious community to play a similar rôle. For example, marriages and divorces in Serbia are recognized mainly and chiefly as Church or religious functions. The laws of the State recognize only such marriages and divorces as have had the sanction of a religious authority, and do not require any separate license. Further, in all Government functions, such as taking the oath of office for military or civil service, or in legal proceedings, a religious leader must be present, in accordance with the provision of the law. The Jews have naturally developed the laws regulating marriages and domestic relations in such a way that they enjoy not only the religious sanctity and privileges accorded them by the State authorities, but also executive power to carry out decisions. They are even able to invoke the aid of the police.

As a mark of the cultural development of Serbian Jewry, it is perhaps well to dwell upon the excellent work achieved by several organizations. First among these organizations, and perhaps the most important one, is the one devoted to the spreading of the knowledge of Judaism and Jewish history among the Serbian Jews. The second in importance is a Fund Organization, which has for its aim the grant of fellowships to Jewish young men who are desirous of pursuing higher studies in foreign universities but are economically unable to do so. Due to the efforts of this organization, many young men have returned to Serbia, and have repaid the sums spent on them not alone with actual money, but with the manifold services they are rendering. Then there is the Zionist organization in Serbia which has succeeded in uniting the various elements of Jewry. The Serbian Jews have always made it a point to send their delegates to the Jewish National Congress, have paid their shekels, and in every other respect have shared in all undertakings of the National Fund Organization. All this has been done despite the fact that in Serbia the Zionist movement has never been very strong; but one thing must be remembered: we have never had an anti-Zionist movement.

The leading social organization in Serbia is known as the Serbian Lodge of the I. O. B. B. at Belgrade. That organization practically shapes the policy of social relations among Jews. This Lodge has been able, in the course of three years, to perfect its functions in such a manner as to play a part in the social and economic welfare of Serbian Jewry and to shape the political opinions of the Jewish community. Every member of the I. O. B. B. considers it a privilege and an honor to belong to it, and only such are admitted as are deemed satisfactory in every respect. The sessions of the Lodge are strictly formal, and the order of business is very carefully worked out.

It is hardly necessary to point out that the Serbian Jews, as all other Jewish communities, take care of their poor, who are mostly strangers that have come to Serbia because of unfavorable conditions in other parts of Europe. Whenever special collections are made in order to provide Matzoth, clothing, or other articles for the poor, the amount gathered is always in excess of the need. The surplus money thus raised is not laid aside as a permanent fund, but is at once transmitted either to Palestine, or to neighboring Balkan states, toward which a special kinship is naturally felt. The Jew of Serbia has never sought aid from his coreligionists outside of his country. When the Balkan war was declared, a special commission, under the leadership of Dr. Paul Nathan and Dr. Kahn of Berlin, and of Mr. Elkan N. Adler of London, who also represented the American philanthropic organizations, asked what could be done for the Jews of Serbia by the Jews of America, England, and Germany. The reply was: "We accept your greetings and kindly offer, and you may return with the satisfaction of knowing that we always have looked after our own and will continue to do so." But apart from the charitable aid rendered, the Jewish leaders in Serbia made it a point to afford help to their coreligionists, who were temporarily in need, in a most dignified and honorable manner, by having founded for them what is known as the Jewish Bank. This institution is maintained by a membership, and also enjoys bequests specially left to it. It is not a free-loan society, because all transactions are based on strictly commercial lines; it differs from other banks only in the fact that the rate of interest is lower than in other financial institutions, and that credit is extended to many who could not secure a loan from any other source.

The relationship between the Jew and non-Jew in Serbia is most amicable, and this is manifested not only between the hours of nine in the morning and five in the evening, but also in private gatherings. Many of the larger concerns in Belgrade have Jewish and non-Jewish partners, and when it is remembered that many of these firms have carried on business for over thirty years and that the partnerships have never been dissolved because of disputes or through legal proceedings, one may well realize how harmonious the relationship is. The question of religion never enters into the ranks of society. During all Jewish holidays and festivals the leading church dignitaries make it a point not only to visit the synagogue, but also to offer their congratulations in private by calling at the home of the rabbi and conveying their personal, as well as their church's congratulations. Whenever the king holds a reception, many Jews are specially invited.

Although Jew and non-Jew live very harmoniously together, cases of intermarriage or conversion are extremely rare. Either act would be severely criticised on all sides, and the party guilty of such a misdeed would be boycotted by society at large. The Serbian Jew is eminently proud of his Judaism, and feels especially dignified by virtue of the fact that he, coming from Spain, can trace his ancestors without admixture for many, many generations, during which time they have happily been subjected to less cruelty and oppression than have been many of the Jews who have settled elsewhere.

Because the Jews of Serbia have strictly observed their religious practices, they have been able to retain many customs that the Jews in other parts of the Orient have perhaps abandoned to a large degree. For example, during the seven days of Shiva the friends and relatives who visit the house of mourning concern themselves with all of the needs of the mourners. All food required is brought from without, and the mourners are spared the trouble of providing any. On the Sabbath following a wedding the groom has a special seat of honor in the synagogue, which is usually decorated with flowers, and during the reading of the Torah he is given the honor of holding another scroll in his arms. As a final mark of honor, the entire congregation rises, and sings a chant, inviting him to read Genesis 24, 1-7. As he steps forward from his seat to the Tebah, flowers and candies are thrown from the ladies' galleries by young and old. As he returns to his seat, a similar ovation is accorded him.

This is but a brief outline of the religious, cultural, and social life of the Serbian Jews. Naturally, because of the terrible results of the present great war, all these facts, recollections, and associations come to the writer like the memory of a dream. The Serbian Jews have lost all they possessed, and will be compelled to begin anew when the time comes to re-establish themselves. Their only consolation in their sorrow is that Serbia has been able to come into closer contact with America, and is better known by the Americans. They firmly believe that the Allies, Serbia among them, will be victorious in this war. They believe that Serbia will be restored to her independence and her place of honor among the nations. They are certain that, when the Serbian nation is restored and united, the Jews will again resume their happy life of the past, the horrors of the present will be forgotten, and, with the blessing of God, a yet brighter future will be opened up for all the Jews.

THE JEWISH WELFARE BOARD

BY CHESTER JACOB TELLER

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, JEWISH WELFARE BOARD

Primarily the purpose of the Jewish Welfare Board is to help America win the war. Despite the basic American principle of a separate Church and State, or, to be more exact, because of it, the American Government in the first days of the war perceived the necessity of calling upon certain religious welfare agencies to co-operate with it. It sought this co-operation because it recognized the value of morale in warfare, and knew how close was the relationship between morale and modern community ways of life. With a breadth of view and a degree of foresight, perhaps never before equalled by a war administration of any other country, the United States Government set itself to thinking out the war problems not only in terms of ships, guns, munitions, and supplies, but also in health, decency, personal improvement of the men, contentment, esprit. In short, all those elements that go to make up the concept of morale in its broadest implications received the closest study and the most thorough-going application.

A special Commission on Training Camp Activities was created, as a branch of the War Department, charged with the specific duties of making life in the new American camps and in the communities adjoining the camps as normal as conditions of actual war and the problems of an unprecedented national emergency would permit. This commission sought to utilize the potential social resources of the country, and it early brought to bear on the problem the whole strength of the Young Men's Christian Association, with its nation-wide organization, so thoroughly alive to the needs of young men, and so excellently adapted to the nation's new work.

In the same spirit and for the same purposes the War Department through this special Training Camp Commission—the Fosdick Commission, as it has come to be known—invited the large Catholic group in America to participate in the national welfare program, with the result that the Knights of Columbus was nominated by the Catholic Church and accepted by the American Government as the authoritative Catholic agency for war purposes.

The selection of the third agency to represent what might be considered the third largest religious group in America, namely, the Jewish group, was fraught with difficulties. It is a commentary upon Jewish life in America, and particularly upon its work of national organization and management, that with 260 years of history behind it, and with literally thousands of organizations, no single agency could be selected as representative of the Jewry of America. True, one or two of them seemed to have some special claim to such recognition, but by reason of their limited constitution or platform, or for some other reason, they failed to secure the endorsement of the Jews as a whole. The result was a meeting of representatives of some ten or more national Jewish organizations, at which it was decided that each organization present should delegate certain powers to a new agency. This was the beginning of the organization which has since become known as the Jewish Welfare Board, and which has obtained the official recognition of the Government and, indeed, its mandate to contribute on behalf of the Jews of America to the national work of welfare among the nation's uniformed men.

As the officially recognized agency of the War Department and of the Commission on Training Camp Activities, the Jewish Welfare Board has been called to undertake high tasks and responsibilities. It has been charged with the nomination and selection of the Jewish welfare workers in the camps and cantonments of this country and in the hospitals and rest camps abroad. In these increasingly critical times, no task could be more exacting. The initial selection of men, however, is but part of it. It is necessary that they be carefully apprised of their duties as quasi-public officials, that they know thoroughly their relation to the Government, to its military establishment, to the Commission on Training Camp Activities, and to the welfare agencies with which we have joined hands, namely, the Y. M. C. A. and the K. of C. They must know the meaning of democracy in the American camp. They should understand what Americanization denotes and what it does not. They must be inspired with the ideal of an army and navy, selected from all races and creeds, to fight for the liberties of all peoples and for the rights of all religions, under our flag and under the flags of the Allies. And our welfare workers must be trained to interpret these things to the soldiers and sailors, to bring group closer to group and all men into clearer understanding of America's ideals and aims in this war. The welfare agencies are not invited to do separatist work; they are asked to join hands in fostering and promoting a joint welfare program.

As its contribution to this program, the Jewish Welfare Board has placed one hundred and ninety-eight workers in the American camps, and has sent, in addition, countless others—volunteers who, as occasional or regular visitors in the camps, have preached the message of religion, have assisted in other ways at religious services, visited the sick in the hospitals, the men in difficulty in the guard-houses, or entertained men in groups and cheered and comforted them individually. As its contribution to the physical resources of the camps, the Welfare Board is erecting thirty buildings, not to overlap, not to duplicate, but to supplement the facilities created by other agencies, where such facilities were needed, either for the housing of our workers and the administration of their work, or for the general welfare needs of Jews and non-Jews alike. At Camp Upton, near New York, the Jewish Welfare Building, recently completed, is used for services by soldiers of every faith. On the other hand, the Welfare Board makes use of a general church headquarters, erected by the General War-Time Commission on the Churches, to the upkeep of which it contributes a substantial amount of money.

Again, we have assisted the American Library Association in its nation-wide campaign for books. We have encouraged the giving of comforts and gifts to the soldiers and sailors, regardless of creed, for to draw distinctions between creeds would be to violate the very ethics of the democracy we cherish. As official representatives of the Government, we are called to minister to all men.

This by no means implies that religious work has no place in the American welfare program, or that the welfare agencies must reduce their efforts to that colorless, meaningless something which frequently goes by the name of non-sectarianism. On the contrary, the Jewish Welfare Board would not truly represent the American Government, unless it also represented the organized Jewry which created it. Indeed, specialized ministrations of each group to its own men in the camps are implied in the very organization which the War Department created with the help of the Commission on Training Camp Activities and the welfare agencies.

Thanks to this large view on the part of the Government, we have in the Welfare Board, for the first time in the history of America, an organization which not only has the official endorsement of the Government, but likewise that of organized American Jewry. The board to-day counts among its societies no less than fourteen prominent Jewish associations, among which are the Agudath ha-Rabbonim, Central Conference of American Rabbis, Council of Jewish Women, Council of Young Men's Hebrew and Kindred Associations, Independent Order B'nai B'rith, Independent Order B'rith Abraham, Jewish Chautauqua Society, Jewish Publication Society of America, National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods, New York Board of Jewish Ministers, Order B'rith Abraham, Union of American Hebrew Congregations, Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations, and the United Synagogue of America.

The relationship between the Board and its parent bodies is for the most part steady and constructive. The rabbinical bodies have co-operated in the arrangement of an abridged prayer book for the use of soldiers and sailors of our faith. The Jewish Publication Society of America acts as the publishing agency of the board, which has thus far placed orders with it for the publication of no less than one hundred and eighty thousand copies of the Abridged Prayer Book and one hundred and sixty thousand copies of the Readings from the Holy Scripture, arranged with the help of the Society's editor.

With the Agudath ha-Rabbonim (the Federation of Orthodox Rabbis) the Welfare Board has been active in an inquiry as to the demand for Kosher food on the part of the Jewish men in the camps, governmental sanction having been secured for the sale of Kosher non-perishable food products in the camps and cantonments wherever such supply is warranted by the demand therefor.

A series of circuits for the conduct of lecture courses to soldiers and sailors throughout the spring and summer months is being arranged under the joint auspices of the Welfare Board and the Jewish Chautauqua Society.

To the town or community program of the Welfare Board substantial contributions have been made by the Independent Order B'nai B'rith, which has organized some eight or nine community centers now operating as I. O. B. B. branches of the Welfare Board. While these branches of themselves constitute a material donation to our total assets, the I. O. B. B. and the Independent Order B'rith Abraham, as well as other national Jewish fraternities, are rendering large services of another kind through the campaigns for funds which they have furthered throughout their lodges and the moral backing and encouragement which they have from the beginning lent in unstinted measure.

The Council of Young Men's Hebrew and Kindred Associations has acted as our special advisory body wherever we have needed the viewpoint of the specialist in the inauguration of soldier activities in conjunction with Y. M. C. A. work.

The American Jewish Relief Committee, though in no way a constituent or affiliated organization, has rendered our work an immeasurable service by relieving us almost entirely from the labor and responsibility of fund-raising. Of the million or more dollars that have been contributed to welfare work to date, a very large part was secured in the special campaign of the American Jewish Relief Committee in New York City in December last, which brought together a fund of about five million dollars for the war sufferers and the Welfare Board conjointly, and a large part of the balance of our total income to date has likewise been secured under the friendly auspices of this committee.

To the American Jewish Committee, under the leadership of Mr. Louis Marshall, we look for the adjudication of cases involving religious or other rights of Jewish men, and, in turn, we are helping the Bureau of Statistics of the American Jewish Committee in its special work of securing a list of the names of all Jews participating in the present war in the American military and naval forces, by sending to that bureau all the statistical data which it becomes possible for our agents to secure.

We are also extending assistance and hospitality to the Jewish Legionaries enlisting in America for service in Palestine under the British flag, for which purposes we have made contributions through the Zionist organizations.

Further mention might be made of several other groups of organized Jewry, both national and local, that are aiding the welfare work in its library collections and in other ways, and still the list of our co-operating agencies would not be exhausted; but for the present purposes of illustrating our attachment and responsibility to the organized Jewry of America, it is probably not necessary to multiply examples.

From the foregoing it will be seen that it is probably but fair to say the Jewish Welfare Board truly represents both the American Government and American Jewry—at least so far as the organizations of the latter are concerned. Unprecedented as this is in the entire history of Jewish life in America, the Welfare Board lays no claim to any special distinction for this achievement. It is the crisis which confronts America, the crisis of the World War, that has brought about this result, and if it may be accounted an advantage from the point of view of Jewish group life, it is an advantage for which we as Jews can assume no merit or distinction. We shall, on the other hand, merit rebuke and censure if, to the accomplishment created by these unlooked-for world conditions, we shall make no contribution of our own. We can neither truly speak for our Government nor for the organized Jewry of America, unless we also represent the unorganized Jewish people of America, and by this unorganized Jewish people we must understand the eighty thousand American soldiers and sailors of Jewish faith and the hundreds of thousands more whose interests are bound up with theirs.

Difficult as it is to be true to the thoughts and sentiments of the Jewish people, the Welfare Board ardently desires so to be. With this general attitude toward its work, it assumes to preach no special -ism (except Judaism), and it permits none to be preached. In its religious work in the camps it attempts to meet the needs of the men as these needs are there ascertained. For Jews desiring an orthodox service it promotes orthodox services. For sons of Reform Jews it supplies reform services with the Union Prayer Book. For the preponderating group of soldiers of orthodox Jewish families, whose requirements are best met by what is called Conservative Judaism, appropriate services are conducted accordingly. Without standardizing any doctrine of its own, the Welfare Board endorses all degrees of doctrine, if soldiers of Jewish faith uphold them.

Without seeking to impose any ready-made program of its own, it gives encouragement to whatever the self-expression of the Jewish men demands.

With the American Library Association the Board is co-operating in supplying Yiddish books and other reading matter to Yiddish-speaking men. It has prepared to date, for distribution in the camps, three pamphlets in Yiddish, one on Government benefits and two on problems of social hygiene, and it has at the present time in contemplation several additional pamphlets in this language. For those who desire to conduct Jewish discussion circles it has now in preparation several subject outlines for guidance and instruction in the conduct of such circles. With a donation from the Jewish Publication Society of a library of Jewish books in each of the camps and cantonments, foundations have been laid for a Jewish library, to which the Board is making additions from week to week.

In addition to these group activities along religious or educational lines, the welfare workers specialize in what has been called personal welfare work, and it may be said without exaggeration that no personal welfare work that is being carried on in the American camps is more intensive or constructive than that of the representatives of the Jewish Welfare Board. The personal problems that come before the welfare workers have a vast variety of phases, including certain military and non-military problems of the men themselves, as well as questions involving the men and their families. Our workers are regular visitors at the hospitals and guard-houses; they assist and advise men in matters of transfer, leave, and real or fancied discrimination; they advise them as to money and business matters, many of our representatives giving legal advice.

Others who are rabbis perform individual religious ministrations of various kinds, particularly at the embarkation camps. In cases involving the families of men, it is our policy to refer largely to the American Red Cross, to whom the Government has delegated these functions. A basis of co-operation has been established with the Red Cross, but of necessity it is still tentative. The family difficulties of men in the service constitute a developing problem. It is a dynamic rather than a static situation that we are here dealing with, and the basis of co-operation between the welfare agencies and the Red Cross must of necessity be progressive rather than fixed, depending upon developing problems and experience, as well as upon changes in formulation of policy in the Red Cross itself and as between the Red Cross and the War Department. The problem of the welfare worker is not confined to the camp, however. He follows the soldiers wherever they go. In the near-by communities, the welfare worker makes the community welfare program, co-ordinating the hospitality activities, collecting and dispatching the comforts and gifts, managing the entertainments at the community center, and assisting soldiers and sailors in utilizing the religious or other facilities of the town or city.

For the men overseas, a special group has been assigned. It comprises a commission of two workers, one of whom will remain in Paris to direct the overseas work, while the other will return with a report based upon his survey of existing conditions. A supplementary group will comprise some six or eight workers, trained in our American service, whose function it will be to initiate similar activities in the important posts in France, and to this group additions will be made from month to month, until an adequate force shall have been sent abroad.

In addition to the welfare workers, the Government contemplates sending army chaplains of the various faiths, to the extent of one for each twelve hundred men. The Jewish chaplains will be selected by the Government after endorsement by the Committee on Chaplains of the Welfare Board, which since the beginning of the war has acted as the Government's advisory agency, with reference to all Jewish chaplains.

Though ostensibly limited in its work to the men of the United States Army and Navy, the Welfare Board conceives its task broadly. Under the latest military rulings, American soldiers abroad are members of the army of the Allies, and with this breaking down of national distinctions, the scope of our work is correspondingly enlarged. Thus the Welfare Board has purchased ten thousand copies of the books for soldiers published by Dr. J. H. Hertz, chief rabbi of Great Britain, for distribution among the English-speaking Jewish soldiers of the Allies, five thousand copies of Psalms and five thousand copies entitled Jewish Thoughts. These are being distributed through Dr. Lévy, chief rabbi of Paris, and Rabbi Voorsanger, chaplain with the American Expeditionary Forces.

We have likewise made a subvention to the Jewish Community of Washington for welfare work among civilian workers, including women as well as men, and we are making a study of conditions among Jewish girls in New York as a result of revelations recently made with respect to places largely frequented by soldiers and sailors.

Whether in all this work we represent the sentiments and viewpoints of the Jewish people, or whether we fail to represent it, would be difficult to say. Indeed, our Jewry of America is of such a composite nature, and the forces that play upon it are so varied and deep-rooted in their origin, that it is hard even to ascertain what these sentiments and viewpoints are. So far as the articulate groups are concerned, we know that we have been criticized now for being too Jewish, and again for not being Jewish enough; for advocating what has been called "segregation", and again for being exponents of what has been called the melting-pot theory; on the one hand, for making martyrs of the Jewish men with the colors, because we have failed to furnish them with Kosher food, and, on the other, for making martyrs of them in our sympathy with those who desire such dietary restrictions. Fault is found with us for permitting Yiddish books to be circulated in the camps, and again we are blamed for not providing enough of this literature.

Of one other important department of the welfare work scant mention has as yet been made—the work of our local Jewries. We hold that our purpose is unfulfilled, that we cannot truly represent either the Government or nationally organized Jewry, unless and until we also represent the locally organized Jewry, that is, the local Jewish communities. It is from these local communities that the Jewish soldiers have come. It is to these communities that they will return. Indeed, in ten or a score of years from now, the eighty or hundred thousand, or possibly one hundred and fifty thousand Jews of our National Army and Navy will be the prominent Jewish citizens, the upholders of our Jewish communities, the leaders and workers of our local Jewries. If we would have them remain steadfast to these communities throughout all the tragic days through which they must presently pass, they must be made to feel the spiritual forces of the communities behind them. They must know that these forces are with them wherever they may go. Apart from this, the national Jewish Welfare Board is in the truest sense the child of the local communities, as well as of the national Jewish organizations. It is to the local communities that we turn for both moral and financial support. We look to them, moreover, for definite service. We expect each community to send its Jewish boys into the service with a formal expression of its belief in them, so that each man may feel the power and strength of his community behind him. We expect each community to follow its soldiers with gifts, by correspondence and other aid, as well as by visitation to their families. We expect each community, meanwhile, to prepare for the return of these young men, for their readjustment to civil life, for the rehabilitation of their families, and for the new adjustments in the work of the social agencies of each town.

It was with all these ideals in mind that the Welfare Board, unlike the Knights of Columbus and the Y. M. C. A., incorporated into its platform a program of town as well as of camp work. For the past six months it has worked incessantly in the organization of what it calls local branches. At the present day eighty-five Jewish communities have organized themselves as J. W. B. branches. Twenty more are in process of organization. Before the end of this year the Welfare Board plans to have organized no less than two hundred local Jewries as Welfare Board subsidiaries. The results of this policy have already proven the wisdom thereof. It has stimulated wide-spread interest in soldier and sailor work. This is particularly true of those centers of Jewish life which are somewhat remote from large encampments. In the camp cities or camp towns the presence of uniformed men has of itself stimulated this interest, and it may be truly said that the real welfare workers are the Jews and Jewesses of these camp cities. In the very first days and months of the war, they were contributing their time and energies and giving of their means to the entertainment of men on leave, to visiting the sick, and to affording comfort to the lonely and dejected. But in the towns more remote from the camps this stimulation of interest has been provided by the organization of the J. W. B. branches.

The fiscal policy of the Welfare Board was determined several months ago when its Executive Committee voted in favor of a central collection and disbursement of funds under which all moneys raised for and in behalf of the Welfare Board became payable to the national treasurer, the national body making itself responsible in turn for promoting and financing welfare work in the towns and cities as well as in the American and overseas camps. It was felt that, though this fund was procured from the local Jewries of the country, authority to spend it should proceed from the central office, which, by reason of its national and international perspective, could best decide as to the wisdom of expenditures, and thus guarantee to the local Jewries the best possible administration of the funds that they themselves had created. Any other policy would have been fatal, and would have made each community the collector and dispenser of its own welfare fund, thus leading to excessive outlays for town hospitality, much of which is not only of no positive social value, but of a decided negative social value, while leaving without adequate resources the more immediately important work in the camps. Indeed to have adopted a less centralized system would have made impossible a truly responsible administration of the fund, such as the War Department justly expects of the agency which it has nominated as the authoritative functioning body for its Jewish group of soldiers. The National Jewish Welfare Board desires to be in the truest sense the representative of local Jewries. It is the local communities organized, combined, and raised to national self-consciousness. In this view of the case, the national office is but the visible expression of a covenant or pact between all the local communities of America, each of which desires to serve the most by serving all the rest.

The national office furnishes to each community under this pact the advantages of a broad perspective. It provides a means of contact with the Federal Government to which it is accredited by the Jews of America. It has to-day an organization of nearly 200 workers associated for the purpose of carrying on the welfare work of the correlated communities of the country. It provides to these communities a school in which each month a new group of some twenty-five or more men from various sections are trained as community servants—men who now give themselves to Jewish war work and will not fail the community when later called upon to help solve the even more trying problems of the post-war period. It places at the disposition of all local communities a Research Department for the study of the war aspects of community problems as they change and develop under the impact of the world struggle.

Has not then an organization like this, created in an emergency—representing the American Government, organized Jewry, the plain Jewish people, and the local communities of America—a unique opportunity? And shall not American Jews avail themselves of it by rising now as never before to a true consciousness of the character, the scope, and the meaning of their entire community?

THE COLLECTION OF JEWISH WAR STATISTICS

BY JULIAN LEAVITT,

IN CHARGE OF THE DIVISION OF WAR STATISTICS OF THE BUREAU OF JEWISH STATISTICS AND RESEARCH

From the first days of the entry of the United States into the World War the American Jewish Committee felt the need of, and recognized the opportunity for, a complete record of Jewish service in the common cause. For reasons too well known to be enumerated here, statistics of an entirely reliable nature bearing upon Jewish service in the wars of the United States had never before been gathered. The work of Simon Wolf, The American Jew as Patriot, Soldier, and Citizen (1895), is obviously a bio-historical rather than a statistical record. The Preliminary List of Jews Serving in the Spanish-American War, compiled by Dr. Cyrus Adler and published in the Year Book 5661 (1900-1901), is, as its title implies, a tentative effort; while the article on Jews in the United States Army and Navy, prepared by Captain Landes for the Year Book 5677 (1916-17), is admittedly a rough approximation rather than a scientific census. The present moment, it was therefore felt, presented, for the first time in the history of American Jewry, an opportunity for the preparation of a contemporary record that should prove of service to the Jews of America for all time.

To this end the American Jewish Committee assigned to its Bureau of Statistics and Research, as a major function, the task of collecting data bearing upon all Jews in the military and naval services of the United States, at home or abroad, in the regular civilian service at Washington, in the newly established War Bureaus, and in the various auxiliary services where Jews are known to be rendering valuable aid—in short, to establish at this time, and later to render possible the publication of, a comprehensive historical and statistical record of Jewish contributions to the success of the United States in the greatest world war.

But while the many advantages of such an undertaking were generally recognized, its difficulties were by no means underestimated. It was known that the official records of the army and navy make no note of religious affiliations, so that a bare examination of the millions of names on the rolls, even if permission were granted to make such search, would in itself be an enterprise of considerable magnitude. It was also recognized that the Jewish quotas, coming as they would from widely scattered parts of the country, would contain thousands of men who had naturally drifted away from Jewish affiliations, other thousands who had, in the process of Americanization, changed their names, and some who would, for reasons of their own, even seek to conceal their racial or religious identity. In view of this, it was decided to approach the problem from as many angles as possible, in order to reduce to a minimum that percentage of error always inherent in a work of this nature. Three main channels of information are thus being explored: (1) Jewish sources; (2) official records at Washington; (3) other records of a public and private nature.

From the very inception of this war statistics work, the closest possible co-operation has been fostered and maintained between the Bureau of Statistics and the agents of the Jewish Welfare Board stationed at various camps and ships and also at the front. These representatives are under instructions to send in to the Bureau or to the Board or both all information of a statistical character gathered by, or known to, them, including individual registration cards signed by the Jewish soldiers, religious censuses taken by the Board or by other agencies in the camps, holiday furlough records, recipients of Bibles, etc. The Board has also posted conspicuous notices in the camps, advertising the work in question, and has enclosed the proper material, such as blanks and registration cards, in the vast number of Bibles and Prayer Books which it has issued to the Jewish soldiers and sailors, as well as in the other literature which it is spreading broadcast. In short, it has lent its co-operation systematically and efficiently, thereby assuring to the Bureau of Statistics a steady flow of the most valuable information possible direct from camps, ships, and trenches. All other Jewish organizations, local and national, throughout the country—religious, fraternal, trade and labor, Zionist organizations, etc.—have likewise been circularized by the Bureau of Statistics with requests for lists of members who have been called to the colors.

The response to date has been tremendously gratifying. To the rabbis of the country the Bureau of Statistics is particularly indebted for a great volume of information respecting the men in service belonging to their congregations, invaluable in quality and quantity. All Jewish dailies and weeklies have been carefully searched and clipped for reports of enlistments, for group and local honor rolls, for news of service flag dedications, etc., and news items that suggest clues to other sources of information have been diligently followed up. Thus, a casual press clipping one day reported the organization of a Jewish Soldiers' Club at Camp Gordon. The secretary of the club was at once communicated with, and he responded in due course with a remarkably painstaking list of the club's members.

In addition, every effort is being made to reach all Jewish agencies likely to possess information of value—parents' associations, or other next-of-kin groups that are in touch with the men at the front; Jewish publicists and communal workers; Jewish newspaper men on the staffs of Jewish or non-Jewish papers; employers' and employes' associations in trades and industries wholly or preponderantly Jewish; lodges, clubs, and the like.

Recognizing, however, that, because of the limitations already referred to, purely Jewish sources of information would be inadequate for the purposes in view, a determined effort has been made to gain access to departmental records in Washington and at the various state capitals, in order to gather at the best original source whatever data might be secured as to Jewish enlistments, with the idea that the two inquiries—one into Jewish, and the other into non-Jewish channels of information—should serve to supplement and correct each other. For this purpose an office was opened, at the beginning of the present year, in Washington, in charge of the present writer. It was hoped that access might be secured either to the files of the War Risk Insurance Bureau, where are kept the original applications of all soldiers and sailors who have taken out insurance policies with the Government, as well as the allotment and allowance records, or to the files of the Adjutant-General's Office, the Statistical Division of which collects and tabulates all "service records" of the men in the army, including the invaluable "holiday furlough" records, or else to the files of the Provost Marshal General's Office, where all the draft records are to be found. Every assurance of co-operation was given by the officers in charge of these various records, but it was soon found that, because of the tremendous burdens which recent war developments have imposed upon all these bureaus, it would be advisable to wait with the actual procedure of search until the archives were in better order, since, in the present state of these records, the work of examination would be unduly complicated for all concerned. These searches have, therefore, been suspended for the present, with the exception of two bureaus: the Marine Corps, where, through the courtesy of Brigadier-General Lauchheimer, permission to examine the files was freely granted, and where the files themselves were found to be in such perfect condition as to make the quest comparatively simple, and the Office of the Surgeon-General, where searches are now under way.

Outside of Washington, a great body of information respecting the National Guard and the Federalized Militia of the states is to be found in the offices of the Adjutants-General at the various state capitals. Arrangements have consequently been made to have their records systematically examined. The files at Albany have already been thoroughly searched by a representative of the Bureau of Statistics, Miss Ruth Hessberg, who has, with extraordinary skill and diligence, located thousands of names of Jewish soldiers. The search at Harrisburg and at a number of other leading capitals is now under way. In addition, the Army Orders and Assignments, Casualty Lists, etc., issued by the United States Adjutant-General's Office and published in the Congressional Record, the Official Bulletin, and in part in the metropolitan dailies, constitute a rich source of official information which is closely examined for Jewish data. Finally, there remain the records of the local draft and exemption boards, particularly in the districts notably Jewish, or in leading centers of Jewish population. These records, although inferior to the others in certain respects, in so far as they supply data only as to the induction of the men and none at all as to their later service history, will nevertheless be of great value in complementing and correcting the other particulars available.

Numerous subsidiary sources of information in non-Jewish quarters occasionally supply most valuable data and supplement the two main avenues of information, the strictly Jewish and the strictly official. Among these are the Red Cross, whose Home Service Divisions maintain at their local offices records of dependency and cases requiring other home relief; the War Service Rosters of the leading colleges and universities of the country; the records of local historical societies; the forthcoming edition of the various professional directories, and so forth. Arrangements have recently been entered into, providing for an exchange of information with most of these agencies.

From these various sources, some 60,000 records have at present (July 30, 1918) been collected, and are now being verified, classified, and tabulated. And since it is apparent that the value of the work as a whole will depend almost entirely upon the accuracy of the methods adopted to avoid duplication and confusion, it may be desirable, at this point, to present a brief description of the technique involved. First, as to the methods adopted for the identification of Jewish names. It is recognized, at the outset, that no perfect method has as yet been developed. To identify, with unerring certainty, Jewish names in a bare list of mixed names is utterly impossible. But a reasonable degree of accuracy is entirely feasible. To begin with, there is the great mass of information supplied by the Jewish Welfare Board and other organizations and individuals, to whom the Jewish registrants are personally known. These names are accepted without question, as they are virtually certified. As to the remainder, there are names so unmistakably Jewish that, when taken in connection with their home addresses, next-of-kin, or branch of service—as, for example, in the case of officers in the medical or dental corps bearing distinctly Jewish cognomens—they may be accepted without further question. Where names have been anglicized or adapted in any way, the names of next-of-kin frequently remain unchanged, or perhaps the very form of the change may to a trained mind suggest the original. Other clues of like nature will at once occur to the reader—registration districts, if distinctively Jewish, birthplace or nativity of parents, the use of certain forenames or certain abbreviations of surnames—all these and other characteristics too numerous to mention, while not conclusive in themselves, tend nevertheless to furnish broad indications which, followed up by the skilled investigator, generally lead to satisfactory proof, positive or negative. Finally, it frequently happens that names coming from a non-Jewish source will be automatically checked, at the moment of filing, by a source unmistakably Jewish. Moreover, it is contemplated that, as soon as the local lists are reasonably complete, check lists will be made up by towns and cities, copies thereof to be sent to the local press and to the leading Jews in each community for revision and verification. Altogether, therefore, it may be confidently stated that, from present indications, the final residuum of doubtful, uncertified names will be practically negligible.

The cataloguing methods adopted will also serve, in a considerable degree, as a check against duplication and inclusion of improper material. As the records are received they are copied, in triplicate, on cards having blanks for full name, home address, age, nativity of self and parents, branch of service, rank, regiment and company, camp or station, source of information received, and service record. These three cards, one original and two carbons, are filed in three separate catalogues, one arranged alphabetically and so devised as to bring together automatically all variant forms of names which are especially liable to misplacements because of common errors in reporting, copying, or transliterating; another catalogue arranged by branches of the service, with officers and honormen "signalled"; and a third arranged by states, cities, and towns. By this means it will be possible to report not only as to the service records of any individual, but also as the aggregate of enlistments, local quotas, distribution by branches of the service and by localities, number and proportion of officers, and similar data of general interest. Analyses and studies of this material may be made and published from time to time, as occasion may demand, before the completion of the entire work.

Although the collection of military and naval statistics constitutes, of necessity, the major problem before the Bureau of Statistics at present, the record of civilian war service is by no means to be neglected. The Washington office has gathered all data available as to Jews in the Federal Civil Service and in the new War Bureaus, numbering to date some two thousand names and also much information as to Jews in the various auxiliary services, such as four-minute men, Liberty-Bond salesmen, members of Draft Boards, and War Service committees throughout the country, while all other information obtainable as to Jewish contributions to the Red Cross, Hospital and Ambulance Units, Bond Subscriptions, and other war service is being systematically collected and classified.

From this brief account of the work undertaken so far it will be apparent that the measure of success which may ultimately attend the venture will depend in large part upon the co-operation of all elements in Jewish life. Tribute has already been paid to the service of the Jewish Welfare Board and to the magnificent co-operation of the spiritual and secular leaders of American Jewry. All the readers of this article can help definitely and notably by sending to the Bureau of Jewish Statistics and Research any data that comes within the scope of this work. At present this means any information whatsoever concerning the Jews in the present war. Concretely, the individual or organization desiring to assist in this most important work can do so in the following manner:

(1) By sending in names of individual soldiers and sailors, particularly those that do not ordinarily suggest a Jewish origin, and renewing the record from time to time with such fresh information as may develop, in the way of honors, promotions, or casualties; (2) by locating and notifying the Bureau of sources at which a considerable mass of information may be traced; (3) by interesting any agencies of publicity that may be reached so as to enlist the widest possible number of people in the work; (4) by sending to the Bureau, either for immediate perusal or for permanent preservation in its archives, letters from soldiers and sailors at the front, or other material of historical value.

It would have been extremely desirable to conclude this article with a brief summary of the statistical results obtained thus far in the course of this inquiry. The vast material still remaining to be collated and digested, however, makes it ad-visible to defer the presentation of actual figures until such a time as it may be possible to present them with that degree of fulness and accuracy which the importance of the subject demands.

From indications already at hand, however, it may be confidently promised that the evidence, when fully developed, will show conclusively that the Jews of America are acquitting themselves magnificently, as soldiers and citizens, in this war; that their contributions of men and means tend to exceed, by a generous margin, their due quotas; that the Jewish soldiers at the front fight with no less valor than their comrades; that their losses are as great—and their rewards no less.

FEDERATION FOR THE SUPPORT OF JEWISH PHILANTHROPIC SOCIETIES OF NEW YORK CITY *

BY I. EDWIN GOLDWASSER, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

In the American Jewish Year Book for the year 5676 there appears a significant article on the Federation movement in American Jewish philanthropy by Dr. Joseph Jacobs. In describing the attempts that had been made to apply the methods of a Federation to the largest Jewish community in the world, the writer says: "The number of institutions with fairly large incomes was so considerable that one board representing all might be of an unwieldy character. There are also in Manhattan several hospitals, many orphanages and generally a larger number of separate institutions of the same class than is found in other cities. To these and other arguments was added the consideration which had been urged in other cities, that Federation would destroy the personal interest in individual charities which led to such large endowments, donations and bequests."

These difficulties created what the author called "an unfortunate deadlock," when, spurred on by the Heinsheimer bequest, a large number of the institutions conferred with the view of determining whether Federation would be practicable.

* In preparing this article, passages have been frequently quoted from the following pamphlets: Plan of Federation, adopted June 6, 1916; Report of Special Committee of Seven, March 12, 1917; By-Laws of Federation, adopted June 24, 1917.

It was left to Felix M. Warburg to re-open the consideration of the problem in 1916. After a long period devoted to personal conferences with leaders of the various institutions, it was decided to form a Committee to consider the organization of a Federation in New York City, with the view of formulating, if possible, a plan of Federation which might be acceptable to the institutions.

This Committee on Federation consisted of the following: Samuel Greenbaum, Chairman; Leo Arnstein; Emil Baerwald; Julius Ballin; George Blumenthal; Joseph L. Bittenwieser; Joseph H. Cohen; William N. Cohen; Abram I. Elkus; William Goldman, Secretary; Sol Kohn; Lee Kohns; Arthur Lehman; Samuel D. Levy; Adolph Lewisohn; Morton H. Meinhard; Joseph E. Newburger; Leopold Plaut; Jacob H. Schiff; Mortimer L. Schiff; Louis Stern; Felix M. Warburg; Jacob Wertheim.

On February 26, 1916, it appointed a Special Committee consisting of Abram I. Elkus, Chairman; Leo Arnstein; Joseph H. Cohen; Samuel Greenbaum; William Goldman; Jesse I. Straus; Felix M. Warburg; H. G. Friedman, Secretary.

The Special Committee submitted its report pursuant to the resolution of the Committee on Federation, dated February 26, 1916, "to consider all plans of Federation which have been proposed, and all criticisms and suggestions thereon, and also to act as Committee on Conciliation of all suggestions with reference to the conditions under which a plan shall be put in operation."

In accordance with these instructions, the Committee devoted twelve meetings during a period of nearly three months to the problems presented to Federation. It studied various plans proposed, including those of Mr. Nathaniel Myers, of Messrs. Chester J. Teller, and Morris D. Waldman, the plan formulated by the Advisory Committee of the Bureau of Philanthropic Research and the suggestions of Mr. Cyrus L. Sulzberger, and the Constitutions of Federations of other cities. Criticisms and suggestions from societies and persons interested were invited. Every effort was made to keep the public informed of the various steps in the development of the plan to be presented. More important than this, however, was the fact that the Committee was ready at all times to give careful consideration to any definite suggestion for modification of the plan, so that a substantial agreement might be reached.

On May 25, 1916, the Special Committee presented its report to the Committee on Federation.

On June 6, 1916, the last-named Committee adopted the following resolution: "Resolved, That the Plan of Federation formulated by the Special Committee be adopted; that the Plan be submitted to the societies therein named, such societies to notify the Secretary of the Committee on Federation of their assent to the Plan and to designate their representatives on the Organization Committee and on the Board of Delegates on or before July 15, 1916; that the Federation be organized as soon as the Plan shall have been assented to by societies receiving two-thirds of the total amount collected in 1915 in membership dues and subscriptions by the societies named in the Plan."

In connection with this resolution, the report of the Committee was submitted, consisting of two parts, (1) a revised draft of the Constitution for the Federation and (2) a statement in explanation of the provisions of the Plan of Federation. Since this Constitution became the basis of the By-Laws under which the Federation is now operating, it is probable that the clearest statement of the Federation can be found in the explanation of the Plan as submitted by the Committee.

The Committee proposed as the name for the organization the descriptive title of "Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies of New York City."

PURPOSE

It was proposed that the scope of the Federation be limited to the support of philanthropic societies ministering to the needs of Jews of the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx. Brooklyn had its own organization and it was felt that there should be no intrusion in that field. It was not the intention of the committee, however, to make the location of a society the test of eligibility for admission to the Federation, but rather the territory from which its beneficiaries are drawn. Institutions located outside of New York City carrying on work primarily for the benefit of residents of Manhattan and the Bronx are entitled to the support of the Federation, equally with those located within these boroughs.

MEMBERSHIP

(a) Any person who subscribes and pays to the Federation at least ten dollars a year is entitled to be elected by the Board to regular membership therein, with the privilege to cast one vote in person or by proxy, and otherwise to participate in the meetings and affairs of the Federation and to hold office therein as hereinafter provided; (b) any group of persons, unable to qualify as regular members, who jointly subscribe and pay to the Federation at least fifteen dollars a year, may in the discretion and during the pleasure of the Board, be elected to a group membership therein, with the right to designate one of their group to exercise the privileges of a regular member; (c) any person under the age of twenty-one years who subscribes and pays to the Federation at least five dollars a year may, in the discretion of the Board, be elected a junior member therein during his minority, without the privileges of a regular member.

It is planned to maintain the membership of the beneficiary societies. For this purpose the Committee proposed that where a member of the Federation failed to designate the beneficiaries for his contribution, but subscribed an amount equal to or in excess of his aggregate membership payments in 1915 to the federated societies, it was to be assumed that it was his intention to remain a member of those societies and to contribute to each of them the same amount as in 1915. All other undesignated subscriptions are to be assigned by the Board of Trustees to the societies in such amounts as will enable each society to maintain its membership at no less than the amount received in 1915.

For the convenience of members who desire to make a single contribution to all philanthropies, including societies not part of the Federation, Federation acts as a clearing-house, and pays amounts designated to such outside organizations.

In other words, a subscription to the Federation may combine the following: A subscription to the General Fund, a designated subscription to federated societies, and a designated subscription to unaffiliated societies. No subscriptions to unaffiliated societies are accepted, however, until the minimum subscription of $10 to the General Fund of the Federation or to one of the federated societies is included in the subscription.

THE ADMISSION OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATIONAL SOCIETIES

The first and most important consideration here was the character of the activities which it is the purpose of the Federation to foster and support. The second point was: What shall be the basis for admitting or rejecting societies engaged in activities coming within the general purposes of the Federation?

The purpose of the Federation is to support philanthropic societies. No doubt exists that the Federation should take in charitable and relief agencies, organizations for the care of the sick, the dependent and delinquent, societies for general educational and social activities. The question was raised whether or not the Federation should also embrace societies carrying on the work of religious education. The following excerpt from the report of the Committee is of interest:

“The problem of religious education is highly complex. The societies in this field engage in work which is in part charitable and in part self-supporting. They provide facilities for religious education, and give free instruction to children who cannot afford to pay. Some of these societies conduct also settlement activities, clubs, gymnasiums, and classes. There are in Greater New York some eighty week-day religious schools, known as Talmud Torahs, and Hebrew schools, etc. These vary greatly in the character and value of their work, their standards and methods of instruction. Their support comes from two classes, those who themselves receive benefits from the society by sending their children or attending the synagogue usually connected with the school, and those who contribute from purely philanthropic motives in order to advance the purpose of the society.

The problem of religious education from the standpoint of Federation presents three phases which may here be noted: (1) While the work of these societies is undoubtedly of the highest value, not only from a religious standpoint, but from a lay point of view, there is not the unanimity of opinion in the community as regards the aims, methods, and purposes of religious educational work which exists with reference to the work of other charitable and social service agencies. (2) The organization of religious education is still in its beginnings. Its adequate development will require very large additions to the income of such societies and appropriations increasing very much more rapidly than the allotments for other philanthropic work. (3) The support of such societies is to a very great extent local rather than general. It is derived from very small contributions and the collection of such funds, and the retention of this class of members is likely to present the greatest difficulties."

For these reasons it seemed unwise for the Federation to complicate its problems at the beginning by taking over the support of institutions engaged in philanthropic religious activities.

On January 8, 1917, however, a Committee of Twenty-five presented to the Federation a request that the Federation consider the financial aspect of Jewish religious education in New York City. On the same day the Chairman of the Organization Committee of the Federation appointed a Special Committee of Seven to study in all its aspects the subject of Jewish religious education in New York City. In its report this committee submitted the following considerations:

"The application of religious schools for affiliation with Federation presents distinctly to Federation the problem of admitting societies carrying on religious education as distinguished from institutions engaged mainly in secular work. When the plan of Federation was adopted, it was agreed to be 'unwise for the Federation to complicate its problems at the beginning by taking over the support of institutions engaged in philanthropic-religious activities.' The Committee which drew up the plan foresaw that the question of supporting societies engaged in philanthropic-religious activities should have to be considered again. The societies conducting religious schools submit that this question be taken up now because Federation has made their present position, and, to a greater extent, their future development precarious. As Federation becomes more successful and allies to itself the various elements in the community, it will become increasingly difficult for them to secure funds as independent organizations. The presidents of some of these societies stated that in many instances contributors have returned bills for dues with the single word 'Federation', and that as a result some of the schools may be obliged to close their doors.

It is further submitted by the applicant societies that if they were to form a Federation of their own in order to finance their activities and make an appeal to the public, the result would be detrimental to both the religious schools and to Federation, the community would be disorganized by the establishment of more than one Federation, and the endeavor to unify philanthropic activities would be frustrated. There would result a separation in the community between those now active on behalf of secular philanthropies and those who are interested in religious education.

The support of religious education presents grave problems for Federation. As noted by the Committee which framed the plan of Federation, the community is not a unit in religious belief, and in Federation there are represented the most divergent shades of faith. Questions of conscience and conviction are involved, rather than those of policy and method. Grounds for differences are thus more deeply seated. Serious attention must, therefore, be given to objections to the inclusion in Federation of institutions with activities in reference to which there may be wide differences of opinion.

Your Committee, however, is of the view that these objections to the admission of religious societies to Federation are not sufficient to counterbalance the injury which might result from their exclusion, not merely to the cause of religious education, but also to the work of these schools as moral influences in the community for bridging the gap between parent and child, and for maintaining the influence of the home and the family.

Moreover, it is fundamental in the plan of Federation that each society shall have autonomy in its internal management, and so long as this principle is observed there should be no reason why the difference of opinion or belief among subscribers to Federation should constitute a bar to the admission of these societies. If religious societies are admitted, Federation must have nothing whatsoever to do with curriculum or religious beliefs. The control of the policies of the schools must be left to each individual institution, and there must be no grounds for any suspicion that the Federation is in the remotest degree seeking to influence them in the instruction which they are to give in the matters of religion."

In November, 1917, the conditions that had been set for the admission of the religious educational societies were properly met by the following bodies, which were declared affiliated with the Federation: Schools and Extension Activities of the Bureau of Education, Central Jewish Institute, Down-Town Talmud Torah, Salanter Talmud Torah, Machzike Talmud Torah, and Up-Town Talmud Torah.

RESTRICTIONS UPON AFFILIATED BODIES

No beneficiary society, auxiliary society, nor any person in their behalf, was to give entertainments for the purpose of raising funds or soliciting donations or contributions other than permanent endowments or legacies in behalf of such societies.

Before making a special appeal to the community for building funds or other extraordinary purposes, beneficiary societies are required to inform the Board of Trustees, and, if such appeal is approved, the societies receive the endorsement and support of the Federation.

Co-operation in this respect between the societies of the Federation will undoubtedly prove of great benefit to the societies through the avoidance of the multiplicity of appeals of the same character at the same time. Appeals approved by the Federation will win for the society support from the entire community.

ORGANIZATION OF THE GOVERNING BODY

The problem of organizing a governing body for the Federation was attended by peculiar difficulties in New York. The societies themselves differed in the extent of the support which they received from the public, the number of their members, and their income. In addition to these, Federation created a new organization of contributors. Various plans were submitted to the Committee, involving two bodies, one elected by the members and another by the institutions, the one to serve as a check on the other, or one large body made up of the delegates of the societies and of representatives of the public electing in turn a smaller administrative body. The Committee did not favor the plan involving two bodies, one to exercise a veto power over the other. It was felt that such a system would result in friction and prove cumbersome in operation. The Committee did not approve an organization calling for indirect election and representation such as is involved in the selection of the Administrative Board by an intermediate body. It held fast to the position that the responsibility of the governing body should be direct to the societies and to the contributors. The following quotations from the By-Laws will show the plan of organization:

“SECTION 1. The management of the Federation shall be vested in a Board of Trustees which shall adopt its own rules of procedure not inconsistent with the charter or By-Laws, by two-thirds of its total number of votes. Its action in matters within its jurisdiction shall be final, conclusive and binding upon all of the Beneficiary Societies. The Board of Trustees shall be constituted of Trustees designated by Beneficiary Societies and of ten Trustees-at-Large elected by the members of the Federation as follows:

SECTION 2. One Trustee shall be designated by each society receiving an income from membership dues or subscriptions in the year 1915 of not less than $10,000 nor more than $50,000, and two Trustees by each society receiving an income from membership dues or subscriptions in 1915 in excess of $50,000.

SECTION 3. The Trustee or Trustees designated by a Beneficiary Society shall be entitled to cast a number of votes in accordance with the income of the society from membership dues or subscriptions in 1915, as follows:

$10,000 and over, but not exceeding	$25,000, one	vote
Over $25,000, " " "	50,000, two	votes
" 50,000, " " "	75,000, three	votes
" 75,000, " " "	100,000, four	votes
" 100,000,	five	votes

SECTION 4. A Trustee designated by a society entitled to designate two Trustees may in the absence of his colleague cast the total number of votes of both such Trustees.

SECTION 5. Societies receiving an income from membership dues or subscriptions in 1915 of $3,000 or more, but not so much as $10,000, may combine for the purpose of designating Trustees, and shall be entitled to designate one Trustee for each $15,000 of income received in 1915 from membership dues or subscriptions by the societies so combining.

SECTION 6. The number of votes of Trustees designated by societies with an income of less than $10,000 from membership dues or subscriptions, or allotments from the Federation, shall not exceed twenty-five per cent of the total number of votes of the Board of Trustees, unless the allotment to such societies shall exceed twenty-five per cent of the total appropriations of the Federation to all Beneficiary Societies. In case such allotment is less than twenty-five per cent of such total appropriations, the Board shall reduce the number of Trustees to be designated by such societies, so that their votes shall not exceed twenty-five per cent of the total number of votes of the Board of Trustees.

SECTION 7. Beneficiary Societies admitted after July 1, 1917, may be authorized by two-thirds of the total number of votes of the Board of Trustees to designate Trustees on the basis of income from membership dues or subscriptions as prescribed above, except that the income from membership dues or subscriptions of a society so admitted shall be taken to be the average annual amount received during a period of not less than two years immediately before admission to the Federation.

SECTION 8. Societies organized with the consent of the Board of Trustees may be authorized with the consent of the total number of its votes to designate Trustees on the basis of the amount of the appropriations allotted to them by the Federation, such appropriations to be regarded for this purpose as the equivalent of income from membership dues or subscriptions.

SECTION 9. Societies shall give notice to the Federation of persons designated by them as Trustees and such Trustees shall serve until their successors are designated.

SECTION 10. In December, 1919, and every third year thereafter, the Board of Trustees shall reapportion the number of trustees and the number of votes assigned to beneficiary societies. The basis of reapportionment shall be the average of the annual amounts allotted to each society by the Federation during the three years elapsed, such average allotment to be regarded as the equivalent of the income from membership dues and subscriptions for determining the number of Trustees and the number of votes to which a society shall be entitled.

SECTION 11. The members of the Federation shall elect by ballot ten Trustees-at-Large, each entitled to cast one vote, from candidates nominated as follows:

SECTION 12. Nominations for such Trustees shall be submitted to the Board of Trustees and posted conspicuously in the office of the Federation not less than forty-five days before the Annual Election by a Nominating Committee, appointed by the President of the Federation, consisting of twenty-five members of the Federation, none of whom shall be a Trustee or a Delegate of the Federation or a member of an Executive Board of a Beneficiary Society. Nominations may also be made by a petition signed by no less than one hundred members of the Federation, and filed with the Federation twenty-five days before the date of the Annual Election. Nominations may be made at the meeting if the Nominating Committee shall fail to duly make its nominations or if its nominees shall be or become disqualified in whole or in part or if vacancies among the Trustees occur since the date of its report. The Nominating Committee and all nominating petitions shall designate one or more persons to act as proxies, without prejudice to the right of any member to select his own proxy.

SECTION 13. No member of the Federation shall be eligible for election as Trustee-at-Large unless he shall have served for one year as member of the Board of Delegates. This provision shall not apply to Trustees-at-Large elected at the first Annual Election.

SECTION 14. The term of office for Trustees-at-Large shall be three years, except that of the Trustees-at-Large chosen at the first Annual Election, three shall be elected for a term of one year, four for a term of two years, and three for a term of three years.

SECTION 15. In the event of the resignation or death of a Trustee-at-Large, the Board of Trustees shall elect a member of the Board of Delegates to serve as Trustee-at-Large to the date of the next Annual Election, when a successor shall be elected for the unexpired term by the members of the Federation."

In forming the Board of Trustees of the Federation, the Committee sought to meet conditions. Its aim was to apportion representation to the different societies in accordance with their income from the public and to give recognition to the contributors organized as a body in the Federation. In entrusting the election of the greater proportion of the Trustees to the institutions, the Committee endeavored to secure for Federation continuity in the policies of our institutions, the interest and support of those who have been most active in the development of Jewish philanthropic endeavor and who have had most experience in the management of the societies. In placing on the governing board a considerable number of Trustees to be elected directly by the members, persons not now connected with the executive boards of the societies, an opportunity was given for representation to elements in the community not at present associated with the administration of our institutions. The Committee endeavored also to give just representation on the governing body to small societies. The only organizations excluded from representation are those with incomes of less than $3,000. Such societies are none the less eligible for admission to Federation and as their work is extended and their allotment increases beyond $3,000, they become entitled to representation on the same basis as other societies.

SOLICITATION OF MEMBERSHIP AND CONTRIBUTIONS

The By-Laws provide: There shall be a Board of Delegates of the Federation, the function of which shall be to consider ways and means of enlisting the support of the community, to secure memberships and solicit funds for the Federation, and to perform such other duties as the Board of Trustees may prescribe. The Board of Delegates shall be chosen in the following manner:

Each society shall designate to the Board two Delegates for each vote to which it is entitled in the Board of Trustees, provided that each society shall designate at least one Delegate. Societies shall give notice to the Federation of persons designated by them as Delegates, and such Delegates shall serve until their successors are designated.

The members of the Federation shall elect by ballot one hundred Delegates-at-Large to be nominated in the same manner as Trustee-at-Large.

The term of office of Delegates-at-Large shall be three years, except that of the Delegates chosen at the first Annual Election, thirty-three shall be elected for a term of one year, thirty-four for a term of two years, and thirty-three for a term of three years.

In the event of the resignation or death of a Delegate-at-Large, the President of the Federation shall appoint a member of the Federation to serve to the date of the next Annual Election, when a successor shall be elected for the unexpired term by the members of the Federation.

The President of the Federation shall be President of the Board of Delegates.

This plan aims to lend dignity and importance to membership in the soliciting body on behalf of the contributors by making the position dependent on election and in this way a representative one. It is noted further that one year's service in this body is a condition of eligibility for election as Trustee-at-Large. The number of elected members makes possible the representation from all elements of the community, and thereby enables the Federation to reach all classes in its behalf. The object in placing on this body delegates from the institutions was to give opportunity to the societies to designate those whom they knew to be most successful in securing funds. Directors in the various organizations acquainted with their work and their clientele are assigned to serve on the soliciting body. These bring to it experience and the interest which comes from a knowledge of the needs of the institutions. The advantage in this plan is that it combines with the work of soliciting funds administrative duties in the constituent societies of the Federation.

APPORTIONMENT OF THE FUNDS OF THE FEDERATION

The following excerpts from the by-laws indicate the method of the apportionment of the Federation funds:

“SECTION 1. Members of the Federation shall be requested to designate and may designate the Beneficiary Societies in which they desire membership and the amounts to be paid to such societies out of their contributions to the Federation; the contributions of a member to Beneficiary Societies prior to their admission to the Federation shall be deemed continuous designations by such members unless affirmatively revoked or unless his contribution to the Federation shall not equal his total contributions to such Beneficiary Societies; the Federation from among its members not so designating may nominate to any Beneficiary Society, upon its request, a sufficient number of members to maintain the membership roll of such society at the number which it had during the fiscal year next preceding its admission to the Federation; provided, however, that members so designated or nominated shall be elected members by such Beneficiary Societies in accordance with their by-laws without further liability for membership dues or otherwise.

SECTION 2. Out of the undesignated funds the expenses of Federation shall first be paid, and from the surplus there shall be allotted to each Beneficiary Society an amount which with the designated sums shall make the total appropriated by the Federation to each society equal the sum collected by it from (a) membership dues or subscriptions in the year 1915 and (b) the average amount received in the years 1911-1915 in donations for purposes other than endowment, building, or special funds, and (c) the average annual amount of net proceeds from entertainments received in the years 1911-1915, and (d) the amount paid by an auxiliary society to it or expended in its behalf in 1915.

SECTION 3. The Board of Trustees may create and maintain out of the undesignated funds an emergency fund, which shall at no time exceed $300,000. Appropriations from this fund shall be made only to meet extraordinary conditions and emergencies and upon two-thirds of the total number of votes of the Board.

SECTION 4. The Board of Trustees may in its absolute discretion make appropriations from the balance of any undesignated funds to Beneficiary Societies upon two-thirds of the votes of all trustees present, and not less than a majority of the total number of votes of the Board. In making appropriations from such undesignated balance, the Board shall consider the needs of each society and its income from all sources, but shall not consider as available income the amount received by a society in legacies and devises.

SECTION 5. The Board of Trustees by two-thirds of the total number of its votes may make appropriations from the undesignated funds to organizations other than Beneficiary Societies, to be expended for philanthropic or philanthropic-religious purposes in behalf of the Jews of Manhattan and The Bronx. No part of the undesignated funds shall, however, be appropriated for activities not primarily philanthropic or philanthropic-religious.

SECTION 6. The Federation may in its discretion receive from members funds designated for the use of organizations and not beneficiaries thereof, and shall pay such funds in accordance with the wishes of the contributors; but such funds shall not be included as a membership payment of such member.

SECTION 7. The Federation shall discourage the making of legacies and devises to it and shall recommend that these be made direct to the Beneficiary Societies. The Federation shall not accept legacies or devises by which the principal is to be held in trust by the Federation and only the income is to be available for distribution; and all legacies and devises received shall, within a period of three years after receipt, be distributed to the Beneficiary Societies, or, upon two-thirds of the total number of votes of the Board of Trustees, to new societies to be formed."

Representatives of smaller societies, with expanding activities, expressed the fear that the growth of their organizations might be hampered unless they were assured of increased funds to enable them to meet their commitments. The situation of the large institutions is not different from that of the smaller societies. Both classes of organizations look forward to enlarged activities, for which they must have additional funds. The general experience under Federation elsewhere has been that the income of federated societies increased thirty per cent or more. The purpose of Federation here is to secure as great an increase or a greater one, in order that all societies might have adequate support for their work. The Board of Trustees is free to use the increased funds to meet the requirements of the societies.

EMERGENCY FUND

The Committee left the creation of an Emergency Fund optional with the Board of Trustees. To make the establishment of such a reserve mandatory might involve the tying-up of funds at a time when they were needed for immediate uses. It is proposed that the maximum amount for the fund shall be $300,000, and that, as this amount is reduced, appropriations may be made to replenish it. This fund should be available for use only to meet emergencies such as wide-spread business depression and other extraordinary occurrences which might in any year seriously reduce the income of the Federation, or give rise to exceptional demands. It is the intention that this fund shall be drawn upon only to meet the needs of Manhattan and the Bronx. It should not be used to meet emergencies outside of New York City. The Committee believes it would not be proper to make appropriation from it for emergencies elsewhere in the United States or abroad, for the reason that the purpose of this reserve is to safeguard the work of the Federation. Such sums as might be voted from this fund for such other uses could doubtless be secured otherwise.

This fund is to be regarded as available for use only in emergencies and not as a substitute for moneys which should be secured in subscriptions from the public. The Committee, accordingly, recommended that this reserve be safeguarded by requiring that appropriations from it should be upon two-thirds of all the votes of the Board of Trustees.

LEGACIES

The Committee believed that it is for the best interests of the community that legacies be made to the constituent societies of the Federation. The function of the Federation should be to gather and distribute annual contributions and not to accumulate trust funds. The Federation should therefore discourage legacies to itself and recommend that bequests be made directly to the beneficiary societies. It should further refuse to accept legacies or devises to be held in trust by the Federation.

If legacies or devises are nevertheless left to the Federation, the principal is to be treated as part of the income of the Federation available for distribution to its beneficiaries. Where large amounts are involved, it may not always be expedient to distribute the total in one year. The budgets of the institutions are necessarily adjusted to their regular income, and it would not be desirable to expand activities to absorb an increased appropriation, the recurrence of which could not be counted upon.

Again, there may be need for new activities, or new agencies, to the financing of which such funds could be most advantageously devoted. The Committee, accordingly, provided that the Board of Trustees have discretion to extend the distribution of legacies received over a period not to exceed three years, and also that the Board be authorized, upon a two-thirds' vote, to use the funds derived from legacies for financing new activities.

CONDITIONS FOR THE ORGANIZATION OF FEDERATION

The Committee was of the opinion that the best method would be to organize the Federation in accordance with the plan proposed and to proceed with a canvass. Federation was to be declared effective as soon as its financial success was established.

Accordingly, in the fall of 1916, a systematic campaign was planned, the condition being that subscriptions to the amount of two million dollars must be secured in order to make Federation operative. In other words, the Committee recommended that the Federation should be declared operative when there should have been secured from subscribers to the Federation an increase of $200,000 over the amount contributed by them in 1915 in membership dues or subscriptions and in donations other than for permanent or building funds to the beneficiary societies, or $700,000 in excess of the sum contributed by such subscribers in membership dues alone. The original Organization Committee consisted of ten representatives, none of whom was a director or an officer of the societies named; two representatives from each of the following: Montefiore Home and Hospital for Chronic Diseases, Mount Sinai Hospital and United Hebrew Charities; one representative from each of the following: Association for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes, Beth Israel Hospital, Crippled Children's East Side Free School, Dispensary and Hospital for Deformities and Joint Diseases, Educational Alliance, Emanuel Sisterhood for Personal Service, Free Synagogue Social Service Department, Hebrew Free Loan Society, Hebrew Sheltering Guardian Society, Hebrew Technical Institute, Hebrew Technical School for Girls, Home for Aged and Infirm Hebrews, Home for Hebrew Infants, Jewish Protectory and Aid Society, Joint Committee on Tuberculosis, Lebanon Hospital Association, Sanitarium for Hebrew

Children, Widowed Mothers' Fund Association, Young Men's Hebrew Association, and Young Women's Hebrew Association.

On January 1, 1917, Federation was declared operative, and the following officers were elected: Felix M. Warburg, President; Julius Goldman, Vice-President; Lee K. Frankel, Secretary; Harry Sachs, Treasurer; Harriet B. Lowenstein, Comptroller and Auditor; I. Edwin Goldwasser, Executive Director.

On April 27, 1917, under Chapter 269 of the Laws of New York, the Federation was incorporated. The act of incorporation was as follows:

"SECTION 1. Felix M. Warburg, Leo Arnstein, Emil Baerwald, Mrs. Sidney C. Borg, Joseph L. Bittenwieser, Joseph H. Cohen, William N. Cohen, Julius J. Dukas, Mrs. William Einstein, Benjamin F. Feiner, Lee K. Frankel, Harry G. Friedman, Mrs. Henry Goldman, Julius Goldman, William Goldman, Emil Goldmark, Paul M. Herzog, Mark Hyman, Samuel I. Hyman, Sol Kohn, Lee Kohns, Mrs. Alexander Kohut, Edward Lauterbach, Arthur Lehman, Irving Lehman, Meyer London, Edwin S. Lorsh, Aaron E. Nusbaum, Leopold Plaut, Theodore Rosenwald, Harry Sachs, Samuel Sachs, Fred M. Stein, Maximilian Toch, Mrs. Israel Unterberg, Jacob Wertheim, Charles A. Wimpfheimer, and Stephen S. Wise, together with such other persons as they may associate with them, and their successors, are hereby created a body corporate with perpetual succession by the name of Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies of New York City, and by that name shall possess all of the powers which by the general corporation law are conferred upon corporations; and in addition thereto, shall have all the powers and be subject to all the restrictions which now or

hereafter may pertain by law to membership corporations, so far as the same are applicable thereto, and are not inconsistent with the provisions of this act. It shall also have the power to take and hold by bequest, devise, gift, purchase, lease, or by judicial order or decree, either absolutely or in trust for any of its purposes, or in trust for any of the corporations formed for charitable, benevolent or educational purposes referred to in the section thereof, any property, real or personal, without limitation as to amount or value, except such limitation, if any, as the legislature may hereafter specifically impose: to sell, mortgage, lease, exchange, convey, or otherwise dispose of or transfer such property; to invest and re-invest the principal thereof and the surplus income therefrom; to expend the principal and income of any trust fund which it may take and hold as herein provided, in accordance with the terms of the trust upon which the same shall be held, and to expend the principal and income of any property held by it absolutely, or in trust for its general purposes, in such manner as in the judgment of its trustees will best promote its objects.

SECTION 2. The objects of said corporation shall be, and it is hereby further empowered, to aid, support, and advise, and to conduct, by itself or in co-operation with any charitable, benevolent or educational corporation, association, committee, or any other agency, now or hereafter existing which shall be affiliated with the corporation hereby organized, any or all philanthropic work which shall be carried on within the state of New York or elsewhere, and which shall be primarily for the benefit of the Jews of New York City, including the sustenance, shelter and relief of the needy and of such persons as are dependent and sick, crippled, deformed, chronic invalids, convalescents, infants, orphans, widows, aged, infirm, forsaken, deaf, dumb, blind, defectives or delinquents; the assistance of immigrants and their children; the moral, religious and physical training of the young and adolescent; the securing of employment for those in need thereof; the promotion of self-support and other cognate ends; but not excluding any other charitable or benevolent purposes not herein enumerated.

SECTION 3. The objects of said corporation shall further be, to secure for the affiliated corporations referred to in section two hereof, heretofore or hereafter organized under any law of this state for any of the aforesaid purposes, adequate means of support in furtherance of the purposes for which such corporations shall be severally formed; to provide efficient methods for the collection and distribution of moneys or property contributed for their maintenance in accordance with the wishes of individual contributors, when expressed, and in default of any designation by the contributors, in such manner as it shall deem just and equitable; to relieve such corporations from making separate appeals to the public and independent collections of funds, so as to enable them the more effectively to carry on their philanthropic activities; to foster co-operation among them; to avoid waste in administration; to stimulate financial economy, and to encourage such further charitable, benevolent or educational work among the Jews of the city of New York as may not be sufficiently carried on by any existing organization.

SECTION 4. The persons named in the first section of this act shall constitute the first board of trustees and members of the corporation. They, or a majority of them, shall hold a meeting to organize the corporation, and adopt By-Laws not inconsistent with this act, or with the laws of the state, which shall prescribe the qualifications of members; the manner of their selection; the amount of annual dues to be paid by them; their voting power, the number of trustees, not less than thirty-six, by whom the business and affairs of the corporation shall be managed; the classification of such trustees and the duration of the terms of office of each class of trustees; the qualifications, powers and manner of selection of the several of the classes of trustees and of the officers of the corporation; the manner in which vacancies among the trustees occurring by death, resignation, increase in number, or in any other way, shall be filled; the creation of an executive committee with power to conduct the activities of the corporation between the several meetings of the trustees, and of a board of delegates to represent this corporation and the philanthropic corporations or agencies referred to in the second section hereof, and define the powers to be exercised by or which may be delegated to them; the method of amending the By-Laws of the corporation, and such other provisions for its management and government, the disposition of its property and the regulation of its affairs, as may be deemed expedient. The by-laws may also prescribe the terms and conditions upon which the several philanthropic corporations or agencies specified in the second section hereof may become affiliated with this corporation as beneficiaries of its activities; regulate the relations between this corporation and such affiliated corporations or agencies; make provision to carry out any agreement with, or any terms and conditions accepted by, such corporations or agencies or any of them which may be conferred on members of this corporation; empower such corporations or agencies now or hereafter affiliated with this corporation to designate such number of trustees with such voting power as may be stated in the by-laws, in addition to the trustees selected by the members of this corporation.

SECTION 5. This corporation is not established and shall not be maintained or conducted for pecuniary profit, but shall be and remain a charitable corporation. None of its trustees, officers, members or employees shall receive or be lawfully entitled to receive any pecuniary profit from the operations thereof, except reasonable compensation for services in effecting one or more of its corporate objects or as proper beneficiaries of its strictly charitable purposes."

On June 24, in accordance with the Enabling Act, the Federation was formally organized with the following societies declared affiliated: Association for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes, Beth Israel Hospital, Committee for the Care of Jewish Tuberculous, Crippled Children's East Side Free School, Educational Alliance, Emanuel Sisterhood, Free Synagogue Social Service, Hebrew Free Loan, Hebrew Orphan Asylum, Hebrew Sheltering Guardian, Hebrew Technical Institute, Hebrew Technical School for Girls, Home for Aged and Infirm Hebrews, Home for Hebrew Infants, Hospital for Deformities and Joint Diseases, Jewish Protectory, Lebanon Hospital, Montefiore Home, Mount Sinai Hospital, Sanitarium for Hebrew Children, United Hebrew Charities, Widowed Mothers' Fund, Young Men's Hebrew Association, Young Women's Hebrew Association, Ahawath Chesed Sisterhood, Amelia Relief Society, Beth El Sisterhood, Blythedale Home, B'nai Jeshurun Sisterhood, Brightside Day Nursery, Ceres Sewing Circle, Children's Haven, Columbia Religious and Industrial School, Crippled Children's Driving Fund, Emanuel Brotherhood, Federated Employment Bureau for Jewish Girls, Federation Settlement, Fellowship House, Jewish Big Brother

Association, Jewish Maternity Hospital, Jewish Sabbath Association, Jewish Working Girls' Vacation, Ladies Beneficiary, Ladies Fuel and Aid, Lakeview Home, Mount Sinai Training School for Nurses, National Desertion Bureau, National Hospital for Consumptives, Recreation Rooms and Settlement, Rodef Sholom Sisterhood, Shaaray Telfila Sisterhood, Sisterhood of Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue, Stony Wold Auxiliary, Temple Israel Sisterhood.

When Federation was declared operative, the total of subscriptions secured was $2,000,000, and the number of subscribers 9,500. At the end of the first year, the total of subscriptions was $2,400,000, and the number of subscribers had increased to 17,000.

On June 24, 1917, when Federation was incorporated, the number of societies affiliated was fifty-five. On January 1, 1918, the number of affiliated societies had increased to eighty-four.

From the inception of Federation two vital aims have been held steadily before the Trustees. One was the securing of larger funds for the support of the philanthropic institutions of the city. The other was to increase the number of members, so that it might be said that Jewish philanthropy was receiving the support of the entire Jewish community.

In the fall of 1917 an organization was developed with the aim of canvassing every district in the city so as to reach those who had in the past not contributed to any of the organized philanthropies in the city. The campaign was concentrated within a period of two weeks. A novel feature was the transformation of the regulation afternoon rallies, held for the purpose of receiving reports from the various workers, into meetings which were utilized for educational propaganda on the subject of Jewish philanthropic work in New York City. Five-minute addresses were delivered on various topics, all touching on the work of the Federation and its societies. The campaign was noteworthy also in that the co-operation was secured of the larger fraternal organizations, such as the Independent Order Free Sons of Israel, Independent Order B'nai Brith, Independent Order Brith Abraham, etc. In addition to the subscriptions of the members of these orders, the lodges themselves enrolled themselves as contributing members to the Federation.

When the campaign was completed, over 51,000 new members had been enrolled, making a total of upwards of 71,000 contributing members to the Federation.

The Federation guarantees to the affiliated societies certain amounts based upon the receipts of the societies from membership dues, subscriptions, and donations in the year 1915. The guarantee to the affiliated societies is $1,429,262.52. The funds available for Federation purposes in 1918 are $2,600,000. In other words, the Federation in the second year of its existence has raised funds over $1,100,000 in excess of what had been raised prior to the organization of the Federation. This is an increase of over eighty per cent.

The experience in New York has demonstrated several things. In the first place, the deadlock has been broken. What ten years ago was deemed to be an impossibility is now an actuality. There is a Federation. It has been formed in accordance with the plan that has received the approval of all the constituent societies. The old fear that a Federation would interfere with the autonomy of the institutions no longer exists. In no way, directly or indirectly, has there been any tendency to regulate the operation of the societies or to affect the administration of their work.

As an agency for securing additional funds from the community and increasing the number of subscribers to the General Fund, the Federation has demonstrated its success in a magnificent way. Upwards of $3,000,000 in annual contributions pass through the office of the Federation, designated to Federation purposes and distributed to unaffiliated societies in accordance with the wishes of the contributors. Upwards of nine hundred societies receive funds in accordance with the designations of the members of the Federation—this in addition to the eighty-four societies affiliated with the Federation.

The entire community has been welded into a solid unit. There is no division of up-town or down-town nor any other sort of division within the Federation. Problems of the community are considered in the broadest possible way, and the decisions are accepted by the constituent societies as the result of the most careful deliberation. The various campaigns have developed new groups of workers; men and women never before connected with Jewish work have rallied to the cause of the Federation, and have contributed in no small measure to its remarkable success.

The committees of the Federation are considering the general problems of community welfare, and for the first time in the history of the Jewish community in New York City opportunity is given for the full consideration of problems that affect many institutions. The possibilities for co-ordination and co-operation are practically unlimited. Up to the present very little has been accomplished in a positive way to show the results of these conferences. They carry within themselves, however, potentialities that are immeasurable. The citation of some of these problems may be of interest as indicating the trend of thought. The following list is selected:

What are the arguments for and against a single placing-out bureau for the two large child-caring institutions now affiliated with the Federation? Would such a bureau be more economical and conserve the best interests of the community and of the institutions?

What institutions must be developed or created to care for foundlings who may be offered for adoption?

How can co-operation be established between the various institutions and the Department of Education of the city with the view of determining whether the City Department may not more effectively take over parts of the educational work now carried on in the institutions affiliated with the Federation?

What plan can be formulated to co-ordinate all types of placement and vocational guidance work now carried on in the institutions with the view of making present work more effective and preparing for the demands that will be made upon employment agencies in the period of adjustment after the war?

What plan will be most effective to care for cardiacs?

Is it possible to develop a committee for the social care of the Jewish sick, which shall consider all constructive plans of rehabilitating those who are temporarily or permanently incapacitated from carrying on their regular employment?

What are the hospital needs of the Bronx? To what extent can existing institutions be reorganized and merged so as to make adequate provision for this section of the Jewish community?

What are the needs and what are the present facilities of the institutions affiliated with the Federation with reference to summer recreation, either for a period of two weeks or for week-end holidays? What is the best method of developing existing facilities in order adequately to provide for the problem?

The Federation has already achieved one definite, co-ordinated plan. The preventive and after-care work for juvenile delinquents has been co-ordinated under a central committee, which represents four different agencies, all affiliated with the Federation. Adequate funds have been provided by the Federation, and for the first time in the history of the community the problem is being properly taken care of in accordance with a plan which is comprehensive in outline and which has received the approval not only of the professional workers but of the directors of the various institutions concerned.

An Advisory Purchasing Committee has been formed which has already effected joint purchases of goods in bulk. This will be greatly extended in the coming year with the idea of effecting even greater economies.

A committee has been organized to consider the problem of the standardization of salaries paid to social workers and of developing a plan for providing pensions for all those in the service of the societies affiliated with the Federation.

Under the direction of Mr. Leopold Plaut, the President of the United Hebrew Charities, Mr. A. Oseroff, the Executive Director, and Mr. Morris D. Waldman, formerly Executive Director of the United Hebrew Charities and now Executive Director of the Boston Federation, a plan is being developed whereby all relief work is to be co-ordinated under the direction of the United Hebrew Charities. The work of the sisterhoods is to be standardized, while the invaluable personal service rendered by the members of the sisterhoods will, in the opinion of those who are furthering the plan, not be in any sense reduced.

Such, then, is a brief record of the organization of the New York Federation, its material growth in the first year and a half of its existence.

One type of influence, however, which is being steadily exercised in the Jewish community, which cannot adequately be expressed in words nor can it be reduced to statistics is this: For a year and a half a Board of Trustees has met to consider the problems connected with the greatest Jewish community in the world. This Board consists for the most part of Trustees delegated by the various institutions. With years of tradition behind them, it was but natural that they came strongly imbued with the feeling of institutional pride and of institutional accomplishment. A great forward step has been made in that the requirements of individual institutions are now considered subordinate in the deliberations of the Board of Trustees to the greater problems of the community as a whole. What were before conflicting elements are gradually coming together. Where there was in previous years a pulling apart there is now a steady forging ahead. Through direct contact in committees and at the meetings of the Board, the Trustees are beginning to understand one another. Institutions are coming to a better appreciation of the problems presented by fields other than those in which they are laboring. The workers themselves, the superintendents, are co-operating to the fullest extent.

The problems that are still to be met are many. The difficulties to be overcome are great. There will be many anxious days ahead, but so firmly has the Federation planted itself in the institutional management of the Jewish community that those who are responsible for the success of the Federation feel that there is no problem so great but that the Federation can find its solution. The feeling is optimistic in the highest degree.

While the size of New York City seems to render it immune, for the time being at all events, there is discussion in certain quarters of New York and in many cities through the United States of a new form of Federation which is worthy of the closest study. Many cities have already organized war chests; joint funds are accumulated to take care of all war needs and of local philanthropies as well. It is as yet too early to say what the outcome of this movement will be. It must not be forgotten that the demands for war-time activities will cease when peace once more is with us. In the meantime, the greatest care must be taken that the continuous and dependable support of local philanthropies shall not in any way be placed in jeopardy by the combination of many funds into a single war chest.

This is not to be interpreted in any sense as a questioning of the value of the war-chest idea. It is intended merely to serve as a note of warning indicating what should be the attitude of those upon whom must fall the tremendous responsibility of maintaining peace-time philanthropies in time of war, so that their efficiency may not be impaired and that their organization may be ready to take over at the close of the war the added burden which the period of rehabilitation and readjustment necessarily brings with it.

I

GENERAL EVENTS

JUNE 29. Adolph Stand starts propaganda for congress of Austro-Hungarian Jews to consider general Jewish position, help to war sufferers, and opposition to restriction of the settlement of Jewish refugees from the eastern part of the empire in the western provinces.—AUGUST 24. During session of Reichsrath, in reply to motion of Polish deputies that ministry compile statistics of the military effort made by each nationality and creed in empire, in order to discredit the Jews for their "insufficient response and lack of enthusiasm for field service," Deputy Straucher delivers speech proving that Jews are doing their duty and that in tenth Isonzo battle Jews greatly distinguished themselves. Names of four hundred and seventy-seven recently decorated Jewish officers, soldiers, and physicians are published in Jewish papers.—Badzentin, Kielce: Fire destroys four hundred houses; number of inhabitants perish, and twenty Sefarim are destroyed. Loss estimated at five million rubles ($2,500,000).—Khotin: 1200 Jewish families in townlets and villages near Austrian frontier reconstruct their ruined homes at estimated cost of one million rubles ($500,000). Appeal made for help to open schools.—Deputy Straucher introduces interpellation in Reichsrath respecting continued imprisonment of Leopold Hilsner, accused of ritual murder.—31. Jewish communities protest against conscription of shohetim.—OCTOBER 5. Vienna: Largest synagogue severely damaged by fire.—Appeal is made to Jewish leaders to urge ministry to ameliorate condition of two hundred and fifty Volhynian Jews carried off to Sulzburg.—12. Budapest: Government decides to expel from city all refugees from Galicia and Bukowina; this would affect many Jews.—Lemberg: Order issued that applicants for food cards state their religion; Jews object, because this would lead to discrimination against them in the shops.—NOVEMBER 9. Budapest: Jewish newspapers complain to emperor that Jewish fugitives are seized in the streets and compelled to return to their devastated home towns.—14. Budapest: Persecution of Jewish fugitives recommenced after short lull. Galicians are hunted through the streets by mob, aided by militia and police.—DECEMBER 14. Galicia: Government orders rabbis to excommunicate all Jews who speculate in food.—28. Vienna: Arrival of hundreds of Jewish refugees from Jerusalem announced.—28. Following vigorous agitation, Government abolishes concentration camps for Jewish war refugees. Although those interned were innocent fugitives from places occupied by enemy,

* Including Russian territory occupied by Austrian troops.

they had been cruelly abused by the camp authorities. Of 9000 refugees, 3493 died, of whom 2381 were children. As result of severe cold and starvation rations in another camp holding 8000 refugees from Brody, about 1000 died.—Dr. Straucher interpellates Minister of Education respecting action of Professor Godlewski, dean of medical faculty of the University of Cracow, who expelled non-matriculated students who registered as members of the Jewish nationality.—JANUARY. Cracow: Entire Jewish quarter completely wrecked during food riots.—11. Tlumatch (Galicia): Jewish refugees, forced by authorities to return, find place nearly in ruins, the food supply extremely poor, and no means of livelihood available.—18. Vienna: Accusation, against Dr. Braunn, of administering drugs, to help young men evade military duty, withdrawn.—FEBRUARY 1. Jewish national fund receives from anonymous woman a cheque for 250,000 crowns, to be cashed after conclusion of peace.—22. Report from Zurich that Jewish deputies succeed in persuading the Austrian Government to abolish the prohibition against Yiddish correspondence.—MARCH 1. Vienna: Press states that Count Czernin, Minister for Foreign Affairs, will, in the course of peace negotiations with Roumania, bring up the question of granting full rights to Jews. The Ungarische Wochenschrift, new Zionist organ, reports that Galician Jewish refugees are the victims of frequent atrocities.—15. Lemberg: Police search headquarters of the Poale-Zionists and of Union of Jewish Workmen, and arrest several leaders.—APRIL 2. Polna (Bohemia): Leopold Hilsner, Jewish shoemaker, after serving a life term, upon conviction, in 1900, on the charge of ritual murder, is pardoned by the emperor and released from prison.—Vienna: In an address to a deputation of the City Council, referring to the pending peace negotiations between the Central Powers and Roumania, Count Czernin, Minister for Foreign Affairs, states: "We shall solve the Jewish question. The Jews will henceforth be citizens with equal rights in Roumania.—12. Budapest: In honor of his fiftieth birthday, Leo Luntshi donates a million and a quarter crowns for the establishment of a sanitarium for Hungarian war orphans.—12. Jewish deputies call attention of Government to anti-Jewish riots in Galicia and the growth of anti-Semitic agitation. Mention is made of the Odzydzenie Polski, a movement demanding the destruction of Jewish power in Poland. The Polish press, however, accuses the German Government of disseminating antagonism between Poles and Jews, to secure support of the latter for the project separating the Ukraine from Russia.—12. The statement in the Handbook of the Foreign Press, that Lord Northcliffe, recently appointed by the British Government Director of the Pro-Ally Propaganda in Neutral Countries, is a descendant of a Frankfort

Jewish family named Stern, precipitates anti-Semitic agitation.—24. Cracow: Violent pogroms take place.—May 3. Vienna: Christian Socialist deputies in Reichsrath introduce interpellation demanding establishment of percentage norm for Jewish students in all higher educational institutions. Reichspost supports interpellation, and suggests three per cent as liberal allowance of vacancies to be filled by Jewish students.—31. Wieliczko, Galicia: Many Jews injured and all Jewish property destroyed during pogrom.—Cracow: Authorities permit distribution of proclamations accusing Jews of murder of a Christian girl who had been killed by the police during the pogrom.—Cracow: Premier and Minister of Interior receive deputations of Jews, headed by Deputy Stand and Rabbi Widenfeld, and promise to take measures against future outbreaks.—Cracow: Municipality adopts resolution condemning the anti-Jewish pogrom. The bishop, Prince Sapieha, and the Mayor issue special appeals against further riots, but police prohibit publication of appeal.

GERMANY *

I

GENERAL EVENTS

JUNE 22. Socialists in Reichstag Committee criticize Chancellor for forcing Jewish laborers in Poland and Lithuania to work for lower than standard wages. Committee adopts resolution favoring treatment of Jewish workmen from Poland and Lithuania on an equal footing with Germans.—JULY 27. Oppeln and Breslau (Posen): Austrian Jews expelled, although residents for decades. AUGUST 10. Berlin: Five orthodox representatives of Jewish community resign because of appointment of a radical reformer, Dr. Benzion Kellerman, as rabbi of the synagogue of the South-eastern district.—24. Kamenetz, Grodno, Zsgov, Yezarna, Iliatani (Courland) and Kolna (government of Lomza): Great conflagrations destroy large parts of the townlets. Valuable Jewish library lost at Kolna.—Dombrova (Poland): Police at request of local Christian authorities, close all synagogues, Jewish schools and hedarim, on pretext of alleged mismanagement.—SEPTEMBER 14. Kovno, Wilna, Radin, Telsi, Lomza, and Grodno: Yeshivahs receive assistance from a committee founded for the purpose by orthodox Jews in Berlin.—28. Wilna: Typhus fever prevalent. Flour, potatoes and barley not obtainable. Many soup-kitchens suspend for lack of supplies. Men are carried off at night and forced to work for the State.—OCTOBER 14. Wilna: Dr. Arthur Hantke, president of the Zionist Federation of Germany, addresses Zionist mass-meeting on present state of the Jewish national movement.—31. Centenary of birth of Heinrich Graetz.—NOVEMBER 9. Pinsk: Jewish women in neighboring townlet separated from their children and transported to do forced labor. Many attempt suicide by drowning.—Silesia: Several hundred Jewish miners from Austria-Hungary expelled by German authorities who allege they are a burden upon German charitable institutions, more especially to those of Kattowitz. Interpellation on matter introduced in Reichstag Committee is evasively treated, and Jews are sent back in insulting manner.—17. Munich: Major Endres, in an address delivered under Zionist auspices and sanctioned by the imperial authorities, intimates that Germany will support Zionist aims in Palestine.—DECEMBER 14. Frankfurter Zeitung reports active preparations by anti-Semitic organizations for strong anti-Jewish campaign after the war. A work entitled "A Knife for the Jews" is distributed in hundreds of thousands of copies.—JANUARY 4. PALESTINE

* Including Russian territory occupied by German troops.

I

GENERAL EVENTS

MAY 19. Galilee, Haifa, and Zichron Jacob: Jewish Committee for the Care of the Fugitives makes survey of position of fugitives. Central Committee for Galilee elected. Budget required is 50,000 francs (gold) $10,000 a month.—28. London: Palestine Wine and Trading Co. receives, through its representative in Switzerland, telegram from the Rishon-le-Zion colony stating that reports of persecution of Jews are completely false: that the Government gives every protection to our vine growers and has not molested any of the laborers engaged in the industry. Palestine representative of the Jewish Colonization Association telegraphs to London that order prevails in all villages, and that all the reports spread of insecurity and oppression are completely false. The Government is affording relief to the Jewish population of Jaffa which has settled in Galilee.—JUNE 7. During opening sitting of the Zionist Congress at Petrograd, President Tschlenow reads telegram from Terestchenko, Minister for Foreign Affairs, announcing that information received regarding the atrocities committed by the Turks against the peaceful population of Palestine was of such a nature that it had been considered advisable to communicate with the Allies, with a view to joint representations to the Turkish Government through neutral Powers.—20. Jaffa: Turkish Government permits expelled Jews to return here, as well as to Tel Abib and other suburbs.—27. Report from the Hague that Djemal Pasha states, in an interview, that all American, English, French, and Russian schools in Syria and Palestine had been closed, that he would never consent to their being reopened after the war, and that he regarded this as an indispensable step toward the rooting out of Entente influence in the post-bellum period; Jewish colonization was equally injurious, and he would do his utmost to oppose it.—29. British, French, Russian, and Italian Ministers at the Hague make joint representations to the Dutch Minister of Foreign Affairs, asking that the Netherlands Minister at Constantinople be instructed to approach the Turkish Government and to request that, in the name of humanity, a stop be put to Jewish persecutions.—SEPTEMBER 14. Jerusalem: Ha-Herut, Hebrew daily paper, suspends publication.—21. Reported that Djemal Pasha, military governor of Syria, is deposed by Government. NOVEMBER 30. Jaffa: According to Associated Press dispatch from Alexandria, leading men of the colony are accused of espionage, and, on false evidence or by confession extorted by torture, are convicted by German court-martial and hanged.—DECEMBER 9. Jerusalem captured by British troops on first day of Hanukkah.—14. Reuter telegrams to Amsterdam report that population of Palestine is suffering terrible privations; population reduced to one-third by hunger, sickness, and distress. GENERAL EVENTS

JULY 20. Warsaw: At meeting of the Municipal Council, anti-Jewish members charge that Jews give the German and Austrian Governments the idea that two nationalities were the masters of Poland and of using the influence of prominent Jews in Berlin and Vienna against the Poles. They oppose Jewish demands that the reform proposals settling the status of workmen in Russia should apply to Jews also. Jewish members of the municipality deny the libels, and charge anti-Semites with deliberate attempts to frustrate all efforts of an understanding between Jews and Poles. Jews persuade the municipality not to exclude Jewish workmen from the benefits of the new scheme.—AUGUST 3. Warsaw: During debate in City Council on deplorable situation of Jewish mechanics, many of whom have been forced to sell their tools, Jewish delegates urge that Jewish master mechanics be given representation in council of trade masters which is being formed. Suggestion is opposed by Polish leader Ilsky, who declares that Jews are engaged in campaign to obtain mastery over the Poles. Session adjourned to prevent Jewish members from replying: all Jews leave Council Chamber as protest.—Polish students of Warsaw University decide to bar Jews duly elected to Students' Council. Similar action taken at Polytechnic Institute, where protests of Jewish students evoke from the dean declaration that Jews are merely guests in Poland, and that their use of Yiddish is evidence of their opposition to Polish nationalism.—Jewish members of the City Council protest against announcement in Warsaw papers, April 28, that Jews would be barred from making bids to supply horses in connection with work on Roman Catholic cemeteries. Memorandum points out that city government which controls cemeteries, may thus be deprived of benefit of lower bids from Jews, and demands that a new bid be called for and that assurances be given that such discrimination will not recur.—Rabbinate decides on three days of "Prayer and Charity" on account of misery of Jews. Anti-Semites openly agitate for boycott against them, and urge closing of all business on Sundays. Priests, who trade with Jews, attacked.—31. Following petition of leading Jews, Polish Council of State abolishes existing restrictions respecting purchase of land by Jews.—Polish Council of State adopts resolution giving authorities power to open in existing schools separate classes for Jewish children, which shall be closed on Saturday, if a sufficient number of parents apply for such a privilege, and recognizing as private schools all Talmud Torahs and hedarim in which the teaching of Polish is to be obligatory and in which instruction in all elementary secular subjects is to be given in Polish.—SEPTEMBER 14. Warsaw: Order of German authorities expelling from colleges and universities all students not natives of city affects large number of Jewish students.—28. Warsaw Jewish Agricultural Society, Jewish Society in Aid of Children, Jewish Society Supporting the Artisans' Schools, and the Organization "Daath" receive permit to organize a lottery for one million rubles ($500,000).—OCTOBER 12. Kalish: Municipality rejects resolution of Jewish members providing for appointment of several Jewish officials capable of speaking Yiddish and of dealing with Jewish people.—Warsaw: Orthodox and nationalist Jews protest against plan of assimilators to organize a reformed community.—26. Poland and Lithuania: Jews of a townlet ordered to remove from three streets because commandant objected to meeting them on streets. In another townlet commandant compels Jews to close their shops for three days for disobeying a restriction.—Jews imprisoned for failing to "subscribe" to the State Loan. Several are arrested and fined for being in way of German officers and not bowing to them. Jews and Jewesses abducted, not only for forced State labor, but often to supply men to assist officers in hunting or in other pleasures and games.—28. Warsaw: Opening of the third Delegates' Conference of the Zionist Organization of Poland adopts resolution favoring recognition by forthcoming International Conference of right of Jews to create a Jewish national center in Palestine, and national autonomy for Jews in countries where they live in great numbers. Conference asks Central Committee to call Jewish congress in Poland. In a telegram, Conference thanks the Inner Action Committee of the Zionist organization for its work, and expresses confidence in its activity.—NOVEMBER 9. Warsaw: Municipal Council refuses to approve plans for institution of Jewish schools.—16. Bundist delegates on Municipal Council demand that Jewish elementary schools applying for municipal subsidy omit Jewish religious education and the study of Hebrew from curriculum. Aided by delegates of Right, Bundists defeat resolution of Zionists that arrangement of syllabus be referred to Jewish Communal Executive about to be established.—Twelve Jews appointed judges in various courts.—23. Warsaw: Movement for Polish Jewish Congress for discussion of future of Jewry in Poland after the war.—DECEMBER 14. Warsaw: Municipal authorities take over control of all bakeries, and decline to allow Jewish bakeries to close on Saturdays and work on Sundays.—21. Warsaw: Fifty to seventy-five Jews brought daily to Jewish Hospital on verge of death from starvation. Most of them succumb.—28. M. Kucharzewski, Polish Prime Minister, in interview with representative of Jewish press, states that he is not an anti-Semite; that by mutual understanding Jews in Poland will receive equal rights; that the Home Secretary would accord the same rights and privileges to the Jewish as to the Polish press.—JANUARY 25. Warsaw: Fifth conference of Jewish Socialist Labor Party Poale-Zion. Resolutions adopted respecting Jewish municipal life and work of councillors in Polish municipal bodies.—Central Jewish Economic Bureau established by the Zionist Actions Committee for Poland to provide executives of Jewish congresses in America and Russia with material for economic restoration of Jewish population in Poland.—FEBRUARY 8. Report from Zurich that, in an interview with Rabbis Lipshitz (of Kalish), Treistman (of Lodz), and Cahano (of Warsaw), the Polish Premier, Kucharzewski promises to submit to the Political Department the rabbinical memorandum on anti-Semitic restrictions, still prevailing in Poland, and to satisfy the Jewish demands.—MARCH 8. Bobruisk: As a result of steps taken by pro-Jewish labor leaders, the ban against Jewish employees in the factories of the city is lifted.—22. Lodz: Municipality to maintain college for Jewish teachers; Hebrew to be the language of instruction for Jewish subjects, and Polish for other studies.—APRIL 26. Warsaw: Three Jews elected members of State Council from among a total of fifty-two.

ROUMANIA

GENERAL EVENTS

JUNE 22. In cablegram to Jewish Morning Journal, Premier Bratiano states: "Our determination to give to Jews equal civil and political rights is unanimous and definitive. The king has pledged his royal word, and the Government, which represents the two political parties of this country, has made the same declaration in parliament. Technicalities of the Roumanian constitution oblige us to postpone the vote on this reform till after the new elections which will take place only after the liberation of our territory.”—25. Jassy: M. Jonescu states that ever since August, 1914, it had been decided to settle the Jewish question and place the Jews in Roumania on a footing of complete equality with their fellow-subjects.—29. Yiddish conversation prohibited in the streets. Professor Jorga renews efforts against intended amelioration of position of Jews, and appeals to Russian troops not to interfere in internal Roumanian affairs.—AUGUST 10. Premier Bratiano, in conversation with M. Tisenhausen, delegate of Russian Council of Workmen and Soldiers, states that new condition in Russia is bound to bring emancipation of Roumanian Jews in near future, since fear of influx of Russian Jews on account of persecution no longer exists. He advises, however, that no pressure be brought to bear upon Roumania from outside, as masses resent such pressure and regard it as a national insult.—DECEMBER 14. Jassy: Government decides that all Jewish non-commissioned officers in the Roumanian army shall henceforth be regarded as citizens, with full political rights. As a result of the decision, two hundred Jews have been made second lieutenants.—MARCH 8. Press publishes the statement by Jews, protesting against union of Bessarabia with Roumania and demanding that immediate granting of full equal rights to Jews in Roumania be included in peace conditions of Central Powers.—APRIL 5. Bucharest: In an interview with a delegation of the Comité Pro Causa Judacia, M. Misu, the new Minister for Foreign Affairs, promises his aid in bringing about the complete and immediate emancipation of the Jews.—MAY. Peace treaty between Central Powers and Roumania provides, in Article XXVII, that Jews in Roumania shall be accorded “the same freedom and protection of the law and the authorities” as are enjoyed by persons of other religions.—31. Bessarabia: Jewish community protests against anti-Jewish measures by the Roumanian commandant of Edinti.

RUSSIA

I

ANTI-JEWISH PROPAGANDA

JUNE 15. Tula, Penza, and Saratov: Real Russian leaders arrested for pogrom agitation.—Black Hundreds receiving large sums of money from secret sources for purpose of bribing populace to create trouble for Jews. In this connection disappearance of Deputy Markoff causes anxiety to all friends of freedom.—Podolia and Tiraspol: Agitation of Black Hundreds appears to have been suppressed.—Black Hundreds create anti-Jewish feeling by desecrating churches and holy places. At Kiev their agent cut up the remains of Saint Pasia. Agitation against Jews followed, but local Administrative Committee traced act to hooligans and agitators, and arrest is made.—22. Melinetz and Bokoutz (Bessarabia): Peasants, stirred up by Real Russians, request Government to expel all Jews, but are informed such petitions are now illegal.—Conference of Army delegates adopts resolution against agitation by Black Hundreds.—Tcherkassi: Deputy Verkasin, reactionary priest, removes crosses from the church, and accuses Jews of the act. WAR

GENERAL

JULY 27. Petrograd: Representative meeting of Jews condemns anarchy fostered by the extreme revolutionaries. Jewry dissociates itself from the anarchist campaign of a few converted Jews, and declares the war must be conducted in union with the Allies.—Anti-Jewish attitude of old officers and arrest of seventy-four Jews in one regiment, because two Jews were charged with intention to desert, leads Jewish officers and soldiers to form a league to combat anti-Semitism.—Kromenitz (government of Volhynia): Military authorities permit organization of volunteer regiment of Jewish soldiers wishing to fight for new Russia.—AUGUST 15. Odessa: One hundred and fifty Jewish cadets promoted officers and ordered to the front.—17. Conference of teachers and students of military colleges and Jews in officers' training corps denounces regiments which refuse to receive Jewish officers.—24. Three hundred Jewish military students made lieutenants in army.—SEPTEMBER 14. Tashkent: Senior Jewish students at the military school, without awaiting their commissions, form a "Battalion of Death," and proceed to the front to serve as an example to the Leninite deserters and the old police and gendarmes drafted into the army, who abandon their positions at the firing of the first shots.—OCTOBER 5. Kiev: One hundred and thirty-nine Jewish students of military school receive commissions.—Odessa: One hundred and sixty-three Jews commissioned in the army.—12. Kiev, Odessa, and Kazan: Jewish officers, as well as Jewish students in local military schools, form committee which is entrusted with the work of placing itself in communication with the Jewish officers for the purpose of studying their position in the army and throwing light on their duties and requirements as Jews.—19. Petrograd: Number of Jews submit memorial to the Ministry of War urging it to organize a Jewish legion to fight against Germany.—Peterhof: Two hundred Jewish students of military college appointed officers in the army.—Moscow: At Alexeyeff military college seventy Jews receive rank of officer.—Qualifications of Jewish dentists in the army are disregarded by anti-Semitic commanders who deprive them of facilities offered to Christians to serve in medical corps instead of in ordinary battalions.—NOVEMBER 9. Minister of War requested to investigate two cases where commanders have sent back to the reserve groups of Jews transferred to first line battalions, although Jews were eager to fight.—DECEMBER 21. Petrograd: Fund in aid of permanently incapacitated Jewish soldiers raised; subscriptions received amount to two hundred thousand rubles.

UNITED KINGDOM

I

GENERAL EVENTS

JUNE 3-4. Leeds: Anti-Jewish riots. Jewish quarter looted. Victor Lightman, J. P., and M. Abrahams, call upon chief constable, who assures them that immediate steps would be taken to restore order.—6. At annual meeting of East London Fund for the Jews, the Bishop of London expresses the hope that a Christian Power would control Palestine, and characterizes as folly of some unthinking Christians that the coming of the kingdom of God in the east would be hastened by filling Palestine with unconverted Jews, because that would result in the establishment of an outpost against the spread of Christianity.—JULY 22. At meeting of Foreign Jews' Protection Committee, resolutions adopted that, in view of announced intention of British Government to refuse facilities to families of Russian subjects of military age to accompany them to Russia, they refuse to leave their families behind them or to be forced into the British army; that if attempts are made by this means to force Russian citizens to remain in this country, Committee will support all victims and their families and defend them in their fight against injustice and oppression; that a telegram be sent to the Russian Government to acquaint it with the situation.—27. Police raid quarters of Foreign Jews' Protection Society, seize documents and papers, and arrest two leaders of the movement on charge of conspiring to defeat Military Service Act as applied to aliens.—August 3. Leeds: Mass-meeting, under auspices of Jewish Representative Council, adopts resolution expressing confidence in the organization, and requesting it to take necessary steps to protect the interests of those affected by the Convention with the Russian Government affecting Russian subjects of military age, and to endeavor to obtain for those intending to return to Russia facilities enabling their families to go also, or failing this, to obtain adequate provision for their families left behind.—War Office announces the formation of a special Jewish regiment with special emblem.—19. London: Zion Association adopts resolution disapproving of the formation of a Jewish Legion, in view of the harmful effect such an action would have upon the interests of the Jews in Turkey and the whole Jewish position in Palestine.—30. Deputation, consisting of chief rabbi, Lord Swaythling, Sir Philip Magnus, Sir Charles Henry, Sir Adolph Tuck, Sir Stuart M. Samuel, Major Lionel de Rothschild, Louis S. Cohen, N. Laski, Claude G. Montefiore, Edmund Sebag-Montefiore, Arthur E. Franklin, Albert M. Woolf, and L. J. Greenberg, wait on Lord Derby with reference to use of word "Jewish" in connection with the battalions being raised under the Convention with Russia. Deputation is informed that these battalions would be given simple numerals, that they would wear the general service badge, and that the conditions of their service would not differ from those of the rest of his majesty's forces.—SEPTEMBER 25. London: Air raids cause Kol Nidre services to be curtailed.—JANUARY 7. Parliamentary Committee of the British Trade Union Congress and Executive Committee of the Labor Party, in their memorandum on war aims, to be considered on January 28, recommend that Jews in all countries enjoy the common elementary rights of tolerance, freedom of residence and trade, and equal citizenship, and that Palestine be set free from the oppressive government of the Turk and formed into a free State, under international guarantee, to which such of the Jewish people as desire to do so may return.—FEBRUARY 15. London: Major Lionel de Rothschild lends to the Government Gunnersbury Lodge, the residence of the late Leopold de Rothschild, to be used as a hospital for wounded soldiers.—MARCH 7. London: In an audience granted to Dr. Weizmann, the king expresses his gratitude to the Zionists for their useful work during the war.—19. London: In reply to Mr. Caradoc Rees' inquiry in the House of Commons, the Under-Secretary of War, Mr. Macpherson, states that all recruits enlisted for Jewish battalions would be assigned to Jewish units in Palestine, and there employed.

II

JEWISH COMMUNAL LIFE

STATEMENT OF CONJOINT FOREIGN COMMITTEE

MAY 24. London: The Times prints statement of the Conjoint Foreign Committee of the Board of Deputies and the Anglo-Jewish Association, declaring that while the Committee is favorable to the attainment of full civil, political, and religious rights and minor municipal privileges for Jews in Palestine and reasonable facilities for their immigration and colonization, it cannot co-operate with the Zionist movement unless the Zionists eliminate from their platform the proposal that Jewish settlements in Palestine be recognized as possessing a national character in a political sense, and the requirement that Jewish settlers in Palestine be invested with special rights in excess of those enjoyed by the rest of the population.—JUNE 3 to JULY 17. Resolution condemning action of Conjoint Foreign Committee and repudiating the views expressed in statement issued by it is adopted by the following bodies: Belfast Congregation; Moses Montefiore Lodge of Blackburn; Hebrew Congregation of Burkenhead; Dorshei Zion Association, Hebrew Congregation, and Order of Ancient Maccabeans of Cardiff; Zionist Society and Congregation of Dublin; Durhan Congregation; Central Synagogue, Woolwich and Plumstead Synagogue, and Hebrew Congregation of Edinburgh; Queen's Park Congregation, Jewish Representative Council, and Jewish Synagogue Conference of Glasgow; Hamboro Synagogue; Kirkdale Fountains Road Synagogue; Jewish Representatives of Leeds; Limerick Congregation; Ain Jacob Synagogue, Order of Ancient Maccabeans, Travelers' Friendly Society, Shaw Street Congregation, Hope Place Synagogue, and Nusach Ari Synagogue of Liverpool; North London Zionist Society, Anglo-Jewish Association, Order of Ancient Maccabeans, United Jewish Friendly Societies of Shoreditch, New Synagogue, Federation of Synagogues, Board of Deputies, Synagogue Committee, Artillery Lane Synagogue, and Board of Deputies of London; Old Hebrew Congregation, Kahal Chassidim Synagogue, Holy Law Congregation, and Jewish Representative Council of Manchester; Middlesborough Congregation; New Synagogue, Old Hebrew Congregation, and Yesmond Congregation of Newcastle; Aaron Joseph Jacobs Lodge, and Congregation of Newport; Sheffield Congregation; South Shields Hebrew Congregation; Stockton Congregation; Hebrew Congregation and Beth Hamedros of Sunderland; Hebrew Congregation of Wallasey.—London: Council of Anglo-Jewish Association discusses statement on Palestine of Conjoint Foreign Committee.—Resolutions condemning action of Committee introduced by Joseph Cowen and Haham Gaster, but later withdrawn.—17. London: Board of Deputies adopts resolution expressing profound disapproval of action of Conjoint Committee and loss of confidence in that body, and instructing its representatives on it to resign forthwith.—JULY 15. London: Board of Deputies votes 44 to 14 to take immediate steps to terminate the arrangement between the Board of Deputies and the Anglo-Jewish Association constituting the Conjoint Committee.—SEPTEMBER 9. Anglo-Jewish Association resolves to terminate the arrangement between it and the Board of Deputies providing for the constitution of the Conjoint Foreign Committee, in accordance with the request of the Board, and to entrust, pending a new arrangement, foreign affairs to a special committee which shall have the same powers as the old Conjoint Committee.—JANUARY 20. London: Board of Deputies adopts plan for new arrangement with Anglo-Jewish Association for a Conjoint Committee on Foreign Affairs, proposing that the Foreign Committees of each body shall hold joint sessions as the "United Committees," that, except in matters of routine and urgency, the parent bodies shall be consulted before action by the United Committees; that the question of Zionism shall be outside the purview of the United Committees unless specially referred to them by the parent bodies; and that this arrangement shall remain in force until the month of Sivan 5679 (1919).—FEBRUARY 8. London: Special meeting of Council of Anglo-Jewish Association elects eight members to compose the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

ZIONIST PROPAGANDA

JUNE 8. In cablegram to Jewish Morning Journal, of New York, Lord Northcliffe expresses complete sympathy with the idea of the restoration of the ancient Jewish patrimony and with establishment of an autonomous Jewish State if practical.—In cablegram to Jewish Morning Journal, of New York, Viscount Bryce states that for re-establishment of Jews in Palestine, Turkish rule must be extinguished not only in Palestine, but everywhere south and east of Taurus Mountains; a large body of American and other Jews must indicate a wish to return, and large funds must be provided to repair the ruin recently wrought by the Turks, and to enable the execution of irrigation and other works required to make Palestine support a larger population than it now can maintain.—9. Statement issued by Rabbi Kuk, on behalf of Committee of Rabbis (Vaad ha-Rabbonim), read in all the synagogues of East London, protests against all attempts to destroy the unity of the Jewish people.—24. London: Mass-meeting, under auspices of National Union for Jewish Rights, adopts resolution declaring its unalterable conviction that recognition of the principle of Jewish nationality is essential for the solution of the Jewish problem and pledging co-operation with similar organizations to secure for the Jews the right of independent nationality in all countries, where that principle is publicly recognized, and the creation of a permanent home for the Jewish people in the Holy Land.—JULY 13. Glasgow: Jewish Representative Council adopts resolutions: Expressing approval of steps of Zionist organization to realize Jewish national aspirations, pledging sympathy and support of the institutions represented on the Council in furtherance of Jewish interests, and favoring a conference of Jews in the United Kingdom to urge upon the British Government the Jewish historic and inalienable claim to Palestine; to deal with the general Jewish problems which will arise after the war; and to organize the Jewish community in the United Kingdom upon a thoroughly representative basis.—OCTOBER 14. London: Representatives of London Synagogues adopt a unanimous resolution favoring the reconstitution of Palestine as the national home of the Jewish people, and expressing the hope that his majesty's Government will use its best endeavors to facilitate the achievement of this object.—Order of Ancient Maccabeans adopts same resolution.—Manchester: Same resolution adopted at meeting of Zionists.—19. Manchester: Kahal Chassidim Synagogue, at general meeting of members, adopts a unanimous resolution favoring the re-constitution of Palestine as a legally secured home of the Jewish people, and trusts that his majesty's Government will use its best endeavors to facilitate the achievement of this object.—21. Meetings at London, Richmond, Manchester, Liverpool, Leeds, Dublin, Birmingham, Cardiff, Sunderland, and Newcastle-on-Tyne adopt resolutions endorsing Basle program, and requesting Government to employ its good offices in obtaining at the peace conference recognition of Jewish nationality and according to Jews national rights in their ancient land.—DECEMBER 22. London: Conference of Jewish National Fund resolves that chief aim of the Jewish National Fund be the acquisition of land in Palestine and the nationalization of the acquired land, in order to prevent, at least partly, the inconveniences and dangers of private landed property.

THE BRITISH DECLARATION

NOVEMBER 2. In letter to Lord Rothschild, the Right Honorable Arthur James Balfour, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, declares that his majesty's Government view with favor the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people, and will use their best endeavors to facilitate the achievement of this object, it being clearly understood that nothing shall be done which may prejudice the civil and religious rights of existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine, or the rights and political status enjoyed by Jews in any other country.—15. British Headquarters' Council of Jewish Territorial Organization (ITO) adopts resolution welcoming Government declaration on Palestine and declaring its readiness to co-operate with the Zionists in the development of Palestine.—18. Law and Parliamentary Committee of Board of Deputies adopts resolution conveying its grateful thanks to his majesty's Government for its sympathetic interest in the Jews, as manifested by the letter addressed to Lord Rothschild by the Right Honorable Arthur J. Balfour.—29. Council of Anglo-Jewish Association at special meeting unanimously adopts resolution conveying thanks to his majesty's Government for its sympathetic interest in the Jews, as manifested in letter of the Right Honorable Arthur J. Balfour.—DECEMBER 2. STATISTICS OF JEWS

A. JEWISH POPULATION OF THE WORLD

The table of last year with regard to general statistics of Jews of the world is here repeated, with some modifications.

The figures for the United States are those for the year 1917, as determined by the estimate made by the Bureau of Jewish Statistics and Research of the American Jewish Committee for the Census Bureau of the United States Department of Commerce. In the case of foreign countries no allowances for decreases due to war conditions, have been made.

According to the latest revised figures available, the total number of Jews of the world is, divided among continents, as follows:

Europe	10,891,917
America	3,496,225
Asia	357,070
Africa	359,722
Australia (including New Zealand) ..	19,415

¹ From the Census Report of 1910, showing number of persons claiming Yiddish as their mother-tongue together with their children. The remaining figures are estimates of the Jewish Encyclopedia in 1905, the AMERICAN JEWISH YEAR BOOK in 1907, and the Industrial Removal Office in 1912.

B. JEWISH IMMIGRATION INTO THE UNITED STATES

The following tables give the main figures relating to the Jewish immigration to the United States from the year 1881 to June 30, 1918. For the earlier years, from 1881 to 1900, the results are only for the ports of New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore; from 1899 onwards, the figures are from the reports of the Commissioner-General of Immigration. In some instances the figures refer only to the year 1916-1917, continuing those of previous issues of the YEAR BOOK.

The complete statistics of immigration to the United States, as shown by the Commissioner-General's reports, are given below for the period 1899-1918. It will be seen that for this period of twenty years Jewish immigration has been approximately 1,548,600, amounting to 11 per cent of the total immigration.

Since 1908, the number of aliens leaving the United States is given as well as the number admitted. It will be observed that for the eleven years the total number of Jews returning is c. 49,090. Approximately 7 per cent of the Jews admitted left the United States. This figure contrasts strikingly with the number of immigrants of other nationalities that leave the United States over 30 per cent.

³ Estimated.

The Jewish immigration since 1881 is approximately 1,880,000. On the basis of the percentage leaving the United States since 1908, the total number departed during this period would be 150,000 leaving a net increase through immigration of 1,730,000.

Of interest in connection with the number of immigrants admitted are the data for those rejected on application for admission and those returned from the United States after admission. The figures are shown in the table below.

² Estimated.

During a period of twenty years, the number of Jews rejected on application for landing was c. 20,800, or approximately 8 per cent of the total number of immigrants debarred. This is considerably less than the proportion which Jews form of the total immigration for the same period—10 per cent.

For the same period, the number of Jews returned after landing was c. 2486, or 8 per cent of the total number deported. This, again, is lower than the proportion of Jews in the total immigration.*

IMMIGRATION 1917-1918

During the year ending June 30, 1918, there were admitted 4006 Jews. The number departing was c. 200. The net increase through migration was thus 3806. The net increase for 1916-1917 was 17,013. The figures for 1917-1918 as also those for the two previous years betray the influence of the European war on Jewish as on general immigration.

Below is shown the number of Jewish immigrants for the leading ports, according to the data supplied by The Jewish Immigration Bulletin. They are not the complete figures for the United States, and should not be compared in detail with the Government figures.

The larger percentage of women and children among Jewish immigrants is indicative of the permanent and family character of this immigration, an aspect which is further emphasized by the low percentage of Jewish immigrants departing from the United States.

C. JEWISH IMMIGRATION INTO CANADA

For a period of sixteen years, beginning July 1, 1900, the Jewish immigration into Canada was 75,808. The immigration during the past fiscal year, ending March 31, 1916, was 65.

Below are shown the yearly figures. It will be observed that during this period the Jewish immigration has amounted to approximately 10 per cent of the immigration from all countries exclusive of the United States and the United Kingdom, but less than 3 per cent of the total immigration.

Louis Marshall, Esq., presided, and the following members were present: Cyrus Adler, Isaac Allen, S. Benderly, Jacob Billikopf, Nathan Bijur, Louis Borgenicht, Samuel Dorf, Julius J. Dukas, S. Marcus Fechheimer, Harry Fischel, William Fischman, Simon Fleischmann, Isaac W. Frank, Lee K. Frankel, Israel Friedlaender, Felix Fuld, Leon Kamaiky, Jacob Kohn, David Kornbluh, Samuel C. Lamport, Ephraim Lederer, Irving Lehman, Louis E. Levy, William Lieberman, Julian W. Mack, J. L. Magnes, H. Masliansky, Jacob Massel, H. Pereira Mendes, Leon Moisseiff, S. Neumann, Morris Rosenbaum, Julius Rosenwald, Leon Sanders, Jacob H. Schiff, Bernard Semel, Joseph Silverman, Isador Sobel, Oscar S. Straus, Cyrus L. Sulzberger, Israel Unterberg, Charles Van Leer, and Felix M. Warburg.

Regrets at their inability to attend were received from: Isaac W. Bernheim, Fulton Brylawski, Henry M. Butzel, Emanuel Cohen, Nathan Cohn, Harry Cutler, James Davis, J. Walter Freiberg, Herbert Friedenwald, Henry M. Goldfogle, M. E. Greenebaum, Leonard Haas, Jacob H. Hollander, Louis Horkheimer, Henry S. Hutzler, Isaac H. Kempner, Herbert H. Lehman, Leo Lerner, Otto Marx, Victor Rosewater, Ben Selling, M. C. Sloss, C. D. Spivak, Maurice Stern, Joseph Stolz, Montague Triest, Isaac M. Ullman, A. Leo Weil, and Jacob Wertheim.

DEATH OF ABRAM J. KATZ

The President announced the death of Abram J. Katz, of Rochester, during the past week, and upon motion the following resolution was adopted unanimously by a rising vote:

We learn with sorrow of the death of our esteemed associate and friend, Abram J. Katz, and pause in our deliberations to enter upon our minutes an expression of the deep regret that we all feel at the passing of this kind-hearted gentleman, this loyal Jew, and this public-spirited citizen, who was ever ready to respond to the voice of duty.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The Executive Committee presented the following report:

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE AMERICAN JEWISH COMMITTEE:

When the Committee met on November 12, 1916, it had completed ten years of its activity during all of which time our beloved country enjoyed the blessings of peace, both at home and with the other members of the family of nations. To-day we meet under entirely different circumstances. After patiently suffering many affronts and numerous acts of violence in defiance of the rights of our people, America has taken up arms in defence of its national integrity and honor, and has joined with the other nations that for the past three years have warred vigorously to safeguard their liberties.

As was confidently anticipated by all who knew of the American Jew's love for America, the many members of our faith who are serving the United States in important capacities, the thousands who, less conspicuously but as needfully, are helping to make up the rank and file of the Army and Navy, and that great host of workers in civil life who are pursuing the every-day tasks which are vital to success bring conviction that the Jews of America are just as loyal to the ideals of the United States and just as eager to live and, if need be, to die for them as is any other of the component parts of our citizenship.

That our Government is convinced of this is evidenced by the eminent positions of trust and responsibility to which our brethren have been called. Among them are to be found several of the members of our organization and of our Executive Committee who have conspicuously aided the Government in the work of the Council of National Defence and of its Executive Board, in the Liberty Loan Committee, entrusted with the placing of the Government's War Loans, and in the drafting of the Soldiers and Sailors' Allowance Compensation and Insurance Act, and in many other ways. Our coreligionists throughout the country have shown commendable interest and industry in connection with the launching of the two gigantic loans, as a result of which our armed forces will be completely and generously equipped, and thanks to which the greatest war of history will be brought to a speedy and successful conclusion which shall add new guarantees to human liberty, for all time destroy autocracy and upon such terms as we trust and pray will leave no seed for a future harvest of blood.

It is not at this moment known how many of our young men are serving in the United States Army and Navy. But unquestionably it is far above our proportion of the population. Of those above draft age many are serving the nation as volunteers in Washington and elsewhere in all kinds of military and civil activities.

Upon those who stay at home devolves a special duty toward our coreligionists who are to bear the brunt of the battle. We must do everything in our power to extend to them such aid and comfort as will in a measure mitigate their physical hardships and will encourage and hearten them to endure privation and suffering. Your Committee is happy to report that this necessary and helpful work is being undertaken by an organization which was instituted with the help of members of your body and the present head of which is a member of your Executive Committee. The Jewish Board for Welfare Work in the United States Army and Navy was formed almost immediately after the declaration by our Government that a state of war existed. It is composed of representatives of the following organizations:

Agudath ha-Rabbonim,
Central Conference of American Rabbis,
Council of Jewish Women,
Council of Y. M. H. and Kindred Associations,
Independent Order B'Nai Brith,
Independent Order Brith Abraham,
Jewish Chautauqua Society,
Jewish Publication Society of America,
National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods,
New York Board of Jewish Ministers,
Order Brith Abraham,
Union of American Hebrew Congregations,
Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations,
United Synagogue of America.

At a meeting on April 15, 1917, your Executive Committee adopted a resolution expressing its willingness to co-operate with the Board and favoring the passage by Congress of a bill providing for twenty chaplains-at-large in the Army. Of this number it is expected that several will be Jewish ministers. Thanks to this bill, which became a law during the closing hours of the past session of Congress, the spiritual welfare of Jewish young men in the military forces of the Government will be ministered to by rabbis just as the spiritual welfare of non-Jews is safeguarded by clergymen of the Christian churches.

Your Committee has recently been informed by the Alliance Israélite Universelle, that a number of the leading Jews of France are planning to establish in Paris a social center for American soldiers of our faith, where they could attend to their correspondence, read newspapers and books, and meet with French Jews who would interest themselves in our compatriots. The Alliance itself has generously offered the use of a part of its building for this center.

Your Committee believes that an effort should be made to collect and record as much statistical and other information with regard to the participation of Jews in the military and civilian activities of the United States in connection with the war as is possible to procure. With this end in view an arrangement has been made with the Jewish Publication Society of America, the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, the American Jewish Historical Society, and other organizations to prepare the material for a monograph on the Jews in the wars of the United States with special attention to the present war. In this work the Committee itself and also its Bureau of Statistics is to co-operate. Your Committee feels certain that the possession of adequate information of this character will be of interest to all Jews.

RUSSIA

At the Tenth Annual Meeting, your Committee, in its report, was silent as to the condition of our brethren in the Russian empire. It was impossible to describe the misery of our coreligionists which was, we venture to say, well known not only to Jews but to all people. As was pointed out in the Committee's publication "The Jews in the Eastern War Zone," the wretched condition of our brethren was due in large measure to the exceptional status which they occupied before the war. The conditions never looked more hopeless than in the winter of 1916, but the war, which so amply demonstrated the inhumanity of the condition of subjugation under which the Jews suffered, also demonstrated the inefficiency and corruption which honeycombed the Russian Government and which threatened to betray the Russian people. A radical and thorough-going change was inevitable, and it came in the guise of the almost miraculous revolution which electrified the world in the spring of the present year.

Your Committee greeted the event with great rejoicing. On March 21, 1917, the President, in the name of the Committee, sent the following cablegram to Prof. Paul Miliukov, the then Minister for Foreign Affairs in the Provisional Government established by the Revolution:

Every Jew hails free Russia's advent with prayer, thanksgiving and pledges for co-operation. The ideal of human rights now proclaimed by you and your associates with the voice of liberty has caused the horrible spectre of absolutism to vanish forever and the true Russia long hidden from the world to rise triumphant.

The tremendous upheaval caused by the Revolution naturally resulted in great confusion and in the attempt on the part of various groups to dominate the Government. Just at the time when our country formally recognized that a state of war between the United States and Germany existed, and pledged its all to help put an end to the conditions which brought about the greatest war in history, Russia, one of the allies upon whose assistance a great deal of reliance had been placed, became the scene of internal dissension which threatened to nullify this assistance and to place upon the other allies, including the United States, the tremendous burden of supplying the deficiency threatened to be created by Russia's defection. Rumors of a propaganda for the conclusion of a separate peace between Russia and the Central Powers reached this country, and caused a great deal of anxiety among the friends of the Russian people. Your Committee felt moved to express to our coreligionists in Russia this anxiety and the view that such a separate peace was regarded by the Committee as disastrous not only for the Jews, but also for the whole Russian people. At the suggestion of the Committee our Department of State sent on April, 1917, the following cablegram to Prof. Miliukov:

American Jewry is alarmed by reports that certain elements are urging separate peace between Russia and Central Powers. A separate peace may, in our opinion, lead to the ultimate restoration of an autocratic Government and the degradation of the Russian Jews below even their former deplorable condition. We are confident Russian Jewry are ready for the greatest sacrifices in support of the present democratic Government as the only hope for the future of Russia and its people. American Jewry holds itself ready to co-operate with its Russian brethren in this great movement.

To this cablegram, Prof. Miliukov replied as follows :

The Russian Provisional Government is very appreciative of the sympathy which the authorized representatives of American Jewish citizens are so good as to accord to its effort to assure the triumph of the great principles of democracy, of liberty, and of equality of all Russian citizens, without distinction of nationality or religion.

As regards the uncertainty shown by the American Jewry on account of the rumors of agitation of certain elements for a separate peace, I can assure them that these rumors are wholly without foundation; no Russian party, whatever its political program, has contemplated or could contemplate the eventuality of a separate peace with the foreign aggressor.

The great danger which menaces new Russia and the entire world, if heed should be paid to the efforts which have for their end the maintenance of the fearful German militarism, is only too well known here.

In May of this year it was suggested by a number of European Jewish organizations that a commission made up of representatives of several Jewish national organizations of the allied countries be sent to Russia to greet the Provisional Government in the name of the Jews of these countries and to endeavor to impress upon our Jewish coreligionists in Russia the necessity for Russia's vigorous participation in the war.

Your Committee deemed conditions in Russia too confused for such a step, and advised against the plan which was subsequently abandoned.

Following the Revolution, the censorship which had formerly prevailed, with the result that very little authentic information with regard to many Russian matters, especially such as concerned the Jews, was permitted to reach the United States, was relaxed and subsequently abolished altogether. In view of this fact, your Committee discontinued its work in the direction of having the Russian newspapers and magazines read and pertinent information extracted and published.

MEMORANDUM ON JEWISH DISABILITIES IN RUSSIA

Last year your Committee reported that it had in contemplation the preparation of a memorandum on Jewish disabilities in various belligerent countries, so that it might be in position to appeal for the amelioration of these conditions, should an opportunity arise during the war, or in connection with an eventual peace conference. Your Committee is now happy to report that such a memorandum, confined, however, to the Russian empire, has been completed.

The memorandum will make up a book of more than 500 pages. It will give the historical background of anti-Jewish legislation in Russia, and will show how the various restrictive laws originated and how they were developed and interpreted by judicial decisions and administrative regulations. The book will expose the whole fabric of legal persecution and restriction in various fields of life and activity; in separate chapters it will bring out clearly and graphically the net of laws and administrative orders which rendered the lives of the Jews of Russia so miserable that one might well believe the charge that the Russian reactionaries' mode of solving the Jewish question was truly expressed in the well-known formula: one-third to be converted to the Greek Church; one-third to emigrate to America; and one-third to die of starvation in Russia.

The book will contain chapters on the legal restrictions respecting domicile, education, land-holding, commercial pursuits, professions, agriculture, etc. In every case there will be exact quotations from the statutes, the history of the events which led up to their enactment, an account of the important decisions of the Russian Senate respecting the application of the law, and a survey of its effect upon its victims. Your Committee feels satisfied that the publication of this work will serve to show the world the enormous stride towards civilization which is certain to result from the abolition of the special laws against the Jews brought about by the Russian Revolution.

Your Committee also has in its possession considerable information with respect to Roumania and other countries in which the status of the Jews differs from that of the general population.

INTERNATIONAL JEWISH CONFERENCE

Shortly after our country entered into the war against the German empire, your Committee was invited to send delegates to a conference of representatives of Jewish organizations in allied countries which it was proposed to convene in a European city. The purpose of this conference was to discuss the situation of the Jews in various countries and if possible to reach an agreement as to the action to be taken by Jewish organizations on behalf of our coreligionists.

Your Committee did not consider the time opportune for this conference, declined the invitation, and advised against the project. Shortly after this correspondence took place, the Russian Revolution occurred. This was another argument against the plan advanced, which was thereupon abandoned.

PALESTINE

In the spring of this year, the attention of your Committee was referred to a cablegram from Dr. M. Nordau and Prof.

Yahuda, of Madrid, Spain, stating that they had received reports about the wholesale massacre of the Jews of Palestine. The cablegram stated further that the writers had approached the Spanish Government, and suggested that the Jewish organizations in America cable to the king of Spain pleading for his intervention and that the diplomatic representatives of the neutral states be asked to call the attention of their respective Governments to this matter.

Your Committee transmitted to the Department of State the information received from Doctors Nordau and Yahuda. Our Government had already been informed of the situation, had directed our minister to Sweden to request the Swedish Government to lodge a protest against the alleged atrocities with the Government of Turkey and her allies. The Spanish Government also entered a protest through its ambassador at Constantinople. There has been no further communication on the subject, nor has there been any official confirmation of the reports referred to.

MOROCCO

That the condition of the Jews in Morocco is improving and is about to be placed on a firm legal basis is indicated by the statement of General Lyautey, recently Minister of War of France, and again Resident-General of the Protectorate of Morocco, that he intends to prosecute vigorously the work initiated by him before the war, to define the legal status of the Jews as French citizens and in this way put an end to their legal persecution at the hands of native tribunals. Recently, in a letter to Prof. Nahum Slouschz, whose explorations in Morocco and other regions of North Africa have contributed valuable information concerning the Jews in those regions, General Lyautey stated that he intends to prosecute Jewish reforms in the most vigorous manner.

INTERNATIONAL PRO-FALASHA COMMITTEE

It will be recalled that shortly after the outbreak of the European war, the Committee agreed to co-operate with the International Pro-Falasha Committee in the work of ministering to the economic needs of the Jews of Abyssinia and in the educational work which the Pro-Falasha Committee had undertaken in that country under the supervision of Dr. Jacques Faitlovitch. The Committee at that time appropriated the sum of $5000 for this work, and agreed to supervise the collection of annual subscriptions to this work made by American Jews. Due, however, to the war, it was not possible for Dr. Faitlovitch to proceed to Abyssinia.

JEWISH ORPHAN ASYLUM, SOFIA, BULGARIA

Due to the existing state of war, your Committee was unable to transmit to the Jewish Orphan Asylum, Queen Eleonore, of Sofia, Bulgaria, the annual appropriation of $500 for the years 1916 and 1917. This money is being held to the credit of the institution, and will be transmitted at the earliest opportunity.

IMMIGRATION

When the Committee met last year, the bill restricting immigration to the United States by the imposition of a literacy test had been passed by the House of Representatives, and was ready for action by the Senate at the succeeding session of Congress in December, 1916. Your Committee reported that it had been active in endeavoring to mitigate the harshness of the literacy test provision and in having certain other amendments introduced which would secure for the immigrant a full measure of consideration in the operation of the law. At the same time your Committee persisted in opposing the passage of the bill because of the literacy test.

On January 8, 1917, the Senate by a vote of fifty-six to ten passed the immigration bill, which was then sent to the President for his signature. The President returned the bill without his approval and accompanied by the following broad-minded veto message:

I very much regret to return this bill without my signature. In most of the provisions of the bill I should be very glad to concur, but I cannot rid myself of the conviction that the literacy test constitutes a radical change in the policy of the nation which is not justified in principle.

It is not a test of character, or of quality, or of personal fitness, but would operate in most cases merely as a penalty for lack of opportunity in the country from which the alien seeking admission came.

The opportunity to gain an education is in many cases one of the chief opportunities sought by the immigrant in coming to the United States, and our experience in the past has not been that the illiterate immigrant is as such an undesirable immigrant. Tests of quality and of purpose cannot be objected to on principle, but tests of opportunity surely may be.

Moreover, if this test might be equitably insisted on, one of the exceptions proposed to its application involves a provision which might lead to very delicate and hazardous diplomatic situations. . . .

Despite this disapproval of the President, the bill was passed by both Houses by what was claimed to be the two-thirds majorities required by the Constitution, although some doubt has been expressed upon this point.

The Committee succeeded, after various hearings before the Committee of the House of Representatives and conferences and correspondence with members of Congress, in securing a modification of the literacy test, for the purpose of exempting from its provisions those who were subject to discrimination because of their race or faith in the lands of their nativity. The adoption of this amendment affords renewed evidence of the spirit of justice which permeates the American people, and is an eloquent recognition by the Congress of the United States of the right of asylum. It reads:

That the following classes of persons shall be exempt from the operation of the literacy test, to wit: All aliens who shall prove to the satisfaction of the proper immigration officer or to the Secretary of Labor that they are seeking admission to the United States to avoid religious persecution in the country of their last permanent residence, whether such persecution be evidenced by overt acts or by laws or governmental regulations that discriminate against the alien or the race to which he belongs because of his religious faith.

After the bill had passed the House of Representatives, the Senate undertook to amend it by the insertion of a clause in Section 3 of the act, which excluded from admission to the United States, among others, "the natives of any country, province or dependency situate on the Continent of Asia west of the one hundred and tenth meridian of longitude east from Greenwich and east of the fiftieth meridian of longitude east from Greenwich, except that portion of said territory situate between the fiftieth and sixty-fourth meridians of longitude east from Greenwich and the twenty-fourth and thirty-eighth parallels of latitude north."

Although this clause purported to deal with any country, province, or dependency situated on the Continent of Asia, the boundaries of latitude and longitude which were specified included a substantial part of European Russia. They also embraced the most civilized parts of Siberia, including the cities of Tomsk, Tobolsk and Irkutsk, its chief commercial centers. The passage of this clause in the form in which it was adopted by the Senate would, under the then existing relations between the United States and Russia, have been most unfortunate. It would have afforded Russia a convincing argument against the making of a new treaty with the United States in lieu of that which had been abrogated, and would have embarrassed the United States in its efforts to enforce the principles laid down in 1912 and 1916 in the political platforms of the Democratic, Republican, and Progressive parties in respect to the sine qua non of such a treaty. It would have been argued, had this clause been adopted, that the United States was discriminating against natives of the Russian empire. In consequence of the arguments presented on behalf of the Committee, the proposed clause was amended so as to eliminate any territory belonging to the Russian empire, both in Europe and Asia.

Happily the recent march of history will in all likelihood render these amendments comparatively unimportant, but under the conditions which existed at the time of the passage of the act they were of primary importance.

It has not been possible, due to the immense falling-off in the number of immigrants because of the war, to observe the operation of the literacy test, or to arrive at any conclusions as to its consequences. The Revolutionary Government in Russia has by a single stroke abolished all the onerous and humiliating restrictions which had for generations rendered the life of the Russian Jew so wretched. It is a question whether this action will bring about such a modification in the situation of the Jewish population in Russia as will curtail immigration from that source, which for several decades has contributed the bulk of Jewish immigrants to the United States. It is to be hoped at least that the removal of educational restrictions will reduce to a minimum the number of Jewish immigrants from Russia who would not be able to pass the literacy test. At the present abnormal time it is impossible to make any forecasts as to the immigration of Jews to this country.

JEWISH CONGRESS

Last year your Committee reported that, following a number of conferences with other organizations, it had agreed to participate in the convening of an American Jewish Congress for which the date originally set was September 2, 1917. Your Committee was invited to nominate six delegates to the Congress, but due to its postponement from September 2 to November 18, and subsequently to the close of hostilities, the Executive Committee has deferred such nomination.

UNITED STATES CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION CIRCULAR

In February of this year the attention of your Committee was called to the fact that in a circular issued by the United States Civil Service Commission regarding an examination for

"Clerk qualified in modern language (male)" a statement appeared that "preference will be given to eligibles who are under no disability to visit the Russian Empire." The President of your Committee immediately addressed a communication to the Civil Service Commission asserting that such a statement "constitutes a disregard of the declared policy of the United States and a tacit recognition of the discrimination practised against a part of our citizenship by the Government of Russia."

In response to this protest, the Committee was informed that the objectionable language would be omitted in future editions of the circular. This was done.

PENNSYLVANIA CIVIL RIGHTS LAW

Your Committee wishes to call to your attention the passage by the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania of a law "to prevent the publication and distribution of discriminating matter against any religious sect, creed, class, denomination or nationality and to punish the same." It is similar in aim to the amendment to the Civil Rights Law adopted by the New York Legislature at the instance of this Committee several years ago. The Pennsylvania Law prohibits the publication by any person connected with any public place of accommodation, resort, or amusement "intended or calculated to discriminate or actually discriminating against any religious sect, creed, class, denomination or nationality in the matter of furnishing or neglecting or refusing to furnish to them" the accommodations of such places. The person who is guilty of the violation of this law is liable to a penalty of not less than $100 and not more than $500 "to be recovered by the person aggrieved thereby," and will be guilty of a misdemeanor carrying a fine of not less than $100 or more than $500 or imprisonment from thirty to ninety days, or both fine and imprisonment.

BUREAU OF JEWISH STATISTICS AND RESEARCH

During the past year the Bureau of Jewish Statistics and Research of the Committee, which is maintained with the co-operation of the New York Foundation, has been engaged mainly in the work of making a census of Jewish religious organizations in the United States. The work was done at the request of the Bureau of the Census of the Department of Commerce, which is engaged in taking a religious census of the country. Dr. Samson D. Oppenheim, the Director of the Bureau, was appointed special agent of the Bureau of the Census, and was authorized to collect certain information with regard to Jewish congregations throughout the country. The work of collecting the data has occupied the Bureau for the past seven months, and Dr. Oppenheim is now proceeding to tabulate the information gathered. The Bureau took advantage of this opportunity to collect, besides the information desired by the Government, a great volume of other data which will be of considerable value as the basis of a more reliable estimate of the Jewish population of the United States than has thus far been possible.

The Bureau of Statistics has also collected information respecting the operation of the draft law upon the Jewish population, and is now engaged in supplementing this with other facts respecting the participation of the Jews of the country in the war.

The American Jewish Year Book, 5678, the nineteenth issue of that publication, issued by the Jewish Publication Society of America, which has received much favorable comment, was prepared under the direction of the Bureau of Statistics. Besides the permanent lists of Events for the year, National Organizations, New Local Organizations, Rabbis and Instructors, Jewish Periodicals, the usual calendars, and the section on statistics, the Year Book has several interesting special features. Among these is an extensive survey of the Jews of Latin America by Harry O. Sandberg, Assistant Trade Expert of the Pan-American Union, an article on Jewish rights at International Congresses by Max J. Kohler, an account of the steps taken in this country on behalf of Jewish war relief work which was prepared in the office of the Committee, and an article on the new English translation of the Bible recently published by the Jewish Publication Society of America after many years of preparation. In addition to these features, there have been incorporated in the Year Book a Jewish Calendar for one hundred years and several interesting tables with regard to Jews in American universities. The Year Book contains also in permanent form the Tenth Annual Report of the American Jewish Committee.

MEETINGS

Meetings of your Executive Committee have been held on the following dates: December 17, February 11, April 15, May 16, June 20, September 23, and November 10.

DEATHS

Your Committee reports with great sorrow the death on December 27, 1916, of Moses R. Walter, a member-at-large from the State of Maryland, and on March 8, 1917, of Ceasar Cone, of Greensboro, a representative of the State of North Carolina. Your Executive Committee at its meeting on April 15 adopted the following resolutions expressive of its sentiments:

The Committee records its sense of loss in the death of Moses R. Walter, of Baltimore, Md., who was a member-at-large since November, 1913, prior to which date he was chairman of the Baltimore Advisory Council of the Committee for several years. Mr. Walter's learning, experience, and influence as one of the foremost members of the bar of his State were always at the call of the Committee and he manifested a deep interest in all the details of its work. His loss has deprived the Committee of an active worker and friend.

The Committee has learned with sorrow of the death of Ceasar Cone, a member from Greensboro, N. C., who was an active colaborer of the Committee since his election on January 1, 1909. Every call made upon him for assistance met with a wholehearted and immediate response, and he made many sacrifices to participate in the councils and to co-operate in the work of the Committee. His affability, courtesy and modest demeanor will be ever remembered by all who knew him. In him the Committee has lost a willing and industrious member and a sincere friend and well-wisher.

Your Committee reports with sorrow the death on September 30, 1917, of Isaac N. Seligman, of New York. Mr. Seligman, though not a member of the Committee, was a generous contributor to its funds for many years, and responded promptly whenever called upon for co-operation.

The Committee is pained to report the recent death of Samuel I. Hyman, of New York, a representative of the Jewish Community (Kehillah) on the Committee. Mr. Hyman was for a number of years an active and helpful member of both the Jewish Community of New York City and of the larger community of the United States and was a fine type of an American Jew who, while a strict observer of the traditions of Judaism, was at the same time a loyal and patriotic citizen.

REMOVAL OF OFFICES

During the year the offices of the Committee and the Bureau of Statistics, which were formerly in the Hebrew Charities Building, 356 Second Avenue, New York City, were removed to 31 Union Square, West, as your Committee found that more space was needed than could be provided in the Charities Building.

MEMBERSHIP

Your Committee begs to report that Messrs. Felix Fuld, of Newark, New Jersey, Jacob M. Loeb, of Chicago, and Irving Lehman, of New York, who were elected to membership at your last annual meeting have agreed to serve. The vacancy in District X caused by the resignation of Dr. Harry Friedewald was referred to the Advisory Council of that District, which elected Mr. Siegmund B. Sonneborn to fill the vacancy.

Your Committee did not deem it opportune to take any action towards putting into operation the modifications in the apportionment of members agreed upon at the special meeting of the General Committee held on May 14, 1916, pending a new estimate of the Jewish population of the United States by the Bureau of Statistics of the Committee. It is expected that such an estimate will be completed within the next few months, when your Committee will immediately set about to make the changes decided upon.

The terms of the following members expire this year :

District	I.	Leonard Haas, Atlanta.
District	III.	Leon M. Jacobs, Phoenix. J. H. Stolper, Muskogee.
District	V.	Harris Weinstock, San Francisco. Ben Selling, Portland.
District	VI.	Max Landauer, Milwaukee.
District	VII.	Bernard Horwich, Chicago.
District	VIII.	I. W. Bernheim, Louisville.
District	IX.	Ephraim Lederer, Philadelphia.
District	X.	Henry S. Hutzler, Richmond.
District	XI.	Lee M. Friedman, Boston.
District	XIV.	I. W. Frank, Pittsburgh.

Successors are also to be chosen at this meeting to the following members of the Executive Committee whose terms expire on January 1, 1918 :

Isaac W. Bernheim, Julius Rosenwald,
Samuel Dorf, Cyrus L. Sulzberger,
Mayer Sulzberger.

Your Committee recommends the election of the following as members-at-large:

Herman Bernstein, New York City.

Nathan Bijur, New York City.

Abram I. Elkus, New York City.

Charles Eisenman, Cleveland.

S. Marcus Fechheimer, Cincinnati.

Herbert Friedenwald, Baltimore.

Albert D. Lasker, Chicago.

Irving Lehman, New York City.

Jacob M. Loeb, Chicago.

Oscar S. Straus, New York City.

Aaron Waldheim, St. Louis.

Albert W. Weil, New Haven.

ACTION ON THE REPORT, ETC.

Upon motion, the report of the Executive Committee was received.

The report of the Bureau of Statistics and Research was presented by Dr. Cyrus Adler, the chairman of the committee in charge of the Bureau.

Mr. Louis E. Levy, President of the Jewish Community of Philadelphia, presented a report on behalf of that organization which is printed as an appendix to this report.

Dr. J. L. Magnes, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Jewish Community of New York City, made a verbal report of the work of that organization during the past year, and stated that he would present a formal report in time for publication.

RESOLUTION OF LOYALTY

The President on behalf of the Executive Committee introduced the following resolution, which was adopted unanimously by a rising vote:

It seems fitting that at this the Eleventh Annual Meeting of the American Jewish Committee—the first since our entrance into the war—at which are gathered representatives from all parts of the country, expression be given to the love, the devotion, the gratitude, and the loyalty which fill our hearts and souls toward the United States of America, the land where we were born or which with open arms adopted us, the sacred shrine of liberty and equality, where tyranny cannot exist, where human rights have ever been triumphantly maintained, and where justice and righteousness have reached their highest development. We recognize in the war, in which the entire American people is now engaged, a condition unsought but inevitable, a conflict willfully and deliberately thrust upon a peace-loving nation that dreamt not of spoils or conquest, and the direct consequences of machinations long concealed which threatened our repose, our independence, our honor, and even our cherished freedom.

In common with our fellow-citizens of every race and creed, we renew our allegiance to our Government and to its flag which symbolize the most precious hopes of mankind; we pledge to them our unstinting and wholehearted support; and we dedicate to the perpetuation of American ideals and institutions, to the maintenance of the honor of our country and the preservation of the principles for which it stands, our lives, our possessions, and those we hold most dear, to the end that liberty shall not perish from the earth.

Upon motion of Mr. Dorf, it was resolved that a copy of the resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States.

PLACE OF TWELFTH ANNUAL MEETING

A communication was presented from the Chamber of Commerce of the City of Philadelphia inviting the American Jewish Committee to hold its next annual meeting in that city.

After discussion, it was resolved that it was not advisable to decide upon the place for the next annual meeting so long in advance, and that the matter be left to the discretion of the Executive Committee.

STATISTICS OF JEWS IN MILITARY AND NAVAL SERVICE

The matter of collecting complete and accurate statistics of Jews in the military and naval service of the United States was discussed, and, upon motion, it was resolved that the Bureau of Statistics be directed to make every effort to secure data of this character, and that the Executive Committee be empowered to appropriate for this work such a sum as it may deem proper for its efficient prosecution.

PATRIOTIC EDUCATION

Discussion was had as to the greater necessity for promoting education in the ideals and principles underlying American institutions and particularly as to the issues involved in the present war.

Upon motion, it was resolved that the Executive Committee be directed to consider and to put into effect means for promoting educational activities in this direction either by the independent action of the Committee or by co-operation with other agencies devoted to the same objects.

ROUMANIA

The following communication from Dr. P. A. Siegelstein, President of the American Union of Roumanian Jews, was presented:

LOUIS MARSHALL, ESQ.,

PRESIDENT, AMERICAN JEWISH COMMITTEE.

Dear Sir:

Having learned through the medium of the press of the annual convention of your Committee, I hasten to write these few lines in the name of the American Union of Roumanian Jews, a national organization with branches all over the Union and Canada, and to respectfully submit for your consideration and action:

First: The present status of the Jew in Roumania.

Second: The advisability of appealing to our Government in his behalf.

The plight of the Jews in Roumania is more pitiful from every standpoint, civic or economic, than that of any of our brethren in any part of the war zone. Figures of speech are not powerful and adequate to describe it; and yet, for reasons unknown, whenever and wherever we made an attempt to bring the matter to the attention of our American coreligionists, and through them to our Government, we were told and warned not to say or publish anything derogatory to Roumania, this being inadvisable, she being one of our allies.

Moreover, we are to be satisfied and content because $75,000 was sent to Roumania, which under the best of circumstances is only like a drop in the ocean and entirely insufficient to cope with the situation or satisfy the imperious hunger of the 250,000 Jews in Roumania.

The method of persecution, oppression, ill-treatment and abuse, of our unfortunate brethren adopted by the authorities, both civil and military, are such that tend to exterminate and annihilate them long before the war will be over, and when will we consider the time opportune to appeal to our Government to intervene in their behalf in order to bring about their emancipation and attain for them the right to live as free men.

Trusting that you will seriously consider my appeal and take such immediate step in the matter as you may deem proper to bring about the desired result, I beg to remain,

Respectfully yours,

(Signed) DR. P. A. SIEGELSTEIN, President.

The President, on behalf of the Executive Committee, announced that this subject was engaging the earnest attention of the Committee.

DISCRIMINATION BY GOVERNMENT CONTRACTORS AGAINST JEWISH CARPENTERS

Dr. H. P. Mendes, on behalf of a Conference of delegates of the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations, the Union of Orthodox Rabbis of America, the New York Board of Rabbis, and the New York Board of Jewish Ministers, drew the attention of the Committee to the anti-Jewish attitude of contractors engaged in building cantonments for the United States Government in the matter of advertising for and employing carpenters. The President stated that this matter had already been taken up by the Executive Committee with the Secretary of War and was receiving due consideration.

ELECTIONS

The Committee on Nominations made the following recommendations:

For officers:

For President: Louis Marshall.

For Vice-Presidents: Cyrus Adler and Julius Rosenwald.

For Treasurer: Isaac W. Bernheim.

For members of the Executive Committee to serve for three years from January 1, 1918:

Isaac W. Bernheim,	Julius Rosenwald,

- District XI. A. C. Ratchesky, Boston, Mass., to succeed Lee M. Friedman of same city, for term expiring 1922.
- District XIII. Rabbi Horace Wolf, Rochester, N. Y., to succeed Abram J. Katz (deceased), for term expiring 1918.
- District XIV. Isaac W. Frank, Pittsburgh, Pa., to be re-elected for term expiring 1922.
- At Large Herman Bernstein, Nathan Bijur, S. Marcus Fechheimer, Herbert Friedenwald, Albert D. Lasker, Irving Lehman, Jacob M. Loeb, Oscar S. Straus, Albert W. Weil, Abram I. Elkus, Charles Eisenman, Aaron Waldheim.

There being no other nominations, the Assistant Secretary was requested to cast one ballot for the nominees of the Committee on Nominations, which he did, and announced the election of the several nominees.

Upon motion, the meeting adjourned.

REPORT OF THE BUREAU OF JEWISH STATISTICS AND RESEARCH OF THE AMERICAN JEWISH COMMITTEE

TO THE COMMITTEE IN CHARGE OF THE BUREAU OF JEWISH STATISTICS AND RESEARCH :

Gentlemen :

The principal labors of the Bureau of Jewish Statistics and Research during the past year have been (a) the preparation of the American Jewish Year Book for 1918, and (b) the making of a Census of Jewish Religious Bodies in the United States. As to the contents of the Year Book, the following salient facts may perhaps properly be brought to the attention of this Committee: In view of the state of international affairs, the editors of the Year Book decided upon a quartet of timely leading articles for the current issue, upon these topics: A Survey of the Jews of Latin America, A Historical Review of Jewish Rights at International Congresses, An Account of Jewish War Relief as Contributed by the Jews of this Country, and an essay on the New Jewish Translation of the Bible, together with a brief advance statement of the results of the Census of Jewish Religious Bodies, mentioned above, and a short sketch of the life and works of the celebrated Jewish sculptor Moses Ezekiel who died in March of this year. In the way of new features, there were initiated a Hundred Year

Calendar, a List of Federated Jewish Charities in the United States, and a new Directory of Rabbis and Instructors in Jewish Colleges, the last similar list having been published in the Year Book fifteen years ago. Other noteworthy additions are the List of American Institutions of Learning in which Hebrew or Yiddish is taught, and certain statistics showing the enrolment of Jewish Students in American Colleges and Universities.

The special articles of the next Year Book (the twentieth of the series) will be on the following subjects:

The Jewish Population of the United States.

The Jews of Serbia.

The Jewish Welfare Board.

The Collection of Jewish War Statistics.

Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies.

Jewish Welfare Work in the United States Army and Navy.

- A year ago the Committee in charge of this Bureau decided that it would be advisable to have a numerical estimate, or so-called census, made of the Jews in the United States. An effort to institute such an enumeration had accordingly just been planned, when, shortly after the commencement of the present calendar year, the Bureau of Census of the United States Department of Commerce, made a request to the chairman of this Committee, that he recommend some person who might be able to conduct for that department an inquiry which should result in a census of Jewish Congregations and Rabbis. This census was to constitute a part of the Census of the Religious Bodies of the United States, to be made by the Government for publication in 1918. The inquirer was duly referred to the Director of the Bureau of Jewish Statistics, and as a sequel, arrangements were entered into whereby this Bureau was employed to undertake the work in question. Your Director was appointed a Special Census Agent, a small sum of money was granted to pay for some of the extra work involved, and part of the printing was furnished by the Washington authorities, while the use of the frank was freely given to this Bureau.

The methods employed in carrying out the wishes of the Census Bureau have been fully described in the latest American Jewish Year Book. Briefly they consisted of the sending out through the mails, of various forms of questionnaires, "follow-ups," etc., to all rabbis and congregations in the country, except in New York City, where canvassing was used as a means of obtaining the data sought. Where there was no congregation or rabbi, as in the case of very small towns, the name of some Jewish business-man, in lieu of that of a rabbi, was selected—generally from Bradstreet's. In this division of our labors we were greatly aided by Mr. Jacob Billikopf of the American Jewish Relief Committee. In the City of New York the investigation was carried on personally by agents of the Bureau of Education, the results of their canvassing being kindly loaned by Dr. Benderly to the Bureau of Jewish Statistics, thus saving us a considerable amount of labor and expense.

The Census Bureau was desirous primarily of securing, in general, details regarding the following: Number of Jewish communicants; number, names and addresses, income, expenditure and indebtedness of congregations; number, location and value of synagogues and affiliated buildings, and certain other financial statistics concerning congregational and religious school expenses, outlays for charitable purposes, etc., salaries of rabbis and similar matters. The Bureau of Jewish Statistics was principally concerned with the work of ascertaining the number of Jews in each town or city throughout the nation. The inquiries sent out covered both interests. The contract with the Government has been completed, the last of the schedules prepared for Director Rogers having recently been shipped to Washington. It is gratifying to be able to state that on the whole our labors have been considerably more successful than could reasonably have been anticipated, in view of the many difficulties encountered and the small funds available. As to the Jewish population returns, these have, for the great majority of the states, cities, and towns throughout the United States, running from insignificant localities of less than one thousand inhabitants to the metropolis itself, been painstakingly assembled, and in the Year Book for 1919, if not earlier, the resulting statistics will be set forth at length and discussed in detail.

It may here be added that, besides the two major labors of this Bureau, a considerable amount of work in the way of assembling statistical material, during the past year, in relation to the following topics, has also been effected: Jewish Women's Organizations, Jews in the Army and Navy of the United States, Jewish Communal Workers, Jews in Government Positions, Jewish Athletes and Athletics, Temporary Congregations, Jewish Defectives, Jewish Delinquents, and an Index to the articles of all the Year Books. This Bureau has likewise been engaged in collating material for a work, to be published in the future, on the subject of the Jews in the Wars of the United States. Several volumes for use in this connection, with regard to former conflicts, and a large quantity of data in relation to the current war, have been collected, and, of course, one of the Bureau's chief activities during the next twelve months, will be the assembling, classification, and correction of many kinds of data, now coming in, with regard to Jewish soldiers, sailors, and civilians engaged in the service of the Government during the present struggle. Plans have been made whereby, with the co-operation of the Council of Young Men's Hebrew Associations, etc., there will, it is expected, eventually be recorded in our files the names of practically all Jewish soldiers and sailors in the service of the nation, together with a list of all Jews employed by the Government in any quasi-military capacity.

The office of this Bureau has been removed to No. 31 Union Square, and its relations with the American Jewish Committee have thus been rendered much closer and more intimate, greatly to the advantage, it is believed, of both organizations.

Respectfully submitted,

SAMSON D. OPPENHEIM,
Director.

REPORT OF THE JEWISH COMMUNITY (KEHILLAH) OF NEW YORK CITY

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE AMERICAN JEWISH COMMITTEE:

At the eighth annual convention of the Kehillah, held on April 28-29, 1917, the following resolution was passed:

Be it Resolved, That the Executive Committee be authorized to make every effort and to take all necessary steps to make the Kehillah a genuinely democratic organization. In accordance with the general outlines of the plan presented to this Convention, and as one step towards this end,

Be it Further Resolved, That the Trustees of and donors to the Bureau of Education of the Committee of and donors to the Bureau of Industry, be requested to take such steps as may be necessary to establish the Bureaus on a firm basis independent of the Kehillah.

The purpose of this resolution was twofold: in the first place, to give the research Bureaus an opportunity of developing unhampered; and, in the second place, to clear the way for a genuinely democratic Kehillah.

The Administrative Council of the Kehillah, together with the Executive Committee, has drawn up a plan of democratic Kehillah Organization. This plan divides New York into 18 Kehillah Districts with 100 Kehillah Neighborhoods. The Districts and Neighborhoods are divided in accordance with their Jewish population. An elaborate study of the Jewish population of New York has been made showing the distribution throughout the city of New York's 1,500,000 Jews. The new plan of organization provides for representation in the Kehillah through organizations and through individuals. The Kehillah Register, which is soon to be issued in connection with the Special Convention of the Kehillah [January 13], shows that there are about 4,000 Jewish organizations of different kinds in New York City.

It is not the function of the Kehillah to do the work of these 4,000 Jewish organizations or of any one of them. These 4,000 Jewish organizations spend upwards of $8,000,000 per annum. Nor is it the task of the Kehillah to collect this money. It is, however, the task of the Kehillah to draw up an annual Community Program, and to endeavor to see to it that this Program is carried out year by year. The chief force that the Kehillah can exercise is the force of public opinion.

The Jewish problem in New York City has many aspects, and no one organization, however powerful, can hope to cope with all of its details. It therefore becomes the more necessary to create a platform upon which Jews of all parties and views may meet for the purpose of considering not only the Jewish To-day in New York City, but the Jewish To-morrow. One of the chief needs of a great community like that of New York is to distribute Jewish responsibility as far as possible over every street and every house and every family. This can be done only in genuinely democratic ways, and the plans of the Kehillah provide for a thoroughgoing reorganization on democratic principles.

Respectfully submitted,

J. L. MAGNES,

Chairman, Executive Committee.

REPORT OF THE JEWISH COMMUNITY OF PHILADELPHIA

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE AMERICAN JEWISH COMMITTEE:

Gentlemen:

The proceedings of the Jewish Community of Philadelphia during the year 1916-17 may be summarized as follows:

During the early course of the year the Community, through its representatives before the Congressional Committees on Immigration, co-operated with the American Jewish Committee and other organizations in opposing the inclusion of the objectionable literacy test in the then pending and subsequently enacted Immigration Bill.

At proper season during this period letters were sent to the local federal and state officials, county and city authorities, and to the heads of the public schools enclosing a calendar of the Jewish holidays of the current year and requesting leave of absence for employees or pupils desiring to be excused on those religious occasions. Most of these letters elicited favorable response, the Superintendent of Public Schools especially requesting two hundred and fifty additional copies of the calendar for distribution through that department.

Articles concerning the Jewish holidays, specially prepared with a view to publication in the daily press, were sent to the various local newspapers as occasion required.

The moral and religious instruction of the Jewish prisoners in the Pennsylvania Eastern Penitentiary is being furthered by the Community in co-operation with the local district organization of the B'nai B'rith. The work is being carried on through the instrumentality of Dr. Joseph Medoff, who visits the prison twice a week and whose enthusiastic services have been fruitful of very desirable results.

The general effort made during the past summer of mobilizing the older boys of the public schools for work on farms had the co-operation of the Kehillah through a committee specially organized for the purpose. This committee was afforded the assistance of the local society for the Protection of Jewish Immigrants through its paid officials, and succeeded in placing a number of Jewish boys with Jewish farmers who were calling for help.

The Equal Rights Bill promoted by the Community at the 1915 session of the Legislature of Pennsylvania and which, after passing both Houses, was vetoed by the Governor for technical reasons, was re-introduced at the recent session in a form modified as required, and, being passed by the Legislature, was approved by the Executive. This measure is practically similar to that recently enacted by the Legislature of the State of New York.

At the request of the Director of the Bureau of Statistics of the American Jewish Committee, the Assistant Secretary of the Community gathered the statistics of the temporary congregations in Philadelphia during the recent high holidays. This list is being tabulated and will shortly be sent to the Bureau.

The Jewish Educational Board authorized by the Community has effectively promoted the organization in the southeastern section of the city of a Young People's Congregation for Friday evening religious services, which gives promise of becoming an important factor in the religious activity in that section.

In compliance with a formal request from the Section of Co-operating Organizations of the Food Conservation Commission at Washington, the Community, through its constituent organizations, is co-operating in a concerted effort for the conservation of food.

Ephraim Lederer, Esq., whose term as a representative of the Community on the American Jewish Committee expires at this meeting, has been re-elected for the ensuing term of five years.

The annual quota of $900.00 requested from the Philadelphia Community by the Committee was over-subscribed, and the sum of $965.00 has already been sent to the Committee on this account.

The seventh annual meeting of the Community will be held on Sunday, November 18, 1917.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUIS E. LEVY,

President.

SPECIAL MEETING

At a special meeting of the American Jewish Committee, held in New York City on Sunday, April 28, 1918, the following statement relative to the attitude of the Committee with respect to the declaration of the British Government favoring the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people was adopted:

The American Jewish Committee was organized primarily to obtain for the Jews in every part of the world civil and religious rights, to protect them against unfavorable discrimination, and to secure for them equality of economic, social, and educational opportunity. These will continue to be its objects.

The Committee regards it as axiomatic that the Jews of the United States have here established a permanent home for themselves and their children, have acquired the rights and assumed the correlative duties of American citizenship, and recognize their unqualified allegiance to this country, which they love and cherish, and of whose people they constitute an integral part.

This Committee, however, is not unmindful that there are Jews everywhere who, moved by traditional sentiment, yearn for a home in the Holy Land for the Jewish people. This hope, nurtured for centuries, has our whole-hearted sympathy.

We recognize, however, that but a part of the Jewish people would take up their domicile in Palestine. The greater number will continue to live in the lands of whose citizenship they now form a component part, where they enjoy full civil and religious liberty, and where, as loyal and patriotic citizens, they will maintain and develop the principles and institutions of Judaism.

When, therefore, the British Government recently made the declaration, now supported by the French Government, that "they view with favor the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people, and will use their best endeavors to facilitate the achievement of this object," the announcement was received by this Committee with profound appreciation. The conditions annexed to this declaration are regarded as of essential importance, stipulating as they do that "nothing shall be done which may prejudice the civil and religious rights of existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine or the rights and political status enjoyed by Jews in any other country." These conditions correspond fully with the general purposes for which this Committee has striven and with the ideals of the Jews of America.

The opportunity will be welcomed by this Committee to aid in the realization of the British declaration, under such protectorate or suzerainty as the peace congress may determine, and, to that end, to co-operate with those who, attracted by religious or historic associations, shall seek to establish in Palestine a centre for Judaism, for the stimulation of our faith, for the pursuit and development of literature, science, and art in a Jewish environment, and for the rehabilitation of the land.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE JEWISH PUBLICATION SOCIETY OF AMERICA

The Annual Meeting of the Jewish Publication Society of America was held on Sunday afternoon, March 24, 1918, at the Dropsie College for Hebrew and Cognate Learning, Philadelphia, Pa. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rabbi Samuel Fredman, of Philadelphia. The President of the Society, Mr. Simon Miller, acted as Chairman, and Mr. Frank J. Rubenstein, of Philadelphia, acted as Secretary.

The President then read his annual address.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

Ladies and Gentlemen: Thirty-one years ago a group of Jews met in Philadelphia to discuss ways and means by which the Jewish Community of America, numbering then about 400,000 souls, might be supplied with the necessary books "giving instruction in the principles of the Jewish religion and in Jewish history and literature." The founders of the Society were actuated by the belief that no people can be called great unless it possessed and had available a great literature. They felt that this literature, the common heritage, must be widely disseminated, if that people is to maintain its identity. Particularly is this true of the Jews who are a minority people and must struggle against overwhelming odds to avoid being engulfed in their non-Jewish surroundings.

How effectively the Society has been the medium for the wider dissemination of our sacred heritage the list of the one hundred and four books published and the number of copies distributed testify. That thousands of Jewish homes are being supplied by us with shelves of Jewish books is a fact well known. This year alone we have printed and reprinted about 180,000 books, bringing the total copies distributed by the Society to about 1,200,000. While we are far from our goal, it is noteworthy that our ratio of membership to Jewish population would represent in one of the dominant churches fully 100,000 to 125,000 members. What publishing house, sectarian or secular, has such an assured distribution of its output? That thousands of sets of Graetz's "History of the Jews," and thousands of copies of the writings of such men as Schechter, Lazarus, Ginzberg, Ahad ha-'Am, Abrahams, Karpeles, Perez, and Zangwill form the permanent collections of Jewish books in Jewish households testify that the wished-for consummation has been at least partially realized.

Statistics at best are annoying, but may not one refer with a modest and justifiable pride to a membership of 15,000, about 3500 of whom were enrolled during the year; to sales of books amounting to $46,000; to two editions of the Bible consisting of 40,000 copies, most of which have been distributed and sold; to 60,000 copies of Prayer Books and Bibles intended especially for the use of Jewish Soldiers and Sailors in the service of their country? Comparison with figures of previous years reveals a continued and progressive growth. In fact, when one watches the growth of Jewish intellectual movements in America, one is justified in agreeing with Mr. Jacob H. Schiff, who expressed the belief that on American soil the world will yet behold a Judaism rivalling the glorious spiritual and intellectual splendor of the Spanish period. Our Society is doing its share, in co-operation with the several institutions of Jewish learning, to hasten the realization of this desire. But to do this we require the help and good will of our people. If thirty years ago we could aspire to a membership of ten thousand, we ought to have at least fifty thousand members now. A community which numbers scores of national organizations with constituent memberships running into hundreds of thousands ought to be a fertile enough field for one large educational organization. We seek a larger membership because we desire to be of greater service.

Our joy on this occasion is marred by the loss which our people and our Society have sustained in the passing away of two of our distinguished colleagues. Mr. Morris Newburger, our first President, did pioneer work during the first ten years of the Society's existence, rendering inestimable service, and his co-operation as a trustee in the twenty years following was of an equally valuable character. His memory will always be a blessing. Dr. Henry M. Leipziger was first Vice-President of the Society since its organization and a member of the Publication Committee for over seventeen years. He was a man of varied accomplishments and unremitting industry. His earnest labors in the cause of popular instruction made him a marked figure in the educational life of New York, and gave him a national reputation. Though feeble in health, he journeyed to Philadelphia to take part in our meetings and do his share in the work. His death is a loss to the Society and to the whole community.

All the books sent to members of the Society last year have been favorably received by them and by the press. In The Story of Bible Translations Professor Max L. Margolis traces the history of the most important translations and the influence they exerted. He tells us how the translations spread throughout the world, how some were epoch-making, and how new reforms of thought resulted from them. The author's mastery enabled him to treat the subject with authority and in a style at once attractive and popular. Following within a few weeks after the publication of the monumental new translation of the Bible, this volume served well to explain to Jew and non-Jew the importance of our version and the influence it would exert upon Jewish life in English-speaking countries.

The American Jewish Year Book for 5678 was generally acclaimed the most successful issue since the first one appeared in September, 1899. This issue was edited by the accomplished Director of the Bureau of Jewish Statistics and Research, Dr. Samson D. Oppenheim. It contained, in addition to the store-house of timely Jewish statistics and other information, an important article by Mr. H. O. Sandberg, introducing the Jews of Latin America to us and bringing their history and present interests nearer to us. Mr. Max J. Kohler's able article on Jewish Rights at International Congresses is of special value at this time.

Miss Emily Solis-Cohen's translation of Judah Steinberg's collection of tales, issued under the title The Breakfast of the Birds and Other Stories, was the third book sent to our members. These delightful tales of Steinberg are fanciful, allegorical, and some satirical, but all of them are possessed of literary quality well worth rendering into any tongue. The make-up of the book as to format and type, particularly the four charming illustrations in color, prepared especially for the book by a girl fourteen years of age, and the attractive cover design, make this volume as fine a juvenile as could be desired.

The second volume of Dubnow, bringing the record of the history of the Jews of Russia and Poland up to the time of Nicholas II, will appear shortly.

It will be followed by a volume from the pen of Dr. Joseph Jacobs, dealing with the contributions the Jews have made to civilization. The work, the Publication Committee feels, is in many ways one of the most important which Dr. Jacobs wrote. It is a justification and explanation of the Jew's position in history, and is an answer to the insidious assumption of the higher anti-Semites of modern times. Its appearance at this time will be most opportune, and the Society is indeed privileged in being able to announce the publication of so important a work.

The American Jewish Year Book for 5679 will maintain the high standard of previous issues. Among other special features, it will contain an essay on the Jewish population of the United States accompanied by a number of interesting tables. Dr. Alcalay, chief rabbi of Serbia, will give an intimate account of the inner life of our Serbian coreligionists. There will also be articles on the Jewish Welfare Board, Jewish War Statistics, and on the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies in New York City.

To meet the demand for books of special interest to the young, the Society will issue a volume by Professor A. S. Isaacs entitled Under the Sabbath Lamp. This will be followed by the third volume of Dubnow's History of the Jews in Russia and Poland, bringing this work up to recent date.

The Society has among its assets a dozen manuscripts awaiting future publication. Among these manuscripts are N. Slousch's Travels in Northern Africa; Professor Malter's volume dealing with Saadia; Dr. Halper's Post-Biblical Literature: an Anthology; Dr. Israel Abrahams' By-Paths in Hebrew Bookland; Ginzberg's Legends of the Jews, volume V; Bentwich's Hellenism; and, last but not least, a collection of essays by Professor Schechter which will form the third of the series of Studies in Judaism. In addition to these books there are many distinguished scholars in Europe and America working on assignments, some of which the war has, of course, delayed; but they are in the course of completion, and will be delivered to our Society.

It is now a year since the new translation of the Bible has been published, and the Society has thus far printed two editions of 20,000 copies each, 40,000 copies in all, and most of these have been distributed or sold. It is, of course, too early to estimate the importance the new Jewish version will have on the spiritual life of Israel or to indicate to what extent this rendition will effect Bible scholarship. Suffice it for the present to state that the reviews in leading biblical, religious, and literary periodicals have invariably spoken in the highest praises of the new translation. Various Christian Bible Societies in America and England have welcomed its appearance. There remains but one thing for Jews to do—distribute it. In this way we may follow the example of our Christian neighbors. We must create or constitute ourselves a Jewish Bible Society. The American Bible Society was organized in 1816. In 1916 over eight million Bibles were distributed, bringing the total issued since its organization to more than 125,000,000 volumes. The British and Foreign Bible Society in 1916 issued over 12,000,000 copies. Other Bible Societies and commercial firms issued 27,000,000 copies, totalling over 47,000,000 copies in all. These were published in over 500 languages. This is equivalent to more than one volume of the Scriptures for each second of the day and night of the 365 days of the year. What are we to do? There are more than 3,000,000 Jews in America. There are about 500,000

Jewish families in the land. Our aim should be that at least one copy of the Bible is placed in every Jewish home in America. To realize this we require the help of every rabbi and of every public-spirited Jew.

Now that the Society has been relieved from the detailed labor which the revision of the Bible required, we are turning our attention to the publication of the commentaries of the Bible which will explain the Bible in the light of Jewish interpretation, thought, and tradition. The Society has definitely committed itself to the undertaking of the publication of a series of popular commentaries to the books of the Bible. The details are being worked out by a committee, and will be announced soon. It is the intention of the Committee that the commentary should represent the results of sound scholarship without encumbering the reader with minute technicalities. It is to be a popular commentary.

The work of the Jewish Classics is proceeding. No meetings of the Committee were held during the past year, it having been possible to consult by correspondence. Most of the volumes have been assigned, and the writers are in all cases at work on the books assigned them. The war is delaying the project, because, as was pointed out last year, the proper editing of texts is in a great measure dependent upon the photographing of manuscripts abroad. All of the photographs of manuscripts required from England have now reached us, but some are lacking from Italy, and communication with Germany and Austria is of necessity closed. The manuscript of one volume of the Classics has already been completed, and is now in the hands of the members of the Sub-Committee for examination; it is hoped that others will soon follow. Experiments with regard to the best form of Hebrew type to be used are being made, and a general scheme for Hebrew type has been submitted and is under consideration.

When the United States entered the war, the Publication Society offered its services to furnish for free distribution to Jewish soldiers and sailors the books which they may require and would be helpful to them. In April, 1917, The Central Conference of American Rabbis, The Union of American Hebrew Congregations, The Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations, The Council of Young Men's Hebrew and Kindred Associations, the Agudath ha-Rabbonim, the United Synagogue of America, together with the Jewish Publication Society of America, offered to publish an Abridged Prayer Book for these men, if agreement as to the text could be reached. A committee of three was formed, consisting of Dr. Cyrus Adler, representing the United Synagogue of America, Dr. William Rosenau, representing the Central Conference of American Rabbis, and Dr. Bernard Drachman, representing the Union of Orthodox Congregations. This Committee prepared the volume which was issued under the title of Abridged Prayer Book for Jews in the Army and Navy of the United States. Of this Prayer Book 40,000 copies have been published and distributed. Subsequently, it was realized that the soldiers would need a handy Bible, and it was seen that the Society's regular edition would be too bulky for practical use. Accordingly, a selection from nearly all the books of the Bible was made, and a little book of 276 pages, weighing but two ounces, has been issued. There has been a great demand for these books, and the Society will rush through the press as many editions as may be required. It is thought that at least 100,000 copies each of the Prayer Book and Bible will be wanted to supply the present demand.

The Society takes this opportunity to thank its many members and friends who have contributed generously to the fund for the publication and distribution of the soldiers' books. In connection with this, mention ought to be made of the fact that we have co-operated with our English brethren in welfare work, and have given permission to the chief rabbi of England to reprint, for the use of the soldiers, the book of Psalms from our new translation. The Society is also arranging to give Dr. Hertz permission to reprint the Society's translation of the Pentateuch and the Haftarat to be used in connection with the Weekly Readings, in Hebrew and English. We have also appointed committees to consider the details connected with the establishing of a Hebrew press in America. A Hebrew press is wanted for the Society's use, so that it may publish the Classics as well as many other Hebrew books. It will also afford facilities for the publishing of Hebrew Bibles and the Weekly Readings. Such a press is also wanted for the publication of Hebrew text-books of interest to the general Jewish public.

The Society has also developed a new selling policy, so that the general trade may handle our books and in this way reach those whom we cannot ordinarily reach in the regular course.

We have concluded the most successful year in our history. May the thirty-first year bring still further gains to our cause.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Board of Trustees elected the following officers: Treasurer, Henry Fernberger, of Philadelphia; Secretary, Benjamin Alexander, of Philadelphia; Assistant Secretary, I. George Dobsevege, of Philadelphia, who also is Secretary to the Board of Trustees and the Publication Committee; Editor, Dr. B. Halper, of Philadelphia.

The following were chosen members of the Publication Committee: Mayer Sulzberger, of Philadelphia; Cyrus Adler, of Philadelphia; Henry Berkowitz, of Philadelphia; Solomon Solis Cohen, of Philadelphia; Hyman G. Enelow, of New York; Herbert Friedenwald, of Denver; Israel Friedlaender, of New York; Felix N. Gerson, of Philadelphia; Max Heller, of New Orleans; Jacob H. Hollander, of Baltimore; Jacob Kohn, of New York; J. L. Magnes, of New York; Max L. Margolis, of Philadelphia; Alexander Marx, of New York; Leon S. Moisseiff, of New York; David Philipson, of Cincinnati; Samuel Schulman, of New York; Oscar S. Straus, of New York; Samuel Strauss, of New York; Henrietta Szold, of New York. Mayer Sulzberger was elected by the Committee as its Chairman.

PUBLICATIONS

The publications issued during 1917-1918 were as follows:

1. The Story of Bible Translations, by Max L. Margolis.
2. The American Jewish Year Book for 5678.
3. The Breakfast of the Birds and Other Stories, by Judah Steinberg. Translated by Emily Solis-Cohen.
4. History of the Jews in Russia and Poland, by S. M. Dubnow, Vol. II. This volume was unavoidably delayed in publication, and will be issued in July.

The publications to be issued in 1918-1919 are as follows:

1. The American Jewish Year Book 5679.
2. Jewish Influence: An Estimate, by Joseph Jacobs.
3. History of the Jews in Russia and Poland, by S. M. Dubnow, Vol. III.
4. Under the Sabbath Lamp, by A. S. Isaacs.

CHARTER

The terms of the charter are as follows:

The name of the corporation is THE JEWISH PUBLICATION SOCIETY OF AMERICA.

The said Corporation is formed for the support of a benevolent educational undertaking, namely, for the publication and dissemination of literary, scientific, and religious works, giving instruction in the principles of the Jewish religion and in Jewish history and literature.

The business of said corporation is to be transacted in the city and county of Philadelphia.

The corporation is to exist perpetually.

There is no capital stock, and there are no shares of stock.

The corporation is to be managed by a Board of Trustees, consisting of fifteen members, and by the following officers: President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer, and such other officers as may from time to time be necessary.

BY-LAWS

ARTICLE I

Membership

SECTION I.—The Society shall be composed of Annual Members, Special Members, Library Members, Patrons, Friends, and Life Members. Any person of the Jewish faith may become a Member by paying annually the sum of three dollars ($3), or a Special Member by the annual payment of five dollars ($5), or a Library Member by the annual payment of ten dollars ($10), or a Patron by the annual payment of twenty dollars ($20), or a Friend by the annual payment of fifty dollars ($50), or a Life Member by one payment of one hundred dollars ($100).

SEC. II.—Any Jewish Society may become a Member by the annual payment of ten dollars ($10).

SEC. III.—Any person may become a Subscriber by the annual payment of three dollars ($3), which entitles him or her to all the publications of the Society to which members are entitled.

ARTICLE II

Meetings

SECTION I.—The annual meeting of this Society shall be held in the month of March, the day of such meeting to be fixed by the Directors at their meeting in the previous January.

SEC. II.—Special meetings may be held at any time at the call of the President, or by a vote of a majority of the Board of Directors, or at the written request of fifty members of the Society.

ARTICLE III

Officers and Their Duties

SECTION I.—There shall be twenty-one Directors, to be elected by the Society by ballot.

At the annual meeting to be held in May, 1908, there shall be elected eleven directors, seven to serve for one year, two to serve for two years, and two to serve for three years; and at every subsequent annual meeting, seven directors shall be elected for three years.

SEC. II.—Out of the said twenty-one, the Society shall annually elect a President, Vice-President, and Second Vice-President, who shall hold their offices for one year.

SEC. III.—The Society shall also elect fifteen Honorary Vice-Presidents, in the same manner and for the same terms of office as the Directors are chosen.

SEC. IV.—The Board of Directors shall elect a Treasurer, a Secretary, and such other officers as they may from time to time find necessary or expedient for the transaction of the Society's business.

SEC. V.—The Board of Directors shall appoint its own committees, including a Publication Committee, which committee may consist in whole or in part of members of the Board.

The Publication Committee shall serve for one year.

ARTICLE IV

Quorum

SECTION I.—Forty members of the Society shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business

ARTICLE V

Vacancies

SECTION I.—The Board of Directors shall have power to fill all vacancies for unexpired terms.

ARTICLE VI

Benefits

SECTION I.—Every member of the Society shall receive a copy of each of its publications approved by the Board of Directors for distribution among the members.

ARTICLE VII

Free Distribution

SECTION I.—The Board of Directors is authorized to distribute copies of the Society's publications among such institutions as may be deemed proper, and wherever such distribution may be deemed productive of good for the cause of Israel.

ARTICLE VIII

Auxiliaries

SECTION I.—Other associations for a similar object may be made auxiliary to this Society, by such names and in such manner as may be directed by the Board of Directors, and shall have the privilege of representation at meetings. Agencies for the sale and distribution of the Society's publications shall be established by the Board of Directors in different sections of the country. The Society shall have the right to establish branches.

ARTICLE IX

Finances

SECTION I.—Moneys received for life memberships, and donations and bequests for such purpose, together with such other moneys as the Board of Directors may deem proper, shall constitute a permanent fund, but the interest of such fund may be used for the purposes of the Society.

ARTICLE X

Amendments

These By-Laws may be altered or amended by a vote of two-thirds of those entitled to vote at any meeting of the Society; provided that thirty days' notice be given by the Board of Directors, by publication, to the members of the Society.

Jews in the Army and Navy of the United States

Various organizations contemplate jointly to issue a work on the Jews in the Wars of the United States to be based upon "The American Jew as Patriot, Soldier and Citizen" by Simon Wolf and the "Preliminary List of Jewish Soldiers and Sailors who Served in the Spanish-American War," published in the American Jewish Year Book 5661 (1900-1901).

In order that this volume may be as complete and as free from error as possible, all persons are earnestly requested to send additions and corrections to both of these books, as well as any other biographical data concerning Jews who have at any time served in the Army and Navy of the United States.

Address all communications to the Bureau of Jewish Statistics and Research of the American Jewish Committee, 31 Union Square, West, New York City.
